Distillery Going Back In Operation Tomorrow

"We'll be in operation tomorrow," Fred A. Schmidt, plant superintendent of the American Distilling Co. in Sausalito, said today.

The plant has been shut down since a $4,240,000 fire destroyed two buildings and the loading dock Saturday night and consumed about 167,250 gallons of bourbon, scotch, tequilla and other liquors.

Cause of the fire, which was believed to have started on a shipping dock, was still undetermined today, according to Sausalito fire chief Mathew J. Perry.

Schmidt said bottling and shipping operations will be started tomorrow. The firm's bottling plant was not destroyed. "We have a new electric line installed and we're putting in an alcohol line today," he said.

If any whisky is contaminated in barrels still intact from the fire, the superintendent said, it may be necessary to destroy them.

Chief Perry reported he is still keeping some fire hoses at the plant as "standbys". He said three of his regular firemen and one volunteer have been sent to their doctors for treatment for injuries suffered during the fire.

Asst. Chief John L. Terris was treated for strained muscles in his right leg after being struck by a flying two and one-half inch hose. Also treated from that same accident was Max Robertson, who had scratches and bruises on both legs. Ralph K. Pedersen was treated for an injured back, and volunteer Al Lamonte was treated for a bruised left leg after falling into an open water meter box, Perry said.

Fireman James B. Gill of Tamalpais Fire District reported he was a "sick pup" for a day or so after the fire, his hands and feet swelling up and getting "dizzy feelings." He conjectured it may have been from vapors from the burning of galvanized sheet iron on the buildings or it may have been from alcohol fumes. He said another fireman in his crew complained of being dizzy.

St. Stephen School Plan Is Approved

Last night was lawyer's night at the Belvedere City Council. It was also a long night, with an overflow audience attending the five-hour meeting.

After pleadings, summations, rebuttals and re-rebuttals, the council voted 3-2 to permit establishment of St. Stephen's Parish Episcopal Day School.

A petition for denial with 119 signatures was filed at the March meetings by attorney Herbert H. Scheier, who attended last night. He based his protest on being a direct zoning ordinance violation which prohibits schools in residential zones.

Arguing in favor of the school was attorney James Michael, who claimed conducting a school is a traditional function of the church and that city planned a school when a use permit was issued in 1957 to construct accessory buildings.

He quoted affadavits from former Rector E. J. Mohr and former city officials John Hoeffer, Carlton Skinner and Edward J. Stevens, all stating they were aware of the intent. Michael also submitted a petition signed by 303 persons—not all Belvedere residents—who favored the school.

"We are not anxious to see the city or the parish engage in litigation but the parish is prepared to do so. I am satisfied we will ultimately prevail under the laws of the state," Michael declared.

Scheier argued that a church is not a school and that the use permit was granted for a church. He said California law distinguishes churches from schools in transportation, fire safety, health and safety regulations, and the labor code.

"The citizens have a right to rely on the record of the municipal body which states the permit was issued for a church.

Councilman E. G. Weed attempted to introduce a resolution denying the petition, stating "it was inconceivable that a church school could be classified as a public nuisance and could be contrary to public health and welfare."

"The law says a school is a nuisance. Are you saying the law in inconceivable?" demanded Scheier.

"Yes," retorted Weed.

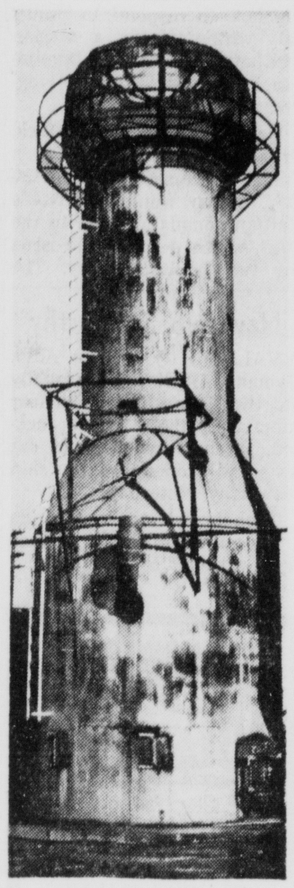

Weed then amended his resolution, stating "a school cannot be classified as a public nuisance." He requested appointment of a committee to formulate an amendment to the ordinance to clarify the legal propriety of a church school.

Despite contrary advice from City Atty. William H. MacKay, the council voted 3-2 to deny the petition.

MacKay said he did not believe a parochial school was a normal part of the church's activity. In this Episcopal Diocese, he said, there are only seven church schools with 125 churches.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins, before voting "no," said he favored schools of this sort but the council is faced with a violation. He predicted the school would get bigger and become more of an offense.

Mass Exit Is Revealed As 8 Quitting County Schools

By LOREN MacARTHUR

Eight persons are quitting their jobs with the Marin County Schools office, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the County Board of Education.

The board went into closed session to discuss the mass exit, which began in February but had not been discussed by the board until last night.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis snapped: "It's a firing," when asked why a closed meeting was necessary. He then shut the door on an audience of some 10 persons, one of whom said she had been asked for her resignation.

Today those quitting fired charges of "incompetent administration" and "lack of cooperation" at the schools office, and several said they were leaving because they "can't take any more." All but one willing to discuss their resignations said they left "freely."

Members of the county board declined to comment on what happened during the closed session, which lasted more than half an hour. After resuming the open meeting, they voted to accept the resignations, with dissenting votes by Mrs. Alce Ann Cole and Walter L. Johnson.

"I quit freely; I was not fired," said Charles J. Vento, director of the instructional materials center, who handed in his resignation three weeks ago. "This is an unfortunate situation, and I am sorry about it. Whatever happens, I am the loser. Certainly the number of resignations would indicate where the problems are centered."

Vento, who had laryngitis today, wrote out his statement, which was read by a temporary secretary hired to replace Margaret Anne Travis, Vento's secretary, who resigned March 31, effective April 1.

"After six years I've had it," said Miss Travis. "My reasons were the lack of competent administration and the practice of overloading personnel so you can't finish a day's work to your satisfaction.

"The administration does not use personnel for the reasons they are hired. If they worked together instead of pulling apart, it would be a better situation. There is a well-founded rumor that another person in the instructional materials department will go too."

"I wasn't fired: I resigned in February," said Mrs. Janice de la Fontaine, remedial teacher at Lu Sutton School in Novato. "I was told not to put any of my unhappiness in my

U.S. Pulling Out Some Haiti Yanks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today ordered all dependents of U. S. government personnel to leave Haiti. It also urged evacuation of private American citizens there.

An airlift of chartered commercial air liners will start the evacuation tomorrow morning from Port Au Prince, the Haitian capital, to Miami, the State Department said.

U.S. Places New Telstar Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Telstar 2 rocketed into orbit today in another step toward shrinking the world through space communication.

Project officials planned to use the new satellite tonight as a transfer point for a closed-circuit transatlantic television exchange between the United States and Europe.

The 10-minute program, which won't be seen on home screens, will determine whether, initially at least, the satellite is as successful as its predecessor, Telstar 1.

For Election Shifts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment shifting the elections of state officials and legislators from even-numbered to odd-numbered years was adopted by the Assembly today.

Lumber Firm Told To Stop Incinerator

Henry Hess Co. of San Rafael failed to show up in Marin Superior Court yesterday, as Judge Joseph G. Wilson issued a preliminary injunction ordering the company to stop operating its incinerator.

Officials of the Bay Air Pollution Control District, represented by attorney Matthew S. Walker, asked for the injunction against the incinerator and its tall smoke stack at 629 Third Street.

The air pollution control officials contend that Hess company has violated the district rules, which gave the company two alternatives last summer: (1) haul away the refuse or (2) install equipment so refuse can be burned to complete combustion.

Yesterday was the time set aside for Hess officials to appear and show cause why it should not be ordered to "cease and desist forthwith" from burning in the incinerator.

Odds Favor More Rain For County

A light spring rain, which amounted to aheavy mist in some places, fell on Marin County today with as much as .2 of an inch measured in the Chevy Chase district of Larkspur.

The weather bureau forecast a good chance for rain tonight and tomorrow. The odds were placed at 70 per cent for tonight and 60 for tomorrow.

Other reported rainfall measurements were .14 in Woodacre, .10 in Tamalpais Valley and Point Reyes Station, .09 in Mill Valley, .08 in Sausalito, .05 in Marinwood and San Anselmo, .04 in San Rafael and a trace in Belvedere and Novato.

BIG NEGRO MARCH IN ALABAMA CITY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Thousands of Negroes staged a singing, hand-clapping march on the downtown sidewalks and streets of this city torn by more than a month of racial strife. (See also page 7).

One group of about 200 young Negroes was scattered by a burst from a fire hose as they tried to charge across a park adjacent to a church from where the sudden march downtown started without warning.

It caught police and firemen, who had fire hoses ready, by surprise. It was a full 15 minutes before officers could clear the streets.

Police at one point drove an automobile, its siren screaming, onto the sidewalk in front of a large department store, pushed against the crowd and screeched its tires on the sidewalk in a plunge that scattered Negroes into stores and into an alleyway.

As soon as the car passed the street again filled.

There were relatively few whites on the streets when the Negrmoes flooded in for their demonstration.

Within 15 minutes, police had brought the situation to a semblance of order and traffic again began to flow.

No Censure For Chief In Corte Madera

Corte Madera Town Council last night found no one to blame for sending firemen and equipment to a fire outside the town limits—at Marin Joe's last March 31.

"I do not recommend censure of Chief (Frank L.) Nelson on this incident," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Councilman Albert F. Kogler agreed. "I recommend no disciplinary action be taken." Both Kogler and Pendleton reported that Chief Nelson was not in at the time of the fire call came through, and it was Asst. Chief Harold Kelly who took full responsibility for taking men and units to the scene until county firemen arrived.

"My recommendation is to give the volunteer fire department a vote of confidence, giving them discretion if in their opinion, the fire might endan-

Angel Isle Rockets Hit By Clausen

Special to the I-J

WASHINGTON — Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) today declared he is opposing use of an area off Angel Island as a site for marine testing of rocket engines.

Clausen said the Navy and Aerojet-General Corp., contractor for the rocket engine testing, had satisfied all objections to the testing in San Francisco Bay except that arising from the test site being too close to residential areas on the Tiburon Peninsula.

He met yesterday with Walter G. Winslow, manager of public affairs for Aerojet-General in Washington, and urged that another site be selected, but received no commitment. He said he planned further meetings with Aerojet-General officials.

Clausen disclosed he also has written to the Secretary of the Navy expressing objection to the Angel Island site.

The representative's office reported the Navy itself is reported dissatisfied with a site across the bay at Point Richmond which Aerojet-General proposes to use for part of its tests, the reason being that part of the area is not under Navy control.

County To Help With Angel Island Fires

Marin County Supervisors today authorized the county counsel to prepare a contract obligating the county to be party to a "mutual aid agreement" for fire protection on Angel Island.

Responsibility of the county will not include placement of any men or equipment on the island, which now has one pumper truck and five trained firefighters placed there by the state, the board was told.

Jury Measure Passes

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly, by a vote of 41-35, today passed a bill to allow opponents of the death penalty to serve on juries in capital cases.

Independent Span Audit Bill Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to provide an independent audit of the finances of the Golden Gate Bridge has cleared the State Senate unanimously and today headed for hearing in the Assembly.

But another bill by a Marin legislator, which would have allowed a spot check on veterans' property tax exemption claims, died in a Senate committee.

The bridge bill, CB 611 by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, provides that the auditor of the county in which the bridge district deposits most of its funds (San Francisco) may contract with an accountant to make an annual audit of the district's books.

This would be in addition to any audit taken by the bridge district itself.

The bill was the result of a recent Marin County Grand Jury investigation of bridge finances, which was critical of fund handling but found no illegalities.

Marin City Plan Cutback Is Forecast

The Federal Housing Authority plans to cut back its Marin City redevelopment plans.

Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency, told the agency commissioners yesterday that FHA has notified him it may be over-extended in Marin County and therefore plans a cutback in rebuilding Marin City.

Klahn said FHA suggested that rental units be built only as they are sold—50 to 75 units at a time. The master plan called for 230 units, including cooperative apartments, to be under way at the same time.

May 20 at 2 p.m. has been set as a tentative time for the commission to see drawings and prices of 36 new homes to be built by redeveloper James H. Scheuer.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

E. Germany Says Two Yanks Defect

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany says a U.S. Army captain and a sergeant have appealed for political asylum. The Army confirmed that the captain crossed into East Germany and the sergeant is missing from his unit.

Svenson

The captain was a native of Communist-ruled Lithuania, and his mother in the United States received the report with alarm and disbelief. The sergeant's wife had nothing to say.

The East Germany news agency ADN identified the pair as Capt. Alfred Svenson, 30, of Scranton, Pa., and Sgt. Benjamin Cain, 35, of Frederica, Del.

Mrs. Svenson

There apparently was no connection between them. Svenson was stationed with a tank battalion at Giessen, near the border between West and East Germany, and Cain in West Berlin.

ADN said Svenson drove across the border in uniform in a military vehicle Saturday and Cain contacted authorities in East Berlin Friday to ask for asylum.

Cain

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg said it was investigating both cases.

Svenson is a bachelor. His mother, Mrs. Antonio N. Svenson, Washington, D.C., said her son "must have been tipsy" and refused to believe he had gone voluntarily to East Germany.

Bandleader Ted Weems Dies At 62

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Ted Weems, who started his musical career before he was tall enough to see music on a stand and became one of the nation's top bandleaders, died last night of a lung ailment.

Perry Como, another former Weems' Weems' singer, termed him "a true gentleman." Other stars who got their start with Weems included bandleader Jan Garber and Snooky Lanson.

Weems

His wife, Eleanor, stayed in Tulsa during his last illness. Their 38th wedding anniversary was Sunday, a funeral home spokesman said.

Other survivors include his mother, Victoria Weems of Hamilton, Ohio; a son, Ted Jr., Dallas, Tex., and a brother, Robert, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Weems' son said funeral services would be in Bethesda, Md.

Weems, 62, had operated a theatrical agency in recent years with his son in Dallas, which also was the band's headquarters. He had earlier bouts with emphysema, a lung ailment which restricts the amount of oxygen available to the blood.

No Jobless Benefits

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Federal unemployment insurance benefits are due to be temporarily suspended for 14,000 Californians who are former servicemen or former federal government employees.

The reason is because the U.S. Labor Department's fund for the benefits will run out Thursday, and it will be several weeks before Congress acts to provide supplemental funds to resume the payments.

Text Plan Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP)—With no debate or opposition, the Assembly Education Committee has approved a version of the hotly debated "multiple adoption" system for elementary school textbooks.

The action yesterday simply would put int othe State Education Code the provision that the State Board of Education may adopt basic elementary texts for children on different learning levels, such as slow or fast.

Strike In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—The 10-day-old metalworkers' strike and lockout, West Germany's worst labor tieup in a generation, appeared headed today for a compromise settlement under the guiding hand of Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The leaders indicated that unions and employers will accept a plan to raise wages 5 per cent for 12 months and an additional 2 per cent for six months, beginning next April 1. The workers, who average $31.25 a week, had sought an 8 per cent increase.

Thresher's Valves

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — All of the submarine Thresher's 5,000 valves were installed properly prior to the vessel's ill-fated voyage, a naval officer said today.

Capt. John D. Guerry, production officer at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard where the Thresher was built and overhauled, told a news conference no valve was installed backwards.

Rocky May Keep Out

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The organizational secretary of a draft-Goldwater movement in California says New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will keep out of California's 1964 Republican presidential primary if the Arizona senator enters it.

Feather River 'No'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate Water Committee gave forth with a loud, firm "NO" yesterday to attempts to finance the Feather River Project with revenue bonds authorized 30 years ago.

The group approved two resolutions and a bill aimed at barring the State Water Resources Department from using the 325 million dollars in bonds authorized—but never used—for the Central Valley Project.

Lumber consumption in the United States in 1962 was 37.4 billion board feet, slightly more than the year before.

Five Boys Shot

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) — Police last night arrested a painter-engraver they said shot five boys in a crowded playground from the window of his second floor apartment with a telescopic 22-caliber rifle.

"I hate kids. I hate them all," police quoted Ralph Best, 53.

Donald Currie, 14, was admitted to Paterson General Hospital in fair condition. The other boys were treated at the hospital for lesser wounds and released.

Steel Wage Talks Hinted

By ROGER LANE

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — The steel industry, facing an expected opening of wage talks with the United Steel Workers, may be softening slightly its position on settlement terms.

A hint of this developed in an observation by Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., that a hypothetical 12 cents an hour package would be "quite extraordinary on the high side."

Answering a stockholder's question, Blough said "any kind of situation like that would be very unhappy compared with any price increases we have had to date."

When the question of reopened wage contract bargaining with the union has come up before, Blough and other industry leaders have said simply that renewed discussions were unjustified in the light of depressed steel earnings.

This position intimated there was no room for wage or fringe benefit concessions.

Observers have speculated lately that selected price increases last month amounting to about 1 per cent on over-all sales may have weakened the industry's stand.

The price increases also have led to the assumption that the union is virtually certain to demand reopening of the 1962 wage agreement, a matter regarded as uncertain before the markups went into effect.

The present agreement bars as strike for 90 days after formal notice of reopening is served. The union has not revealed its intentions. The industry said the 1962 pact, providing for improved fringe benefits but no wage increase, cost it 10.9 cents per man hour.

At U.S. Steel's annual stockholders' meeting yesterday, Blough and Leslie B. Worthington, president, revealed that they and other officers took 5 per cent pay cuts, effective Jan. 1.

During a dismal 1962, five major producers, including U.S. Steel, the industry giant, cut dividends. U.S. Steel earnings fell to a 15-year low. Profits apparently are on the rebound, with orders and production up to a three-year high.

The salary reductions, applauded by shareholders, reduced Blough's pay to $285,000 a year, Worthington's to $261,500 and that of Robert C. Tyson, finance committee chairman, to $237,500.

MARKING TIME IN HAITI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Haitian dispute marked time today on two diplomatic fronts amid rising expectations that no decisive political or military move will come soon to unseat President Francois Duvalier.

Roger Seydoux of France, president of the U.N. Security Council, awaited word from council members before deciding how to respond to Haiti's call yesterday for a session "without delay" on the Dominican Republic's "threats of aggression."

Gonzalo Facio of Costa Rica, Organization of American States chairman, predicted the U.N. group would refer the Haitian complaint back to the OAS, which debated the issue for two hours Monday. The only OAS action was an appeal to both sides "not to resort to force."

Facio did not say when the OAS would meet again. The Dominican ambassador was reported returning to Washington today with new complaints for the OAS, the old ones having been disposed of. The chairman of the OAS fact-finding group on the dispute was expected to report later in the week.

While Dominican armed forces were reported poised on the Haitian border and President Juan Bosch scheduled a special radio-television speech for tonight, U.S. authorities voiced doubt that Bosch had the military might to conquer Haiti.

In the U.S. opinion, a Dominican attack would rally the Haitians behind Duvalier and damage the Dominican case in the OAS. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin was said to have given this advice to Bosch.

Still, the possibility that the independent-minded Dominican chief might stage at least a token assault was not ruled out.

New Sub Seaworthy

VALLEJO (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover personally put the Navy's newest nuclear submarine, the Andrew Jackson, through two days of sea tests and pronounced the ship seaworthy yesterday.

Then he left the submarine and it put out to sea for further tests, expected to last for about two days.

Briton, Soviet Plead Guilty To Spying For London, U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—British businessman Greville Wynne and Soviet scientific official Oleg Penkovsky pleaded guilty today to spying for the British and American intelligence services.

Wynn, 42, a representative of British engineering firm, told the court he pleaded guilty "with certain reservations which I will make in my statement." The indictment said he acted as a courier between Penkovsky and British and American agents.

The indictment said he was assigned to collect information about Soviet rocket troops, Soviet units stationed in East Germany, preparations for a separate peace treaty with East Germany, developments in relations between the Soviet Union and Red China and other political, military and economic information.

Each of the defendants could get the deatht penalty, but no foreigner is known to have been executed for espionage in the Soviet Union.

Pulitzer Judges Quit: No Drama Award

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Reivers," a lighthearted novel of the South which was William Faulkner's final book before his death last year, was awarded the 1963 Pulitzer Prize for fiction yesterday.

For the first time in more than a decade, there was no award made for a drama, a move that prompted the resignations of two members of the Pulitzer Prize drama jury-critic and author John Mason Brown and John Gassner, critic, Yale University professor and theater historian.

"They have made a farce out of the drama award," Brown said. Gassner said withholding the award he and Brown had recommended "put us in an awkward position."

Both men had recommended the award go to Edward Albee's Broadway hit "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" a caustic drama on faculty, sex and politics at a small New England university.

The top Pulitzer Prize in the newspaper category—the meritorius public service award of a gold medal — went to the Chicago Daily News for its series presenting all points of view on the controversial subject of birth control services in the public health programs in its circulation area. The awards specifically cited staff writer Lois Wille.

Three reporters of the New York World-Telegram and Sun — Sylvan Fox, 35, Anthony Shannon, 33, and William Longgood, 45,—won the award for local reporting under deadline pressure for their coverage of the crash of an American Airlines jetliner at Idlewild Airport in New York. The crash killed all 95 aboard.

Other journalism awards:

Local reporting without deadline pressure—Oscar Griffin Jr., 30, for his work as editor of the Pecos (Tex.) Independent in publishing the first articles that led to the exposure of the Billie Sol Estes Case.

National reporting—Anthony Lewis, 36, of the New York Times, for his coverage of the U.S. Supreme Court during 1962.

Editorial writing — Ira B. Harkey Jr., 45, editor and publisher of the Pasagoula (Miss.) Chronicle, for his editorials on the integration issue in Mississippi.

Cartoon—Frank Miller, 37, of the Des Moines Register, for his work during the year, exemplified by a cartoon showing a destroyed world with one ragged figure saying to another: "I said—we sure settled this dispute, didn't we?"

In the category of general non-fiction, Barbara W. Tuchman, 51, of New York City won the Pulitzer Prize for "The Guns of August," her best-selling account of the first 30 days of fighting in World War I.

Other awards:

History — Constance McLaughlin Green, 65, of Washington, for "Washington, Village and Capital, 1800-1878."

Biography—Leon Edel, 53, for "Henry James, Vol. II, the conquest of London, and Vol. III, the Middle Years."

Tiburon Station In Conflict

A Tiburon railroad station that-used-to-be got into conflict yesterday with a downtown Tiburon plan that hasn't jelled yet, leading the Marin County Planning Commission after lengthy argument to continue the whole matter to May 20.

Belvedere Land Co. asked an adjustment to allow the old Tiburon station, now located next the ferry slip, to be moved to Juanita Lane behind the Tiburon Postoffice. The building would be used for administrative-professional purposes and a six-car corporation garage would be constructed on the site without filing of master and development plans.

Recommending deniel, the planning stafff held the project clashes with plans to give Tiburon "an attractive business area with good parking and circulation."

Fred Mategani of 879 Tiburon Boulevard told the commission that a group seeking incorporation plans to file a boundary map on June 13 and "the next move will be to go for that area for parking, as it is centrally located and will need no pedestrian overpass across Tiburon Bolevard as space on the other side would."

This backed statements by planning staff member Sidney Shaw that an old and respected (though not official) plan sketched several years ago would use the proposed site as part of a common downtown parking lot for all businesses.

Against representations that the old two-story station is in good condition, Montegani declared "it's 80 or 90 years old and probably has more termites than any other building in Marin County." He said to plant it in the new location would be detrimental to the parking idea and out of keeping with other structures.

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg said there are hopes of creation of a parking district, and in such case the land under discussion should be available for acquisition. Warburg suggested that all concerned talk over the situation.

In another Tiburon adjustment application, for division of an 8,650 square foot parcel at 1800 Vistazo West Street into two building sites in a normally 7,500-square-foot-per-site area, the commission found it had already turned down the same request in 1960 by unanimous action. Since efforts to add the 4,000 feet of an adjacent lane had proved fruitless the commission denied the application once more.

Girl Who Climbed Prison Wall In Demonstration Given Fine

A pretty blonde San Francisco office worker, who scaled two walls in an effort to enter San Quentin Prison last Thursday night, paid $26.25 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to stay out of Marin County Jail.

Miss Linda Benson, 19, of 721 Chestnut Street, San Francisco, was nearly in tears as she paid the fine before Judge Harold J. Haley. She pleaded guilty to trespassing on state property.

She was one of about 15 rounded up in front of the prison during an anti-capital punishment demonstration Thursday night. Sheriff's deputies said she negotiated a nine-foot wall, then climbed over an even higher wall befor being caught by prison officials.

Miss Benson was in San Francisco when she heard about the prison demonstration over the radio and drove to Marin to "see what was going on."

The judge decided she had gone a bit too far into the prison grounds. He ordered the fine or two days in county jail. She didn't have the cash, but a male friend, who sat with her in court, posted the fine for her.

Officers, Men Atop Mt. Tam Given Award

The 40th Army Artillery Brigade and the 666th Radar Squadron at Mill Valley Air Force station have been cited by the Armed Forces Benefit and Aid Assn. for successful teamwork.

Lt. Col. William E. Wright, 666 Squadron comander, and Maj. Raymond Johnson, 40th Artillery Brigade operations officer, were given the award by John Hyams, association supervisor.

Officers and men of the two units activated and maintained the San Francisco NORAD control center from Jan. 15, 1961, to Nov. 15, 1962, with 300 men of the Air Force and Army "successfully working together" to provide maximum defense for the Bay Area in controlling fighter interceptors and Nike batteries.

Car Washer Pays Driving Fine

Walter Ratliff, 23, San Francisco car washer, paid $139 fine yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Ratliff for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 last April 14.

Last Thursday, Judge Haley sentenced Charles F. Rey, 44, of San Francisco to 15 days in jail and $276 fine for his third offense in four years. Rey was arrested on Waldo Grade on Dec. 14 of last year. He had prior convictions in 1959 and in 1961.

Speaking In Tongues Has Always Been Controversy

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The practice of speaking in tongues, which is causing a controversy in Bay Area Episcopal churches—particularly in Marin County—is as old as the Christian church itself, and it has always been a controversial subject.

Bishop James A. Pike of the Episcopal Diocese of California warned against the practice in a six-page pastoral letter read to congregations in the diocese Sunday. His words were an echo of those of St. Paul, spoken nearly 2,000 years ago in a letter to the Corinthians.

"I thank my God, I speak with more tongues than ye all. Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue," St. Paul wrote.

Bishop Pike wrote in his letter that "glossolalia (speaking in tongues) is a psychological phenomenon which has been known over many, many centuries quite apart from any particular religious orientation; in more extreme forms it is associated with schizophrenia."

The bishop's letter was issued after incidents in Marin County. At a confirmation ceremony in Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, the priest shouted "Hallelujah! Hallelujah!" in the midst of the service.

At the same service the congregation and the clergy began speaking in tongues.

Rev. Tod W. Ewald, rector of Holy Innocents', said yesterday he would follow Bishop Pike's directive. He said glossolalia had been done infrequently at the church in the past.

The second incident was the visit of Rev. Dennis J. Bennett of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, leading exponent of speaking in tongues on the West Coast. He spoke about the benefits of glossolalia to a Stanford University students, to about 50 priests at a meeting in Belvedere, and was the leading speaker at a Christian Advance at Holy Innocents Church.

Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of the Church of Our Saviour at Mill Valley and dean of the Marin County Deanery, said he thought it was probably Father Bennett's visit which did most to prompt the bishop's letter. At one point, Father Bennett suggested that the bishop approved of glossolalia as part of the church service.

"This needed a reply," Father Hammond said. Father Hammond said he did not think practices at individual churches were as strong a factor in prompting the letter.

All Saints Episcopal Church in San Leandro has also practiced glossolalia.

Speaking in tongues was recorded at the first Pentecost when the apostles were said to have been visited by the Holy Ghost. The apostles spoke in tongues then and some observers thought they had been drinking "new wine."

Speaking in tongues has long been a part of worship in Pentecostal churches. Rev. Harold Rhodes of the Assembly of God Church in San Rafael said that during prayers, church members often speak in tongues.

Rev. James C. Walton of the Assembly of God Church of Southern Marin said speaking in tongues is not part of the church service but may be practiced by people who are in prayer.

He said there is a problem in emphasis. Worshippers should not be seeking speaking in tongues for itself. It is only a manifestation of a deeper love of God, he said. But he said he was a little disappointed in Bishop Pike's letter.

"I feel badly about this," he said. "The Bishop might just as well have said that you should stop loving God. Speaking in tongues has been a real blessing."

Quentin Prisoner Stabbed 4 Times

A San Quentin Prison inmate was stabbed three times in the stomach and once in the chest today as he walked from the lower to the upper exercise yard at 9:15 a.m.

Richard Arthur Homan, 25, of San Diego County, serving a sentence for parole violation, was taken to the prison hospital to undergo exploratory surgery to determine the extent of his wounds.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said prison officials had no suspect and had not found the weapon. Homan stumbled on the steps between the two yards and was spotted by officers in the yard, according to Frady.

Homan, a maximum security inmate, was brought to San Quentin on Dec. 26, 1962.

Health Facilities Plan Shelved By Board

A proposal that county supervisors appoint one representative to a proposed committee to review planning and development of health facilities and services was shelved today by the supervisors.

The Marin Council of Community Services recently named four persons who had expressed willingness to serve on such a committee and asked the county to provide another, perhaps from the planning department.

Supervisors voiced doubts when this came up last month and continued the matter to today so they could give thought. The thinking added up to a desire to have no part of the proposal.

Supervisor George Ludy said thisw as a "private" project. Supervisor Peter Behr tentatively concurred adding "but it is in the public interest."

Three Die As Fire Hits Sub Under Construction

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Three men were killed and two injured, one critically, today in a flash fire in the aft trim tank of the nuclear attack submarine Flasher, which is under construction here.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The Flasher, of the same type as the Thresher, which was lost at sea with 129 aboard April 10, is under construction at the yards of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The nuclear power plant was not involved.

Because of the restricted space in the section where the blaze occurred, workers had to cut a hole in the trim tank to reach the victims.

Both were taken to Lawrence Memorial Hospital in New London, where Jusczyk, a painter, was on the critical list with third-degree burns.

Gulluscio, a welding supervisor, was treated for smoke inhalation.

Damage to the submarine itself was negligible, a company spokesman said, and the fire was brought under control immediately.

No date had been set for completion of the Flasher.

ger lives or property in the city," added Kogler.

Town councilmen decided that Corte Madera firemen are not flagrantly violating the ordinance which prohibits fighting fires outside town limits.

"I think there are valid exceptions," Pendleton said. "Firemen have to answer calls, even though they come from outside the city limits, on the off-chance that in the excitement, the caller has made a mistage and the fire is actually within the city limits."

And even if the fire is just beyond the limits, firemen may use their discretion in making sure that no lives are endangered and there is no danger the blaze will spread into the town, the councilmen decided.

At the sugegstion of Mayor Edward A. Colthurst, the council decided that new signs should be posted to more clearly delineate the boundary between town and the county areas. Also, the resuscitator will be taken off the big fire engine and placed in a smaller pickup truck so big equipment will not be tied up each time there is a resuscitator call.

A list of addresses of homes on Corte Madera streets which cross the limits will be provided for each fire unit so that a quick check will show which home is in the town and which is outside.

At the same time, councilmen asked Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow to continue to report fire calls made outside the town limits.

BRIDGE

from bridge operations to the counties of the district, was sent to interim study by the Senate local government committee.

The third (SB 184), which would take the bridge district's auditor from under control of the general manager and put him directly under the bridge directors, is being held up in favor of a similar bill (AB 1155) by Assemblyman Edward Gaffney (D-San Francisco). The fourth (SR 610), which would limit service of bridge directors to two terms, will not be moved because of heavy opposition.

"I still think it's a good bill," McCarthy declared, "but opponents feel it will open the door to a rash of bills limiting terms of service on all other boards and commissions."

Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley (AB 1188), which would have instructed the county auditor to make annual spot checks on veterans' affidavits requesting exemptions, passed the Assembly by a 58-0 vote. But in the Senate judiciary committee yesterday, it was killed by a split voice vote. Opponents called it "class legislation" aimed against the veterans.

Bagley salvaged a little something this morning with his AB 1481, which permits use of amber lights on tree-cutting equipment working along highways. Already passed the Assembly, it was approved in the Senate transportation committee today and placed on the Senate consent calendar.

Brown Thinks Savings Could Go To Schools

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State savings and a tax on take-out food may make it possible to increase state support for California's public schools, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today.

The governor declared for the first time that the state may be able to afford more than the additional 30 million dollars he has proposed.

The amount, he said, may be somewhere between that 30 million dollars and the 101 million dollars sought by the California Teachers Assn., backed by the State Board of Education.

Brown told his news conference he was proud to report total savings in the 1962-63 budget of 19 million dollars. He said it will go a long way toward helping him keep his no-new-tax pledge.

In addition, he said he looks favorably on an Assembly-passed bill that would extend the 3 per cent sales tax to take-out food from restaurants.

Restaurant meals themselves are taxable, and the governor said the amendment would close a loophole.

Referring to the state savings and an estimated 10 million dollars in revenue from take-out food, he said, "We'll add them all up and see where we are" on school aid.

Brown reiterated his opposition to Senate legislation, pending in the Assembly, to increase the gasoline tax and other motorist levies to provide 70 million dollars more for city streets and county roads.

He was asked whether it would make any difference if, as suggested by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, some of the money was earmarked for rapid transit.

letter of resignation or it would be difficult for me to find another job. I have been patiently waiting since February for my letter to be read at the board meeting. It has not yet been read."

Mrs. de la Fontaine has been hired to teach for the Novato Unified School District next year.

Mrs. Joy H. Binger, teacher of handicapped children, declined to comment on her resignation.

Dr. Frances Sink, psychologist for county schools, said she requested a private hearing with the board after Hollis a week ago requested her resignation. "Dr. Hollis said it would have to be an open meeting because he has received letters on my resignation." The five letters, read last night, expressed regret at losing the psychologist.

"The board has no control over firing and hiring," said Dr. Sink. "They can only object. I don't even want to fight for my job."

Hollis later said the San Anselmo School District had not renewed its contract with the county for a psychologist (Dr. Sink). "They will hire a full-time person of their own instead," he said.

Dr. Sink has worked for the schools office four years, longer than other psychologists there.

Others resigning declined to be quoted by name for fear of reprisals when they looked for jobs or were not available. Their names and official reasons for leaving are: Mrs. Berniece Shortlidge, school nurse, "family reasons"; Mrs. Lenore Mathews, teacher of mentally retarded children, "personal reasons," and Mrs. Olive Thompson, teacher at Juvenile Hall, "to continue her schooling."

Said one: "All you get from the schools office is your supply requisitions signed. You make referrals about these kids and the office acts as if it doesn't know what you're talking about. I don't get the cooperation I should have."

Supt. Hollis explained the resignations by saying: "Some people do excellently working in one district and very poorly in another. If you haven't said anything by May 15, everybody automatically stays.

"The people here get high pay because they don't have job tenure. They have to work with the administrative staff, which includes myself, Edward Credell and Rudolph Kupfer."

Better idea would be to list it with us where a constant stream of buyers means that you will have a good chance for some fast action. Call us!

Three Land In Hospital After Crash

Three persons were kept overnight in Novato Hospital after a collision involving two cars and a parked truck at Grant Avenue and Highway 101 Sunday night.

Jerry L. Wedel, 21, of San Francisco told the California Highway Patrol he started up when the traffic light went green. But witnesses said the light was still red when Wedel's car entered the highway and was hit by a northbound car driven by Mrs. Theresa M. Jones of Petaluma, wife of A/3c Arthur F. Jones of the 78th Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base. The two vehicles slithered against a parked truck owned by Dean Hoy of 316 Sunset Parkway, Novato.

Mrs. Jones; her 4-month-old son Arthur Jr., and Mrs. Edgar D. Chambers of Petaluma, a passenger with Mrs. Jones, all were held overnight at the hospital, for treatment of shock. Wedel was cited on a charge of running a red light.

Highest Bid Held Accepted By Schools

Charges that the Marin County Board of Education accepted the highest instead of lowest of three bids for school athletic equipment were made last night at the board's meeting.

"We were low, yet we weren't even considered," said Bernard De Bisschop of San Anselmo, who represented Free-Minetti Sporting Goods Co. of San Francisco.

De Bisschop presented a mimeographed list showing that 23 sports items bid by his company totaled $1,289.28 cheaper than the same items of the winning bidder, Taveggia-Brusati Co. of San Rafael.

"The county schools business office felt it was preferable to accept the items from one company only," explained George L. Emmons, director of business services for the county schools office.

"We are faced with the judgment of those using the equipment, said Walter L. Johnson, board member. He said school districts within the county set specifications for the sports equipment they want.

"We've never been told our product wasn't acceptable," said De Bisschop. He pointed out that one lot of playground balls, for which he bid $462 compared to Taveggia-Brusati's bid of $490, had been manufactured by the same company, which put different labels on them.

"Are the taxpayers expected to pay the higher price just because one company has a better promotional campaign?" he asked.

"I'm more than willing to submit my company's balls for a use test," said Clyde Noel of Seamless Manufacturing Co., whose products were rejected.

Board members told him to come around to the county schools office and arrange to place the free balls in schools for the test. But the winning bid of $15,068.93 for the 1963-64 year is a closed subject, they said.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

1. Agreed to enter into a tentative agreement for the education program at San Quentin Prison after observing that the county schools office will have to cut down its administrative aid to the program unless it gets more money from the State Department of Corrections.

2. Adopted a resolution opposing a bill in the State Assembly which would curtail the power of the county schools departments. The measure, AB 1335, would allow the State Department of Education to determine the staff size, structure and activities in county schools offices.

3. Approved a June or July auction to sell surplus furniture and office equipment.

4. Approved the 1963-64 school year calendar with two different beginning and ending dates after board member Robert G. Randolph commented: "It's ridiculous that the people in this county can't at least get together to agree on a school year." The Tamalpais Union High School and Novato Unified School districts will begin in the week following Admission Day and end June 12. The San Rafael School District will begin school after Labor Day and end June 5. Most elementary schools will follow the high schools in their areas.

Buildings Must Go, But Not By Fire

Two old business buildings near Corte Madera interchange are public nuisances and must be razed, but Corte Madera fire officials refuse to burn them down because they are too near the highway.

The structures formerly housed the Circle Drive-In and a launderette on Casa Buena Drive.

The Marin County Health Department last week wrote owner William P. Murray of San Rafael, pointing out the buildings are a public nuisance and must be abated.

The owner agreed, and suggested the fire department burn the buildings as a part of a drill. But firemen refused because a spectacular blaze near the interchange is likely to cause a pileup on the highway.

Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow will bring the matter up again at the May 20 Corte Madera Town Council meeting to report what progress has been made by then on the demolition of the buildings.

Councilmen took action last night to abatae another nuisance on a lot just south of Madera Village Motel on Tamal Vista Road. Debris has collected on the lot, and the area is an eyesore, the town manager reported.

"I think we ought to have an outside contractor clean up the debris and charge it to the owner," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Town fathers passed a notice of intention to abate the nuisance. If the area is not cleaned up by May 20, then the town will clean up the area and charge the owner, Madera Village Inc.

The town manager will also report on a needed cleanup at the corner of Lakeside and Cheyenne at the next regular meeting.

520-Unit Corte Madera Proposal Probably Going Back To Planners

A revised plan to build a 520-unit planned waterfront development next to Mariners Cove in Corte Madera was presented last night to Corte Madera Town Council, but the developers decided they would go back to the planning commission to start all over again.

Patterson Properties, headed by Bradford Hale McNutt of Sausalito, presented a plan for 40 acres of water and land on the north side of Paradise Drive across from Marin Country Day School.

A similar plan was rejected by the town planning commission on April 2. McNutt appealed to the city council.

"Isn't it true that an appeal made from the planning commission decision must be made on the same set of plans rejected by the planners?" asked Councilman Robert LaDow.

Town Atty. Richard Randolph agreed this was so. Therefore developer McNutt withdrew the appeal and announced he would present his revised plan before the planning commission.

A delegation of residents from Mariner's Cove was present to oppose the project. Albert Boro, representing Mariners Cove Improvement Assn., announced his group is opposed to multiple dwellings there. A total of 520 units in an area presently laid out for 60 homes, said Boro, would create traffic, schools and other problems.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Postponed appointment of a disaster committee director until June 17.

2. Appointed C. W. Thomas for another four-year term on the town planning commission. The term of Felix Pioli also expired this month, but Pioli said his job pressure does not allow him to serve another term. Councilmen voted him a resolution of gratitude. Names of possible successor will be submitted at the next council meeting.

3. Passed an ordinance to put up "yield" signs on the southeast and northwest corners of Paradise Drive at Tamalpais Drive.

4. Appointed Councilman Charles F. Pendleton to see what can be done to discourage parking on Sausalito Street off Tamalpais Drive. Parked cars there cause a traffic hazard.

5. Approved the annual "Fun Fair Shows" at Corte Madera Center from June 27 through July 7. The Lions Club is sponsoring the show to build up its tennis court fund.

6. Authorized the city attorney to prepare a contract with Maggiora and Sons to complete the Paradise Drive drainage project for $2,400. This portion had been left undone because of a slide.

7. Asked the town manager to notify the owner of the southeast corner of Chapman and Tamalpais Drives to clean up rubbish and weeds.

8. Passed a resolution to annex property of John Harry Smith at 5094 Paradise Drive, which is partly in the county at present. A public hearing on the annexation was set for June 3.

Observation In Molesting Case

Kenneth Leroy Richards, 28-year-old Corte Madera janitor, will be sent to the State Hospital at Atascadero for 90 days observation as a sexual psychopath.

He was ordered to Atascadero yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court. The judge acted after reports from two doctors, who agreed that Richards is a sexual psychopath.

Richards, who has a record of molesting children, is now charged with molesting a 5-year-old San Anselmo girl last March.

Jobs Open For M.V. Tennis Instructors

There are openings for tennis instructors for the Mill Valley Recreation Department to serve from June 17 through July 26, it was announced by Steve Buffo, recreation director.

Pendleton Speaks For Civic Center

Corte Madera Councilman Charles F. Pendleton used this argument last night in his pitch to have the town civic center built on the 22-acre town park on Tamalpais Drive. Current plans are to build the public safety building, first structure in a civic center, on the Mayhood property across Pixley Avenue from the park.

Mayor Edward A. Colthurst appointed Pendleton to head a four-man committee to study suggested uses of the town park. Other members of the committee are Councilman Robert LaDow and two members to be chosen by the town park and recreation commission.

"The 22 acres of town park, I believe, are more than enough for the town, even projecting growth to 1980," said Pendleton. "To pay more than $30,000 for the Mayhood property for a safety building is a lot of money."

San Jose Board Lets Contract For Building

Robert S. Miller of Novato last night was awarded a $121,328 contract to build a six-room addition to the San Jose Intermediate School.

Miller's base bid of $124,475 was the lowest of five submitted. However, it was $6,004 more than the $118,469 allowed by the State Department of Finance.

Richard Banwell, school architect, offered three possible change orders which would bring the contract within line: (1) eliminate two of three folding partitions between double classrooms, substituting permanent walls, and eliminate shelving and moveable cabinets, saving $6,195; (2) delete all three folding partitions, saving $6,522, or (3) substitute a cheaper folding partition, saving $6,000.

After more than an hour's discussion, the San Jose School District board selected the first proposal with the understanding that it might make a second change order after more study of folding partitions in other schools.

Miller agreed to the changes.

The board also approved an alternate of $1,250 for site grading and drainage and $1,800 for work in the court between the proposed wing and other wings at the school.

Bids for six classrooms and library additions to the Loma Verde School will be opened on May 28.

The preliminary 1963-64 budget, which was $333,310 higher than this year's, was submitted to the board, but not discussed. It calls for expenditure and income of $1,427,023 each, compared to the current budget of $1,093,713 expenditures and $1,159,187 income.

The San Jose School District board also:

1. Adopted a charge of $6 per hour for use of school facilities by profit-making organizations.

2. Adopted a policy allowing employees the first seven calendar days with pay in case of an accident. This is to take up the period prior to when state compensation becomes effective.

3. Accepted resignations of Mrs. Elinor Mills, who has been with the district for eight years, and Mrs. Gladys Pollock who has been with the district 15 years, and of Patricia E. Gish, Marsha Campbell, Mrs. Joan B. Grosser, all teachers, and Mrs. Barbara Budde, secretary.

4. Set for June 21-23 an administrative workshop, which has been held in September in the past.

5. Adjourned to May 13.

Novato Council Due Bids Today

Bids on remodeling the Presbyterian Church and adjoining Trevitt Hall into city offices will be opened by the Novato City Council at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Community House.

The city purchased the church, Trevit Hall and parsonage from the Presbyterian Church for $62,500 last year. The church vacated the properties on Feb. 1. Gordon Phillips, San Rafael architect, has drawn plans for the remodeling.

Completion of the work is scheduled for the first part of August, said J. Julien Baget, city administrator.

Two Plants Stolen

Theft of two evergreen plants, valued at $30, was reported to San Rafael police Sunday by Ruth Leon Johnson of 66 Jewell Street, San Rafael. She said the plants were taken from her backyard at about 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Council Approves 'Cluster' Development

"Cluster" development of homes on the hillside above Fifth Avenue won San Rafael City Council approval last night despite objections from several residents of the area.

Harry A. Barbier, newly appointed councilman, took the oath of office at the beginning of the meeting, but the council found itself still one man short last night Mayor John F. McInnis being ill at home.

The four were unanimous, however, in passing to print an ordinance creating a "planned community" district for Rafael Racquet Club Estates No. 5, a Kaehler-Farrar Corp. development of 48 homes in clusters on 18 acres above Fifth Avenue and between Racquet Club Drive and Leafwood Circle. The land is to be held as a condominium, with open spaces and recreational areas jointly maintained by all owners.

Principal objection to the homes, most of which will be two stories high, was again over plans to connect pairs of them by breezeways. Loudest and longest objections were by Mrs. Bob A. Dixon of 2127 Fifth Avenue, who said "I am in real estate myself." Mrs. Dixon said she circulated a petition against rezoning of the land from single-family dwelling, which got 250 signers before the first hearing before the city planning commission. Asked by Barbier, "Do you think you could get that many signatures now?" she replied, "Definitely!"

Jack Farrar of the development company said the connecting breezeway would improve appearance of the two-story homes. Councilman Fred E. Jensen, whose home on Center Street looks out at the hillside, heartily agreed.

The council gave a go-ahead to installation of a new storm sewer on Grand Avenue from Third Street to Fifth Avenue, awarding the contract to Lee Mac Paving Co. of Corte Madera on its low bid of $57,661.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Referred to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, at his request, a complaint by ex-Mayor Edward A. Culver regarding all-night curb parking.
2. Referred to the planning department, to name, and the public works department, to investigate its future use, a 50-foot strip adjacent to Woodland Avenue which Culver several years ago deeded to the city as a street. Half of it has been paved.
3. Informed the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce that its proposal to do away with morning parking restrictions on 19 spaces in the Third Street-Lootens Place municipal parking lot cannot be carried out because of restrictions when a delivery alley was taken over by the parking district.
4. Adopted a resolution for use of approximately $152,000 of state gasoline tax funds for extensions of Third Street.
5. Appropriated $1,200 from surplus to the tree trimming program, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen explaining that additional trimming had been done in connection with stringing fire alarm wires.
6. Authorized purchase from the Livingston Estate of a 40-by-146 foot lot at 100 Shaver Street for the Third Street extension, for $18,250; but took no action on buying 2,695 square feet at 2 West End Avenue for the same purpose for $10,106.25, which councilmen considered an excessive price.
7. Called for bids for purchase of the Chula Vista Assessment District bonds, to be opened at 8 p.m. June 3.
8. Granted George Mountanos and Ronald E. Fein permit for a card room in a back room of the Patio bar at 869 Fourth Street, on recommendation of Police Chief Chiesa. Asked by Barbier how many card rooms are now in the city, Chiesa said there are five permits but only three operating.
9. Authorized advertising for sale two parcels of tax-deed property on the slope above Greenfield Avenue, with bids to be offered by June 3.

Byron W. Leydecker withdrew his appeal from conditions placed by the planning commission on a three-lot subdivision at Oakmont and Chula Vista Avenues.

Present for the first part of the meeting, and introduced to the council, were Rick Raznikov, who will be "mayor" when San Rafael High School students hold "Youth In Government Day" next Monday, along with Steve Smith, who will be "public works director," and Bob Black and Bob Fleming, who will be "city councilmen."

BELLAM BRIDGE PLAN ABANDONED

The San Rafael City Council last night officially abandoned the idea of a Bellam Boulevard bridge across San Rafael Canal in favor of a bridge on a new road near Paganini's Point.

The action was taken to clear the way for mapping an assessment district in the Bellam Boulevard area.

The city has right of way for a 100-foot-wide Bellam Boulevard to Belvedere Street. Original plans called for carrying that width through to an eventual bridge across the canal.

City Engineer Dominic Selmi said the new master plan being prepared by engineer Daniel P. Coleman showed the bridge near Paganini's Point instead, with a curving 100-foot street from Bellam near Belvedere Street to reach it. He urged this is preferable location, largely because of much lower cost. It was urged also by Beverly J. Whitlow, engineer for Fred Wentz, who is setting up the assessment district.

"I have felt for some time it was impractical to cross the canal at Bellam Boulevard," agreed Acting Mayor Charles W. Aby.

It was left to Selmi and Whitlow to redesign Bellam as a 70-foot street beyond Belvedere Street. Whitlow was informed utility poles must be placed in the rear of lots or utilities placed underground. There will be no poles down the center of the street, councilmen made plain.

Time Marks 40th Birthday With Many Familiar Faces On Hand

NEW YORK (AP) — Famous people frfom all walks of life — including about 300 whose faces have appeared on its cover — helped Time magazine celebrate its 40th birthday last night at a party attended by 2,000 people.

"I've got to say," said society columnist Elsa Maxwell, "I've had a great number of parties which were bigger, but I must confess, not with the most newsworthy names."

However newsworthy, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the president's brother; columnist Hedda Hopper and actress Ginger Rogers were not recognized immediately and had trouble getting in.

Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, easing through the crush of persons jamming four reception rooms in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, commented: "This is the toughist fight I've had in a long time."

It took about two hours for actress Helen Hayes, comedian Bob Hope, Life magazine publisher C. D. Jackson and former U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to call out the names of noted guests.

"I've never seen so many people who look familiar that I don't know," said one unidentified woman, summing up the guest list which read like a "Who's Who."

Especially honored at the dinner party were the men and women whose faces have appeared on the covers of the Henry R. Luce publication during the last four decades.

San Rafael Will Soon Require Safety Glass

Either safety glass or a divider strip will soon be required in exterior glass doors in San Rafael.

The city council last night received from Chief Building Inspector Andrew Thomas a proposed ordinance which would require such protection not only in the door itself, but in the glass panels surrounding it.

Carl S. Brown of the Associated Home Builders of Marin objected to including the stationary panels. New Federal Housing Administration regulations require the safety glass or center divider strip in exterior sliding doors on dwellings, he said. He asked that the ordinance be made to conform, although covering all types of buildings instead of just homes.

The council agreed and directed City Atty. David Menary Jr. to re-draft the ordinance.

The divider strip would furnish protection by (a) making the presence of a door clearly visible, and (b) dividing the door into two panes of glass, less likely to shatter than a single large pane.

Music Chest Subscriptions

Subscriptions to the Marin Music Chest's summer concert series, which opens June 23 in Forest Meadows, San Rafael, with Dorothy Warenskjold, soprano, will be available until May 15, according to Music Chest ofifcials.

The first district to go "over the top" in the current subscription drive is Novato, which has doubled the amount subscribed last year.

Reassigned Airman

Airman Basic John J. Sea, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sea of 138 Tunstead Avenue., San Anselmo, has been reassigned to Amarillo Air Force Base, Tex., for technical training as an Air Force administrative specialist. He has completed basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

25 Redwood Students Join New Rifle Club

Twenty-five boys and girls have signed up for Redwood High School's newly formed rifle club.

Andre Bjornskov, club organizer, is planning ot buy old .22 caliber rifles from the Army. The club plans to use the sheriff's range for target practice and is attempting to get permission from Principal Donald Kreps for an indoor target range for the gymnasium. Club officers will be elected at a meeting Thursday.

Part-Time Jobs In Summer Rec

Part-time jobs in the Novato summer recreation program were announced today by Edmund Mahany, director of parks and recreation.

This first full summer recreation program will probably start the third week in June and last for eight weeks, Mahany said. There are 16 jobs open, ranging from $1.50 to $2.25 per hour, and including attendants, leaders, swimming pool instructors and swimming pool managers.

Applications are available at the Novato City Hall and must be returned by May 15, Mahany said.

Shakespeare Fete Tryouts Slated

Actors, singers and musicians interested in appearing in the Marin Shakespeare Festival this summer may audition beginning at 2 p.m. May 25 and 26 in the amphitheater at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Those interested in playing in "Othello" or "The Taming of the Shrew" should prepare a speech of not more than 20 lines from either play, according to John Brebner, festival director.

The festival will open July 18 and run through Aug. 31. Brebner will direct "Othello"; Dion Chesse will direct "The Taming of the Shrew."

Robert Steele Nominee For Sausalito Chamber

Robert C. Steele is a nominee for the board of directors of the Sausalito chamber of commerce, Victor E. Hecht, executive secretary, said today. Steel's name was omitted inadvertently by Hecht from the chamber's monthly bulletin, "Chamber Wire" and not listed with 13 other nominees in the Independent-Journal May 3.

The five who get the highest number of votes will be elected for two years; four others will serve one-year terms. They take office in July.

PG&E Denies Bodega Head Quake Fault

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials denied charges yesterday that an atomic power plant proposed for Bodega Bay is too close to the line of an active earthquake fault.

The Northern California Assn. to Preserve Bodega Head and Harbor filed a memorandum with Public Utilities Commission saying the San Andreas fault is less than a quarter-mile from the proposed plant site.

The complaint says that outside experts have found evidence of an active earthquake fault running right through the proposed reactor site.

PG&E officials countered the association charges with a report by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, an independent group, which approved the site.

PG&E spokesmen quoted from the report:

"Tentative exploration indicates that the reactor and turbine buildings will not be located on an active fault line. The committee believes that if this point is established, the design criteria for the plant are adequate from the standpoint associated with earthquakes."

Veterinary Hospital Plans Are Approved

A veterinary hospital to be built at 140 Jacoby Street in South San Rafael was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The hospital, proposed by J. B. Rice, will be constructed on his property in an area already zoned for light industrial and commercial uses. It will be operated by Dr. W. F. Braunschweig, who now has a veterinary hospital at Third Street and Grand Avenue in San Rafael.

In requesting architectural supervision for the structure, Rice told the commission he had "many plans for development of this entire property," but the State Division of Highways has not yet determined the exact location of possible Highway 101 access roads in the area.

The hospital will be a one-story, wood-frame building.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Continued until May 20 a hearing on further rezoning for the large Monte Cristo tract near Fairfax. Most of the 1,800-acre section was rezoned for limited agricultural and single-family residential use three weeks ago. Residents in a 95-acre section along Bolinas Road asked for postponement of rezoning so they might propose minimum lot sizes larger than 10,000 square feet.
2. Approved a request from Consolidated Holdings Inc. to build 12 one-family homes in the proposed Tam Terrace subdivision off Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley.
3. Continued until May 20 consideration of a tentative map for the Grundstrom Estates five-acre subdivision east of Sutro Avenue and south of Vineyard Road near Novato.
4. Approved a use permit for a Marin County fire station at Point Reyes-Petaluma and Novato-Hicks Valley roads. The station will serve the rural area west of Novato.
5. Granted architectural supervision for a five-unit apartment house at 19 Knoll Lane Alto. Requested by Robin D. McCrea, the apartments will be built between two existing homes, which are to be remodeled.
6. Granted architectural supervision for a four-unit apartment house at 302 Main Street in Tamalpais Valley. Proposed by Merlin A. Petersen, the two-story "townhouse" apartments will be constructed on a 4,400-square-foot site.
7. Denied Tidewater Oil Co permission to locate a free-standing sign identifying the Flying "A" service station at San Pedro and San Pablo roads, opposite the Civic Center. Principal Planner Sidney Shaw said the extra sign is unnecesssary.
8. Approved a street name change, requested by the San Rafael postmaster, of Tioga Court in Lucas Valley unit 4 to Mount Konocti Court. The Tioga Court name allegedly conflicted with Corte Tioga in Greenbrae, also served by the San Rafael Postoffice. The Mount Konocti name is taken from the name of a mountain west of Clear Lake in Lake County.

Action Against Meter Cheaters

A device to make parking meters tougher to cheat will be installed in one block of downtown San Rafael within the next few days for a 30-day trial.

The device locks the meter when five cents has been inserted. It will take no more coin until the car occupying the parking stall has pulled out.

If less than five cents has been inserted, more coins can be added.

A rubber pad over which a front wheel of the car passes in leaving the parking space releases the lock mechanism and returns the meter to "violation."

The city council early today agreed to the one-block, one-month trial, after deadlocking on a proposal by Paul Michelson and Patrick Cavanaugh of Traffic Control, Inc., of San Francisco for a six-month trial with 700 meters.

Michelson said San Rafael had been selected by the company as a "showcase city" for the device, which he said should increase the revenue from parking meters by 35 per cent through cutting down on "meter cheaters" who park long beyond the hour limit, feeding new coins into the meters to keep from getting tagged.

A survey by Traffic Control, Inc., showed that, despite activities of city's meter maids, at any hour from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. one-fifth to one-fourth of downtown parking spaces were occupied by cars that had exceeded the hour limit, he declared.

Getting rid of these would be equal to increasing the downtown parking meter spaces by at least 20 per cent, said Michelson.

So sure is the company that its device will do the trick that the city was offered the installation on a can't-lose basis, with a bargain price of $25 per meter to be paid for from one-third of the increase in gross meter revenues.

"Meter feeders are making a parking lot out of the street," declared Cavanaugh. "This device will help get rid of them."

Councilman Fred E. Jensen wanted to try the 700 meters for six months. New Councilman Harry S. Barbier went along with him. But Councilman L. H. Bud Baer balked in fear of complaints from shoppers. Acting Mayor Charles W. Aby proposed the matter be laid over for two weeks for the return of Mayor John F. McInnis, who was ill. But finally all agreed on the one-month, one-block trial.

The block where meters will get the anti-cheaters is that on Fourth Street from Court Street to Lootens Place, which includes Macy's and J. C. Penney Co. department stores.

Fred F. Enemark, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce president, pledged cooperation of the chamber in "letting the public know that there has been no change in the ordinance, and the change in the meters is to help shoppers to find parking places."

Jails In Birmingham Jammed With Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham's jails are jammed with Negroes almost to the bursting point today, and leaders of a massive desegregation movement pledged more demonstrations.

"We will definitely have more demonstrations," said Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King's comment followed the arrest yesterday of a police-estimated 1,000 marchers, including Negro comedian Dick Gregory. The vast majority of those arrested for parading without a permit were school children or other teen-agers. Many skipped classes to join in the campaign.

More than 2,400 have been arrested since the massive demonstrations started Thursday.

An additional 200-plus, including King, were arrested in earlier phases of the integration drive which began April 3. Police officials said at least 2,000 declined to post bond and remained in the crowded jails and detention quarters.

"When the sun goes down today, there'll be so many Negroes in jail that the people of Birmingham will hate to see a Negro," said another Negro Leader, Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss.

"We could have had 2,500 arrested yesterday, but we got tired."

Gregory arrived by plane to join the demonstrators and within three hours was arrested at the head of the first group of marchers.

An official asked Gregory if he had a parade permit.

He answered no and the officer told him to turn around.

"No, we'll stay here," Gregory said.

The officer said such action violated city law and also a state court injunction. He turned and said: "Dick Gregory says they will not disperse. Call the wagon."

Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, one of King's top lieutenants, was asked if there were any plans to post bond for Gregory.

"No, not at this time," Walker answered. "When I talked with him, he said he planned to remain in jail for the duration."

Gregory had sought unsuccessfully to be arrested recently in voter registration demonstrations at Greenwood, Miss.

As the group led by Gregory was taken off, wave after wave of other groups left the church on the edge of the business district. Each marcher carried placards decrying segregation. They sang freedom songs as they walked two by two.

The groups were stopped by police officers, arrested, placed in school buses and hauled to jail. The operation lasted about two hours.

SAN JOSE SCHOOL PAY INCREASES 6%

Salary increases averaging 6 per cent were approved last night for employees of San Jose Elementary School District.

Trustee Alan Swabacker expressed the feelings of the district board when he said, "I wish we could grant more at this time, but if we can give more later, we will."

Teachers' salaries were raised 6 per cent to a five-grade, 12-step scale starting at $5,200 and reaching a top of $9,880. All non-teaching personnel were increased a straight 6 per cent.

The board raised the salaries of five principals from $11,637 to $12,350, and Principal Donald Slezak of Lynwood School from $9,775 to $10,374. Swabacker abstained from voting on the increase for the principals.

"I feel that it is time the teachers received the raise, not the administrators," he said. "I want to narrow the gap between the teachers' salaries and those of the administrators."

The trustees did not take up salaries of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and district-wide employees such as speech therapist and curriculum consultant.

Belvedere Annexation Plan Draws Protests

An objection to Belvedere's plan to annex a part of the Tiburon business district, thereby cutting into the financial base of the proposed City of Tiburon was voiced by Elva Paske, chairman, and Nicki La Mott, member of the Tiburon Peninsula Incorporation Committee at last night's meeting of the Belvedere City Council.

"If you take this, other landowners will seek annexation and we will be defeated," Mrs. La Mott predicted.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins said the council could not say no if annexation was good for Belvedere. "This potential financial reserve is good and we are elected to do what is best for the city," he said.

The council adjourned until Monday to permit City Mgr. Britton Rey to discuss annexation boundary lines with Fred G. Zelinsky, who is seeking annexation of part of his property to the city.

Planners Set Hearing On Residential Lot Buildings

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday set for June 3 a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment which would spell out requirements for construction of accessory buildings on residential lots.

Staff Planner Warren Baker said the amendment would "insure residential open space and would preserve the character and social and economic stability of residential areas."

It would limit accessory buildings, detached from the main building on a site, to a height of one story, not over 12 feet "unless the building is located at least 40 feet from any property line, in which case the accessory building may be erected to a height specified for the main building in any respective district."

Detached buildings must not occupy more than 30 per cent of the area of any rear yard. Renting of rooms in accessory buildings will be prohibited, unless rooms are rented in the main building and zoning permits.

Tam Aero Club Meets Tomorrow

The first public meeting of the newly formed Tamalpais Aero Club will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Tomahawk Lodge in Novato.

"We are interested in getting better facilities in the county for fliers," said new president William Kapranos of San Anselmo. "We have 13 charter members and expect many more to join tomorrow. We welcome both neophytes and experienced pilots."

Hub School Unit Meeting On Bids

Bid openings and bid calls on five projects occupies the major portion of the agenda of the San Anselmo School District board for its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

Bids will be opened on the lease of the Sunny Hills site and construction of the Hidden Valley tennis courts.

Bids will be called for on the Wade Thomas addition, the Brookside School fire alarm system, and on solid-core doors, new transoms and acoustical tile at Isabel Cook School.

The preliminary budget for the next fiscal year will be presented.

Tiburon Fire District's Budget Record

A record preliminary budget of $102,064 was adopted by the Tiburon Fire Protection District last night. This compares to $80,554 for this year.

However, according to Chairman Harry Bragg, because of reserves of $32,000 and a growth in assessed valuation, no raise is expected in the tax rate of 66 cents. It may even drop, he said.

Budget items are: salaries, $44,514 (which includes one more paid fireman as of next January); maintenance, $12,050; reserve carryover, $18,500, and capital outlay of $27,000 including $12,000 for adding an alarm room, office and truck repair area to the main fire house, $10,000 down payment on a new pumper, $2,000 for hydrants, $1,500 for water main replacement, and $1,500 miscellaneous.

'Evils' Of Small Lot Splits Listed

As property in Marin becomes more valuable, everybody begins thinking about how he can split up his land, Marin County planning commissioners were told yesterday.

Principal Planner Sidney Shaw said this desire to hack up and sell pieces of land leads to a need for control of small subdivisions. He presented the commission with a list of the "evils" that a minor subdivision ordinance would correct.

Under existing county law, any subdivisions of fewer than five lots does not require filing of a subdivision map. For several months the commission has talked about an ordinance to control such lot splitting.

Chairman William Upton directed Shaw to "come up with a specific ordinance at a future meeting, and then we can start holding public hearings."

'Insects In Garden'

"Insects In Your Garden" will be discussed by the Redwood Shade Garden Club at its meeting at 8 p.m. Friday in Whitaker Hall, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Belvedere. Blake Maddox of Santa Rosa will show a color movie and answer questions on the subject. George Coleman of Belvedere will talk on "What to do this month in the Garden," according to John Titus, president.

Sausalito School Contracts Signed

Sausalito School District trustees last night agreed to renew contracts of 22 teachers now holding tenure, 10 probationary teachers and nine teachers for summer school.

Action came following a closed session to discuss hiring.

The board also agreed to hire Armando F. Flores of San Francisco as Spanish instructor for the district to replace Fernando Silva, who will teach at Tamalpais High School. Diane Dee Schilling of Marin City was hired as social studies and girl's physical education teacher at Richardson Bay School. She is the wife of the newly appointed Presbyterian minister at Marin City.

The Sausalito School District board also:

1. Accepted $1,050 from the Edgewater Foundation to provide musical instruments for the district. Funds were derived by the foundation's "Children's Concerto."

2. Approved sending two or three teachers to Torrence to observe ungraded programs, with the possibility of starting a pilot program in the district. Teachers have not been named. They will be gone two days next week.

3. Approved a dental hygiene program for all third grades in the district.

4. Voiced objection to a proposal by William Brose to install an automobile display and sales business on the Northwestern Pacific Freight Station land at Bridgeway and Litho Street.

Tam Union Trustees Award Keyser Hall Job

Tamalpais Union High School District trustees last night awarded a contract for the last work to be done with the three million dollars raised as result of the district's 1961 bond election.

Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, lowest of three bidders at $34,621, received a contract to renovate the interior of Keyser Hall at Tamalpais High School.

The building, now used for science classes, will be used for English classes. Science classes will be moved to the new Raymond J. Palmer Building, to be completed May 15.

After the contract was awarded, trustee John Siemens said:

"We now have done everything we promised with the bond funds."

1. Accepted resignations of five teachers: Gwenmar Powell, Tamalpais High, business education and counseling; Eldon L. Bennett, Redwood High, mathematics; Nelson J. Gilman, Tamalpais, mathematics; James O. Buckley, Redwood, mechanical drawing, and Annie Beth Watson, Drake, English.

2. Granted one-year leaves to three teachers: Robert T. E. Baugh, German and Russian, Redwood; James Hanretty, history and counseling, Tamalpais, and Adrian Cobb, science, Drake.

3. Rehired 211 teachers and other certificated personnel and 108 non-teaching employees.

4. Hired five new teachers: Robert Flynn, Larkspur, industrial arts, Redwood High; Glen Levi Dickey, Long Beach, mathematics, Redwood; Billy Frank Pitts, San Jose, physics and electronics, Tamalpais; Dumont Francis Hixson, Concord, reading specialist, Tamalpais, and Theodore Thomas Redenius, Daly City, driver instruction for the entire district.

5. Voted permanent tenure to seven teachers at Tamalpais, five at Drake and six at Redwood High schools.

6. Adjourned at 9:45 p.m. to meet in executive session to discuss hiring of summer school principals, recreation directors, a director of data processing and a director of gifted-children teaching. The closed meeting ended at 11:15 p.m. and the discussion will be continued, board chairman Delman D. Smith told the Independent-Journal.

Tiburon Fire Unit Aide Resigns Post

Fred Mantegani, secretary of the Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission, announced at last night's meeting that he will resign for the commission in June.

Mantegani, associated with the new National Bank of Tiburon, gave pressing business matters as his reason. He has been on the commission for three and one-half years and has served as chairman.

Plan Session Scheduled In Sausalito

The Sausalito City Council will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in a "study session" with city planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr. to discuss land uses in Old Town, New Town and the Spring Street area, Mayor Paul Micou said today.

"We are trying to assess the effect of possible duplex zoning on lots which were established many years ago," said Micou. The Council will ask William L. Hynes, building inspector, to provide information on the existing land uses.

At a study session last night, the council discussed for four hours the proposed zoning ordinance and zoning map, reviewing building setbacks and height limits and the map in general. It took no action.

The council will hold a regular meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Lucky Porky Opening Again

Lucky Porky Delicatessen and Coffee Shop has reopened at 707 Bridgeway in Sausalito after being closed four months for remodeling of the building.

Added to the delicatessen, according to owner Morrie Singer, are eight stools for a coffee shop and sandwich counter plus a large selection of packaged meats. Singer said today the shop is open "informally" but he plans a "grand opening" in about two weeks.

Inmate Pleads Guilty To Escape Attempt

James P. Winton, 24, Fresno County burglar, who hid in an underground burrow inside San Quentin Prison for five days last summer, pleaded guilty to an escape charge yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Winton to prison for a term prescribed by law—one year to life. This term will run consecutively to the term he is already serving for burglary.

Tam Dstrict Needs Exceeding Resources

A $5,466,600 preliminary fiscal 1964 budget, up $65,072 from the 1963 budget, was submitted to the Tamalpais Union High School District board last night.

Trustees voted 4-0 to "approve in principal the general distribution of funds" in the budget.

"This is the first year when the needs of the district exceed the resources," said business director Frank Cassou.

He said for this reason capital outlay is only $395,090, down $222,928 from this year.

The new budget includes funds for painting Tamalpais High buildings, step increases for teaching and non-teaching personnel, increased cost of fire insurance because of added families, and pay for 16 more teachers.

Cassou said it appeared the district will levy the full $1.90 operational tax this year. Last year it levied only $1.84.

Trustee J. M. Stubblebine said he was sorry to see the full $1.90 levied "but I say that every year."

Cassou will submit a tentative budget in June and a publication budget in July. A hearing on the final budget will be held Aug. 5, said Cassou.

Parking District Formation Is Discussed For Kentfield

Formation of a parking district for present and future business establishments on low-lying land behind commercial property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was discussed last night at a meeting of Kentfield Civic League directors attended by about 40 persons.

Directors and selected guests heard Edmund Kagi, county senior planner, discuss the tentative master plan for the Kentfield area.

Proposals outlined by Kagi included:

1. Rerouting of through traffic from Larkspur along Kent and Laurel avenues intsead of College Avenue.

2. Extension of Wolfe Grade Road through marshlands between Berens Drive and Marin General Hospital.

3. Widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Ross if Ross Town officials agree.

4. Extension of Adaline E. Kent School grounds into present commercial land on College Avenue.

5. Public access to Corte Madera Creek for a greenbelt recreation area under the Corte Madera Creek flood control plan.

For sale will be rooted cuttings and plant divisions of the society's members. Some are even prize-winning varieties, according to co-chairmen Mrs. Bernard H. Keener of Sleepy Hollow and Charles Locati of San Anselmo.

The co-chairmen expect interest in chrysanthemum growing in Marin County, where is an ideal climate for the plants, to be heightened this year because of the National Chrysanthemum Show to be held in San Francisco in October.

Two Ross Troop Boy Scouts Will Receive Eagle Badges

Two members of Boy Scout Troop 17 of Ross will receive Eagle Scout badges at a court of honor Friday at 8 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church Parish House.

He was a delegate to YMCA count and state Youth in Government Days, and is active in the Episcopal Young Churchmen of St. John's Church, of which his father is rector.

His scouting career started in Cub Scout Pack 17 in Ross.

Joseph Guthrie is junior assistant scoutmaster. He is a member of the election committee at Redwood High and of the Young Democrats of America. He has been a member of Troop 17 for five years, having started his scouting in a Cub Scout pack in South Hadley, Mass., and transferred to a Cub pack in Terra Linda.

Ban Is Needed On Cities Levying An Income Tax

The State Senate has before it an Assembly-passed bill which would prohibit local governmental agencies from levying an income tax.

The bill (AB 661) would include large cities as well as small taxing districts and this inclusion has brought a cry of complaint from some of our fellow newspapermen in the big cities.

"Though we hope no large California city ever encounters the need to levy such a tax," one San Francisco editorial said with a straight face, "we don't think it should be denied the power to do so."

"In our view (the other paper's) the local income tax, or payroll tax as it is commonly called by the large eastern cities that have it, is a last resort. Yet the trend of metropolitan growth is such that the last resort could arrive.

"For example (that other editorial goes on), the proportion of commuters working in central city but living elsewhere might some day be so large that the city would not be able to provide essential services. The commuting population uses city streets, traffic regulations, police and fire protection utilities . . . "

That's enough to make up our minds. We DO think that each and every little taxing district should be denied the right to tax our income. Even mentioning it might give some sanitary district or city or county the idea.

Takehome pay, what happened to you?

Our hearts grieve for the big cities and their influx of commuters. Over 50 per cent of the taxpayer's burden is the schools. Yet commuters leave their children home to be educated, they don't take them into the cities.

And we must weep some big, round tears for the big cities which have assessed valuations 10, 20 or 30 times that of some whole counties. Taxable real property in which all those commuters work are in the cities, aren't they?

So we give a big cheer to the Assembly for passing AB 661 and we hope the Senate handles it with care and approval.

There should be a limit on the number of political agencies who can get to our pay checks before we do.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Two Opinions Of Kuchel Talk

The Independent-Journal welcomes contributions to "What Our Readers Say." Letters must be signed and must not exceed 300 words in length. The editor reserves the right to delete malicious material.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Having read excerpts from Senator Kuchel's recent bombastically vitriolic diatribe against the Birchers, I suggest to him that, whenever he can get up one-half the head of steam against the extreme left-wingers that he has generated against the Birchers, he may be entitled to be listened to with some respect when he fulminated against "extreme" right wingers.

Citizens sincerely exercising the right of free speech have the right to be wrong. If a citizen honestly thinks that Eisenhower was "a dupe of the Communists," or that Earl Warren is "a traitor to America," he has every right, possiby even a patriotic duty, to say so. The fact that you and I disagree with such charges is neither here nor there.

If I were forced to take my stand with the extreme right-wingers or the extreme left-wingers, I would unhesitatingly take my stand with the former, because I am convinced that almost all Americans agree with me.

America is big and great enough to tolerate all kinds and shades of political opinion. Quite evidently, Mr. Kuchel's not.

JOHN B. EHLEN

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Senator Kuchel deserves the heartfelt thanks of every American who believes in intelligent citizenship and who supports freedom and justice.

The hate mongers, masquerading as patriots, would have us bow before their own brand of authitoritarian dogma. Their arguments subvert the moral principles of Christianity and the political principles of our republic.

Other Side Of Daylight Saving

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In your April 29 story entitled "Daylight Brings Out Everybody," the inference was that Daylight Saving Time had added to everyone's weekend enjoyment.

It did not mention that DST had kept everyone out later because in reality it was not later and their systems were still living by the old time. It also did not mention how much later it kept all those children up past their usual bedtime Sunday night, and the impossibility of getting them up for school the next morning.

Your article, as all DST articles, was happily complacent that we are all living richer, better and fuller lives as a result of lying to ourselves about what time it is. I think it is time to hear from the other side.

Let's hear from those who LIKE to see the sun go down, so they can get the children to bed and have a few quiet hours for contemplation on the state of the universe. Let's hear from the tired worker who likes to go home in the twilight because it is a symbol of the end of his labors for the day. Let's also hear from those who go out formally at 8 with the full glare of the setting sun on their glittering nighttime regalia.

Let's hear from those in the southern parts and inland deserts who are literally dying for the sun to go down so they can cool off enough to face the next blazing morning. And last but not least, let's hear some day in the near future that all of us who are "luxuriating" in an extra hour of sunshine at least get to take a vote on it.

I personally feel that DST is not only an invasion of my privacy and my democratic rights, but that it constitues one more additional burden of readjustment in an already overcomplicated world. Have you ever tried to explain to a child of 7 what DST is? Even the most intelligent explanation makes us, the imposers of the law, sound like blithering idiots.

If we waste time with the sun up, what guarantee is there that we will save time if we pretend it is an hour earlier than it really is? Is golf and back yard barbecuing more important than the stability of the world of time?

What guarantee do we have that this subtle lie won't spread into other areas of our thinking? A government that can tell you it's 5 o'clock when it's really 4, and legislate that authority should be asked many questions.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

NEVER TOO YOUNG

A 13-year-old boy is the latest executive in a large London travel agency.

When he was hired, the enterprising young man was no stranger to the business. He had set up his own small agency in his spare time one summer. Through it he had made contacts with nearly 200 airlines, 50 shipping companies and 90 coach operators.

The 324 inquiries and 50 customers he had handled proved his theory that "the regular travel agencies did not treat inquiries from children seriously."

The manager of the big agency said: "We have never considered offering a 13-year-old school boy a job before, but we want this young man. He obviously has a flair for this sort of business and wonderful organizing ability."

The natural talent of young people, entrusted to them by Almighty God, is too precious to overlook. Everybody benefits if youthful ability and enthusiasm are directed into constructive channels.

"Well done, good and faithful servant; because you have been faithful over a few things, I will set you over many."
(Matthew 25:23)

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Now Let's See, Where Were We When Interrupted 2 Months Ago

By CHAPIN A. DAY

'CHIP' DAY

Let's see now, where was I when I was interrupted about two months ago? Which party is it that's starting a new organization to "strengthen the party, not to divide it?" And which party is it that's dividing all over the place because it has so many "strong men" they can't tell which one is the leader? And which leader was it that announced he would follow his California party's decision on a presidential candidate—and then moved to New York?

It's been tough not being in on that blowup at the CDC convention in Bakersfield where Hans Schiller of Mill Valley thought he had a new system for passing resolutions which would let the delegates have their say on all of them. Wonder why it didn't work?

And what happened? Did CDC backing actually go to a John Birch candidate, as Democratic Congressman Ronald B. Cameron charges in his resignation statement? Or is the group guilty of "political grand theft" because of some "power-hungry and predatory elements" as Assemblyman Philip L. Doto (D-La Puente) charged in his resignation? I would miss something like that.

What about the Republican youth rebellion in Santa Rosa and the setting up of a new and competing college GOP organization? I saw that revolt start at Disneyland, but missed the finale.

And the Republicans in Marin apparently haven't responded to their tennis-oriented chairman's plea for a "Love All" motto. I hear a new conservative organization is being established.

Boy! Have I got a lot of catching up to do!

I GOT BACK in time to hear, however, that someone reported Nick Kobseff of Nicasio as being in violation of the federal Hatch Act in filing for Congress last winter and running for Democratic Central Committee before that.

He wasn't elected to the central committee and he withdrew from the Congressional race after it was pointed out to him as a $200 per month part-time postmaster of Nicasio, he might be violating the act.

Now an investigator from the U.S. Civil Service Commission in Washington is in the county investigating the complaint.

As a result, Kobseff faces dismissal from his job, disbarment from eligibility for federal employment for a period of time, or possibly other penalties.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

A measure backed for legislative enactment by Marin supervisors called for a flood control law with a tax limit of $1 per $100 of assessed valuation. It was stripped of any authority to create a recreation district as result of flood control activities.

Talks between Marin commuters and Pacific Greyhound Lines over a proposed 30 per cent rate increase broke down when the company, though supplying figures on its Marin County operation, refused to give complete fiscal data on intra-state operation on which the company declared it could provide no full figures without four to five months work costing $30,000 to $40,000.

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ada Fusselman as chairman of the Marin Salvage Committee reported great success in a silk stocking drive but said "every tin can, especially all milk cans, are vitally needed in the tin drive next Sunday."

West Marin residents complained to county supervisors that they had been for months without the services of any physician living closer than 25 miles away.

TRY AND STOP ME

In his amusing autobiography, "What Time's The Next Swan?" Walter Slezak tells how his father, the famous opera star, Leo Slezak, was put on a strict diet when his weight became alarming. For a week he howled that he was being starved, then suddenly began accepting his serenity. His dog betrayed him by taking a stand at Slezak's desk, holding a rigid point, and barking like mad. Mrs. Slezak investigated and found inside the desk a two-foot-long Hungarian salami.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

If Public Bodies Meet In Private They Chance Being Misunderstood

The eternal battle between the press's viewpoint that the public has the right to know the deliberations of its elected bodies and the desire of those bodies to hide their activities, came up twice last week in Marin County.

In one instance, the Novato City Council had a legal right under the Ralph M. Brown Act, to hold a secret or executive session. However the councilmen did not realize the extent of the range of their voices nor the excellent acoustics in the city's community house.

This reporter and George Barnwell of the Novato Advance sat in the lobby of the building, not intending to eavesdrop, but to await the outcome of the meeting.

RUMORS IN A SMALL town being what they were, we both expected to see one or two city employees being fired or asked to resign.

What we were treated to was enough of the conversation to be able to follow the proceedings. Of course we could not hear every word, but we distinctly could hear the councilmen when they raised their voices. Words, phrases and occassionally full sentences came out clearly.

From those, we both wrote stories the next day.

THAT IS WHERE the danger lies for the council. We could report on what we heard, but we did not hear the complete and full conversation. It is equivalent to quoting phrases out of context which can be taken to change the true meaning of the writing as a whole.

I will not argue that when personal charges are brought against an employee that he should not have a right to have these aired in secret. The recent charges against one Novato policeman that he was having an affair with a married woman certainly should not have been aired in public.

However, when it comes to the ability of city employees to do or not to do a proper job for the city, this should be aired in public. Probably most of the people in a small town already know who is and who is not doing a good job for the city.

HAVING A CITY council that has the fortitude to stand out in public and tell their employees that they expect a better job from them or they will be taken off the payroll would probably raise that council in the public's esteem.

The other incident was where two reporters were ousted from a meeting by Police in Mill Valley. But that is in the beat of fellow reporter Bruce Coleman, so I'll let him comment on that.

ON CHANEL 5 news last Friday night, Don Brice picked up an Independent-Journal story about the proposed city seal of Novato. In his commentary on what was proposed in the seal and what he felt should be in it, he showed a marked hostility toward the suburban areas.

Let him spend one weekend in the green hills of Marin County, smell the fertile earth and the blooming flowers, and he might find something more fundamental to life than he can ever find in the pavement of the city.

Let him escape from the concrete cubicles for a short while and probably would have used a different approach to Novato's proposed seal showing a mountain, oak tree, dairy ranch and the bay.

Problem Of Communism In Europe As Complicated As Italy, Germany

WASHINGTON — One of the most striking aspects of post-war politics in Western Europe is the contrast in the political complexion of two of America's most valuable allies — West Germany and Italy.

The Italian elections sharply point up this contrast.

Communism, which nearly engulfed Germany in the late 1920s and early 30s, is a puny, virtually non-existent force there today. Even in East Germany the Moscow-imposed Ulbricht regime would not last a week without the presence of Soviet force.

IN ITALY, despite growing prosperity, despite the fact that the Fanfani government was committed to social reform, despite the long anti-Communist work of the Catholic Church, the Communist Party is steadily growing more powerful, its influence more pervasive.

In West Germany today communism is dead.

In Italy today communism is more alive than in any nation in the world where there are free elections.

In Germany communist ideology has been steadily rejected by the German voters, by the trade unions, by the German workers.

In West Germany the Social Democratic Party, under the leadership of Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, is about as far left as the Roosevelt New Deal in the U.S.

Today in Germany the Social Democratic Party has completely shed its Marxist ties and purposes.

IN ITALY MOST of the Socialist Party has been tied to the Italian Communists. They have played the Communist game, sung the Communist tunes, and invariably taken positions which were anti-NATO, anti-Western.

Only during the past two years has about half of the Italian Socialist Party under Pietro Nenni broken with the Communists and supported the domestic reform goals of the center-left government. Much of the Italian Socialist movement still remains Marxist in its ideology and pro-communist in its tactics.

Because the strength and stability of our allies are so crucial, last week's Italian elections are disappointing.

The Communists gained more than one million votes over their total in 1958. One out of every four Italian voters aligned himself with the Communist Party.

The wing of the Socialist Party that was supporting Premier Fanfani lost votes; the Socialists who were tied to the Communists gained votes.

There are some alleviating factors. The Liberals, who are the fourth largest party and are both conservative and pro-Western, doubled their vote, adding a million to their total. With the backing of the Nenni Socialists, the Fanfani coalition retains a parliamentary majority which may hold firm.

WHY HAVE the Italian voters given so much support to the Communists?

Perhaps because Italian prosperity has left many large pockets of economic distress, has uprooted two million people in the past few years. Or, perhaps, the promise of social reform by the center-left government of Fanfani has not yet been fulfilled.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You Must Rely On Opening Bid Of Your Opponent Also

"Rely on your partner's opening bid," you are told when you begin to play bridge.

Your teacher should tell you to rely just as much on an opponent's bid.

Opening lead — ♡ K

West cashed two high hearts and then led a trump. South, a inexperienced player, led out four rounds of trumps in the vague hope that somebody might make a bad discard.

GAVE UP

Finally South cashed the ace of clubs and gave up.

"I can't eat the two clubs," he grumbled as he conceded a one-trick defeat.

South then went after his partner for the jump to four spades. "Don't you think three spades would have been enough?" he asked. "If I couldn't go on to four spades we probably shouldn't get that high."

STRENGTH

There was nothing in this complaint. Four spades was a very reasonable contract, and South should have made the game and rubber.

West was marked with all of the missing high cards for his vulnerable opening bid in first position.

That is, West needed the king and queen of clubs in addition to the ace and king of hearts.

END PLAY

If South relies on West's bid, he makes the contract by way of an end play.

Declarer draws two rounds of trumps and three diamonds, ending in the South hand. He then leads a low club.

Giants' Swinging Away At 3 And 0 Pitch Is Silly, Useless Gambling

CONNOLLY

Let's just say there should be a law against it—hitting on a 3 and 0 pitch.

If you have listened lately, you know hitters like Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou, Ed Bailey, Willie McCovey and sometimes Tom Haller are given the green sign, which, in the parlance of the game, means that regardless of the score, the inning or the number of outs, Manager Alvin Dark allows his hitters to swing at a pitch with the count three balls and no strikes.

In my book it is silly gambling, and useless as an aggressive weapon.

Of course, it really isn't third base coach Whitey Lockman who gives the green sign; Manager Dark gives Whitey the wig wag that says go ahead—let him hit.

Alvin runs the club by remote control and Whitey, who acts as his Charley McCarthy, gets the blame. Poor Whitey, a very conservative player in his prime, and a good one, is the fall guy. He gives the batter the sign and is blamed for the success or failure of the move

THE WAY any experienced baseball writer looks at hitting on a 3 and 0 pitch is the same. It's suicide and gets the club into more jams than it ever gets into playing the percentages, which is to not hit the 3 and 0 pitch.

It has become so flagrant, the Giants hitting on the 3 and 0 pitch, that most of the opposing pitchers never give the Giant batter a "sucker" pitch or a "fat" ball to hit. They either half speed it, take a little off the curve or slider and just try their darnedest to get the pitch as close to the strike zone as they can without coming right down the middle. That really nullifies hitting the 3 and 0 pitch. When the opposing pitchers can fool around with the 3 and 0 pitch, they are way ahead of the batsman.

The only guy who benefits from being allowed to hit with 3 and 0 is the week hitter. The pitcher throws him a "fat" pitch knowing he isn't going to be allowed to offer at the ball.

THERE ARE only a few Giant batters like Jose Pagan, Chuck Hiller, Joe Amalfitano and Jimmy Davenport who seldom get the green sign on a 3 and 0 pitch. Those poor guys have to wait 'em out and sometimes they let the ball they could hit outta the park go by for a strike and then have to outguess the pitcher with the count 3 and 2.

It doesn't make sense, this continual offering of Giant hitters on the 3 and 0 pitch, but somebody besides me has to tell Skipper Dark.

IT IS the same way with Dark on the case of Billy Pierce. Last year Alvin studiously made southpaw Billy wait until the fifth day before he could pitch. This year he started off okay, but got cocky and decided that Pierce could pitch every fourth day. Well, you see what has happened to the grandest little guy on the S.F. club. He can't even comb his hair anymore. His arm is tired, he's lost his stuff and in his last three games has looked like he did in the spring of 1962. The only way the Giants can get any good out of Pierce is to use him once a week after he gets his pitching arm in shape again. When they do that you can just bet little Ol' Billy Pierce will be back in form again. Let Pierce be a starter, but not more than once a week.

Seals Too Weary To Celebrate Victory

Shortly after the San Francisco Seals defeated the Seattle Totems 4-3 in overtime last night for the Western Hockey League's playoff crown, a booster club member shouted in the winners' dressing room:

Which just about summed up how both sextets felt at the end of a hockey season that finally ended three days short of seven months.

One of the tiredest Seals was center Orland Kurtenbach who banged the winning goal through netminder Al Millar at 4:09 of the first sudden-death period to galvanize a record crowd of 12,404 at the Cow Palace.

"I think it was only my fourth goal in 17 games and I was afraid I had run out of them," Kurtenbach said. "Believe me, this has been the most exhausting season of my life."

San Francisco kept the pressure on the Totems most of the night, forcing Millar to come up with 43 stops while Seal netminder Jim McLeod made 27.

Coach Keith Allen of the toppled Totems sat quietly in his own team's dressing room at the Cow Palacea nd murmured, "We have no alibis. But I wonder how we would have made out if we didn't have to play the entire series away from home."

The Seals' share for winning the Lester Patrick trophy came to about $1,400 per man in a best-of-seven series that saw them trailing Seattle three games to one before they caught fire.

Bob Sabourin gave the Totems a 2-0 lead with a brace of tallies within 37 seconds during the second period.

But before the second period ended, San Francisco pulled even on tallies by Duke Edmundson and Moe Mantha. Danny Belisle gave San Francisco a 3-2 advantage early in the third period but Jim Powers tied it by scoring a minute and 10 seconds later.

As the sudden-death period swept past the three-minute mark, Kurtenbach kept the puck in Seattle ice by intercepting it from defenseman Jim Hay. Then he shot home the clincher after it was set up by Larry McNabb and Belisle.

It was the fourth overtime contest of the series and three of them were won by San Francisco.

MARICHAL VS. BURDETTE

Fighting Mad Braves Host Crippled Giants Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Righthander Juan Marichal seeks his fourth win of the season tonight in the opener of a three-game series between the crippled San Francisco Giants and Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves are in a fighting mood after dropping three in a row at home to the surprising Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan has nominated Lew Burdette (3-2) to face the Giants.

Giants Manager Alvin Dark may be forced to reshuffle his lineup due to the possible loss of two regulars—second baseman Chuck Hiller and outfielder Willie McCovey—and utility outfielder Matty Alou.

McCovey wrenched his ankle while running out a triple in York Mets at the Polo Grounds in New York. McCovey said nothing about the ankle until he asked Dark to lift him midway through the second game.

Trainer Frank Bowman said Hiller would be out "two or three more weeks." Bowman, who treated McCovey's ankle during yesterday's off-day and also today, said he was not sure whether Willie will be able to play tonight.

Matty Alou's injured knee has been responding to treatment and he has been seeing action as a pinch hitter. Dark said he may use Alou sparingly in the outfield tonight if McCovey's ankle is too tender.

Marichal, who has lost twice, closed out the Pittsburgh Series Thursday with a masterful five-hit victory.

The Giants also seek revenge against the Braves who took three straight from the defending National League champions to close out San Francisco's home stand April 28. During that stand at Candlestick Park, the Giants won only 6 of 14 games.

However, since heading east the Giants won six in a row before bowing to the Mets in the finale of Sunday's doubleheader.

After concluding the three-game series here, the Giants head to Los Angeles for the first 1963 meeting with the Dodgers whom San Francisco beat in a playoff for the National League title last fall.

Dodgers Will Keep Alston As Manager

Breaking a long silence, O'Malley told The Associated Press today he did not blame Alston for the club's poor showing, had never considered the possibility of dropping his manager and gave what amounted to a vote of condidence to Waiter for the balance of the season.

"I don't want to be put in the position of having to give Alston a vote of confidence," said O'Malley. "That's usually construed as a kiss of death, but I want to answer you as directly and honestly as I can.

"Alston is my manager and I have no intention of making a change.

"Leo Durocher? I admire him as a baseball man. I always have. That's why I hired him . . . as a coach and that's what he'll remain. There never has been any intention and there is none now to elevate Leo to the manager's job. For that matter, I don't believe Leo entertains any thoughts of ever managing again."

"Last year, a half minute after we lost the playoffs for the National League pennant to the Giants, I sent word to Alston not to worry," said O'Malley. "I'm saying the same thing now.

"I consider Alston a good, sound manager. He is not spectacular but he gets the job done. He's quiet, he's not controversial but he is devoted to his job and he never emebarrasses the front office.

MAJOR LEAGUES TO AMEND THE RULE ON BALKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick and presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles of the American and National Leagues agreed today to amend the balk rule to eliminate the one-second stop for a pitcher.

The National League umpires have called 96 balks, an all-time record, so far this season compared with nine for the American League.

The balk ruling today is a temporary move until the rule can be changed. It will be effective for the remainder of the year, Frick said.

Bobby Lane Calls It Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Pro Bobby Lane, who holds most of football's passing records in the iron grasp that guided Detroit to three championships, has decided to pack it in.

"I've had it," the brash blond quarterback said last night. "I can't do it any more."

Layne, 34, spent 15 years in the National Football League, most of it with Detroit and Pittsburgh. He led Detroit to the league championships in 1952, 1953 and 1957 and finished his career with most of the passing records in the book.

Those include passes attempted, 3,467; passes completed, 1,710; total yards gained passing, 25,083, and touchdown passes, 187.

"I've had my share of the thrills," Layne said. "Let the younger guys go out and get them now."

He made the comment in confirming an announcement in Dallas of his retirement by Pittsburgh coach and general manager Buddy Parker.

"He's had a lot of success," Parker said. "I think it's time to call a stop."

Layne said he had no immediate plans for the future.

"I offered him a job as a coach," Parker said, "but he did not want it."

There had been reports that Layne might take a job in the rival American Footbal League, but Parker pointed out that the quarterback would not be eligible to play unless all other NFL teams gave him waivers.

Besides Grey and Beattie, Tom Transue and Bob Scheffer won matches for Redwood yesterday while Drake's lone winner was Bob Richeda. Redwood's Fred McDougall and Drake's John McBride tied in their match.

In another league match yesterday, also at the Meadow Club, San Rafael kept its title hopes alive by downing Marin Catholic 6-0 San Rafael winners were Bruce Wold, Tom Degenhardt, Craig Ballentine, Jim May, Steve Weschler and Charles Lavender.

WINNING TEAM AND AWARD

Tiny Shannon Mullins, 4, of Mill Valley, received the gold trophy in Sabella's Junior Frog Jump last week, but the leggy individual she is holding can claim the credit for winning it. Shannon is now eligible to enter the Calaveras County Frog Jumping Jubilee finals at Angels Camp May 16 through 19.

Ed Posusney Wins Marin Masters Bowling Tourney

Ed Posusney, recently hired as a field representative for the Bowling Proprietors Assn. of America, is the 1963 bowling champ of Marin County.

Posusney won top honors in the second annual Marin Masters Tournament by going through the slate without a loss. He scored a come-from-behind victory over Jay Sharp of Novato in the finals, 583-562 in their three-game set.

Posusney was four pins down going into the third and final game in his championship match but came through with a strong finish to overtake Sharp. Ed picked up first prize of $150 and a trophy.

Sharp received a $105 cash prize for second place. Fletcher Bates, who came in third, also received cash prizes for his high series score of 667 and his high game of the tourney, 267.

In semi-final matches Sunday, Bates won over Don Fredette by default and Lee Stetson downed Ed "300" Clinton 560-518. Clinton was to leave today to start a two-year hitch in the army.

Bates then met Stetson and outscored him 569-529. The then undefeated Sharp met Posusney and Ed defeated Sharp 583-491. Sharp and Bates, each with a loss, rolled off to see who would meet Posusney in the finals, and Sharp downed Bates easily, 636-498.

There was a total of 81 entries in the tourney, and 16 of the total entry list remained for the finals.

The tournament was sponsored by the Marin County Bowling Assn. and its officers Bill Rhodes, Chico Valsecchi, Don Yoder, Mike Telesco, Walt Carter and Jack Lepinski.

MARKET DAY

Based On An English Fair

The 10th annual Market Day, a fund raising event sponsored by the Northgate Group for the Marin Art and Garden Center is coming to the center in Ross, May 15, 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The event is open, free of admission to the public.

Based on an old English fair, this year's Market Day will be called "A-Tisket A-Tasket." Decorations, designed by Mrs. Fred Sloat, will feature hanging baskets of colorful blooms. Accordion music contributed by George MacKensie of San Anselmo, will add to the gayety of the event, according to Mrs. Frank Brown, San Anselmo, chairman of the steering committee for the day.

Eighteen market booths, staffed by Northgate members, are expected to raise funds for the center's support with such items as home-made ice cream, white elephants, and fortune telling.

"Food-vendors" include Mrs. Arthur W. Feidler and a large corps, selling examples of recipes from the Northgate Group Cookbook; Mrs. William J. Cassidy with home-grown fresh fruits and vegetables, Mrs. Jack L. Hunt with baked breads, pickles, stuffed eggs, baked beans and potato salad, and Mrs. Peter Skaer scooping her strawberry ice cream.

A "silver dollar" lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. J. Kenneth Peters, but for the continually hungry, Mrs. Henry E. Skinner will staff a snack bar.

Always popular, a "silent auction" booth offers china, pictures, glassware, furs, silver, and brasses. Mrs. Robert O. Cole will be in charge.

Hats will be marketed by Mrs. Mert Hipsley, books by Mrs. Harold E. Hallett, white elephants by Mrs. Henry D. Eddy, and decorated market bags by Mrs. Rolla B. Hess.

A colorful flower cart will serve to show off plants for sale in the "green thumb" area under the direction of Mrs. Harold F. Schutte. Nearby, Mrs. Harold G. MacKensie will offer bonsai.

Mrs. William L. Kapranos will be in charge of a traditional grab bag and Mrs. Robert H. Berry will direct the activities of the gift booth.

Shopper's fortunes will be told by Mrs. Wagner d'Alessio. Other Market Day features include a "surprise booth" run by Mrs. Fisher Kinslow Jr., and a check stand operated by Mrs. Walter J. Swenson.

Members on the steering committee for the day, working with Mrs. Brown, are Mesdames Fred Good, Ralph A. Alden, Philip Nathan, John C. Cummings, John Siemons and James S. Koodale, and Mrs. Melvin J. Duncan, Northgate president.

Mrs. Lewis J. Kerlin will handle supplies, Mrs. Fred Enemark will be cashier for the day, and Mrs. Joseph Q. Riznik is in charge of publicity.

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Marion Hayes Cain of San Anselmo, who is serving her second year as president of the Mountain Play Association, which presents the Mountain Play each year in the outdoor theater on Mt. Tamalpais, has mastered the art of outdoor productions.

Marion took part in the first mountain play when she was a youngster. She had an able coach in the late Garnet Holme, who had put on many outdoor plays and pageants and she learned his technique for getting children interested in the theater. "You have to play with them first," Marion said, "so they will continue their interest in the production."

Marion, a third generation Californian, was born in San Francisco and was graduated from Polytechnic High School and San Francisco State College where she majored in speech and drama.

Holme, who was with the drama department at University of California at Berkeley, was pageant master for the National Park System, adapted Ramona and several other books and plays for outdoor theater. Marion credits him with organization of the Outdoor Theater on Tamalpais. Al Pinther of Kent Woodlands has been secretary for many years. Marion had ingenue leads in the mountain plays when she was a girl.

She taught in San Francisco schools and for the past nine years has been on the teaching staff of Adaline Kent School in Kentfield.

This year Tamalpa written by Dan Totheroh, who was reared in San Anselmo and has been in the theater most of his life, will again be presented in the mountain theater, May 19 and 26, starting at 2 p.m.

Marion, by her marriage to the late Sam Hayes, famed sportscaster, had one son, Ron Hayes, who has taken part in several of the mountain plays and recently has made guest appearances in starring TV roles. Ron is a graduate of Stanford University, where he majored in international relations. He served with the Marine Corps during the Korean conflict. His brothers are Bob, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin, and Tim, a junior at Drake. He is much interested in music and plays in a combo at Drake.

During 11 summers Marion directed Marin Junior Theater productions. Her interest in outdoor theater is stimulating and she devotes many of her weekends to rehearsals for Tamalpa, which has a cast of more than a hundred.

As we concluded our talk Marion told me that her beloved mentor, Garnet Holme, is buried near the Tamalpais Outdoor theater and she softly quoted the words on the stone above his grave, "I lingered on the hill where we have played."

MARION HAYES CAIN photographed as she directed Pinocchio in a Ross Valley Players production. She also wrote the script for the outdoor play.

The Mothers' Guild gives assistance to the children of the parochial school and to their teachers, the Dominican Sisters, whenever it is needed. Its biggest affair is the annual Christmas Bazaar followed later in the year by the salad bowl luncheon. The hot dog sales for the children are also arranged by the Guild.

Mrs. Cerutti has lived in Marin for 23 years and has a 12-year-old daughter, Linda Rae, a St. Raphael's student.

Attending the Giant's baseball games is Mrs. Cerutti's favorite occupation but in off season she's content with her leather work hobby and with sewing and knitting. She also enjoy swimming.

Besides the Mothers' Guild, Mrs. Cerutti belongs to the Junior Social Service and is in charge of transportation for those at Nazareth House in Terra Linda.

Other new officers serving with Mrs. Cerutti are Mesdames Raymond Taylor, first vice president; Leo Grover, second vice president; John Diego, recording secretary; Albert Bonfiglio, treasurer; Henry Catala, financial secretary; Maurice Machanich, auditor; Raymond Randolph, corresponding secretary and Robert Andrews, parliamentarian.

SKILLET GREASE?

Grease has a way of clinging to skillets, pots and pans. But CALGON* really helps to get rid of it. Add CALGON water conditioner to the wash water when doing greasy pans. See how easily the grease is rinsed away, using even less detergent than usual. Sanitary too!

Bringing Up Baby®

There's a theory that second babies cry less than first timers because there is less hovering and mother-henning over second babies. As a consequence they learn not to expect pickups at the drop of a whimper. And since they are left somewhat more to their own devices, they learn to amuse themselves faster . . . mind being left alone less.

•

Refreshing news story. No matter what age, babies respond pleasurably to Gerber Strained Juices. That's because they're delicate in flavor and finely strained for easy sipping and swallowing. Best of all, there are now 9 delicious varieties to multiply baby's pleasure at getting his daily ration of vitamin C: Orange Juice, Apple Juice, Orange-Apple, Orange-Apricot, Orange-Pineapple, Apple-Cherry, Pineapple-Grapefruit and two newer ones, Mixed Fruit Juice and Prune-Orange. All are equally rich in vitamin C.

•

It's "unfair to compare" goes an old saying. Wise words and true when it comes to babies. So try not to compare your children with each other or with the little fellow down the street. No two babies develop in the same way and no matter what they do when, most babies catch up with each other in the end.

•

Two-way play. If you've two under 3, toddler jealousy can usually be turned into toddler delight if you create some fun and games in which baby #2 can't participate. Your toddler will bask in the warmth of your attention.

•

Happy ending dept. Mealtime finales take on special magic when you top baby's main course with a Gerber Strained or Junior Dessert. For these delectables are as smooth and flavor-bright as desserts can be. Made from whole milk solids, eggs and selected fruit they're also wholesome as can be. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hives Caused Mostly By Food, But There Are Other Origins

VAN DELLEN

Hives (urticaria) is caused most frequently by foods, with fresh berries, spices, chocolate, fish and nuts hearing the list. But there are other origins of these wheals. Many victims waste time trying to find the offender by eliminating one food after another or undergoing skin or blood tests that are of questionable value.

The outbreak may follow inhaling animal dander, perfumes, or chemicals such as DDT. Emotional stress and parasites such as pinworms must be considered. Some individuals break out when they take certain medicines or vaccines and here the cause is obvious.

PHYSICAL FACTORS also are important, especially when the eruption comes on after exposure to heat, cold, sunlight, injury, or pressure on the skin. And, to complicate the picture, bacteria play a role in some instances, particularly those confined to focal infections of the teeth or tonsils.

Urticaria is well named because the word means "to burn." At one time the condition was called "nettle rash," which also is apropos. The wheals are red, warm, elevated, itching lesions that assume many sizes and shapes. They often are located under constrictive clothing but may appear elsewhere, including the membranes of the mouth, lips, and throat. Giant internal hives have closed off the windpipe and larynx.

IT MAY BE that hives develops along the intestinal tract and that some migrane headaches stem from an urticarial process in the outer lining of the brain. These possibilities are difficult to prove.

Various ointments and drugs are available to relieve burning and itching. The real answer is to prevent recurrences by finding and removing the cause. This is not easy in chronic urticaria of psychosomatic origin; here, resentment or other emotional upset acts as a trigger. Treatment is complicated by the fact that most victims of hives refuse to accept psychic factors as the causative agents in these eruptions.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

Color Travel Movie Slated On Guatemala

A public showing of the travel color movie "Guatemala" will be given in the San Rafael High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday for the benefit of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

The film will be presented by James Metcalf, professional film lecturer whose account depicts an ancient Guatemalan civilization contrasted with the world of today and tomorrow.

Ensign At School

Navy Ensign Leon C. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Smith of Ross, is attending a two-week course in amphibious warfare indoctrination at the Naval Amphibious School at Coronado, San Diego.

Math Teacher Awarded Grant

Verle W. Sorgen, mathematics teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School, has been awarded a grant to participate in the National Science Foundation Summer Institute June 17 to July 26 in Santa Barbara.

Sorgen, who lives at 17 Redwood Drive, Ross, will join 49 other teachers from throughout the United States to study modern algebra, modern geometry and real numbers and real functions. The institute is conducted by the mathematics department at the University of California at Berkeley.

Auto Dealer Pushes Land Cruiser Sales Into Top Place In County

Automobile dealer Hil Probert whose Larkspur showrooms are almost in the shadow of Mount Tamalpais, has succeeded in pushing his Toyota Land Cruiser sales into top place in the country. This has been done in part by utilizing some of the most made-to-order testing ground you're likely to find in the country—the mountain's criss-cross network of firerroads.

Probert or his venturesome aide Bruce McDermott seldom let a day go by without romping up these gullied and precipitous byways in one of the fabulous little Japanese four-wheel-drive outfits that are so rugged there's scarcely an incline less than 60 degrees they haven't conquered.

After hearing so much about it we finally decided to try it last weekend—as a passenger. So off we went, six of us, scooting upward and downgrade, covering about 50 miles round the mountain in what was probably one of the most fascinating demonstration rides you can get in Marin County. The Toyota had room for all of us—in fact, we were one short of maximum seating capacity.

The Land Cruiser, with its 3,200 pounds of sturdy construction and careful engineering, is an outstanding example of Japan's contributions to the world automobile industry. I'm inclined to agree with one American automobile mechanic who commented: "The only trouble with the Japanese is that they haven't yet learned a car isn't meant to be built to last forever."

ALL THAT ACTIVITY along the Belvedere-Tiburon Highway with new streets and construction of over-the-water apartments known as the "Cove" should bear fruit by late June or early July when Associated Contractors expect to have their first living units completed.

Meanwhile, to give the public some idea of the ultimate produce, Messrs. Harry Hicks and Hugo Nadaner will preview a simulated model apartment at the Furniture Fashions Exposition held May 11-19 at Brooks Hall, San Francisco. The waterside atmosphere will be recreated by means of murals, decks and special lighting—also a scale model of the entire development.

MARIN GENERAL CONTRACTORS Hugh L. Harn and Parker A. Archer will start construction within 30 days on a million-dollar luxury mobile home retirement park near the city of Sonoma. Through the use of shade trees, shrubs, expansive lawns, recreation center and swimming pool, the development will provide a park-like setting for 252 sites on 36 acres just eight blocks from Sonoma's city square.

Harn and Archer have been active in home and subdivision developments largely in the Belvedere-Tiburon area; expect to offer occupancy of their project in August.

PALO ALTO consulting engineer George S. Nolte who also maintains offices in San Rafael, receivde the 1962 Annual Award of Merit of the California Council of Civil Engineers and Land Surveyors for design of the Stone Lake Aquatic Community in Sacramento County.

His Cry: 'Take Me To Your Queen!'

By RANDALL GOULD

When Ellis M. Stephens of Lagunitas Road, Ross, togs himself out to capture bees, his neighbors yell, "Take me to your leader!"

Stephens himself might paraphrase this as "take me to your queen!"

After Independent-Journal publicity last week on the Stephens-Jones readiness to go out and capture bees on short notice, a total of 14 phone summons poured in over the last weekend. But all wasn't honey.

Some of the swarms were in inaccessible spots. One swarm after capture suddenly flew away again, apparently because there was no queen bee on the job.

Worst of all was that the bee-chasers ran out of hives, which have to be ordered by mail and assembled after arrival.

The households concerned are not really set up for such a rush of business as eventuated after the I-J publicity, moreover. Both the principals have San Francisco businesses, Jones as a printer, and Stephens as a stock broker. Moreover they have other things to do such as going fishing.

"We weren't prepared for such a tremendous lot of calls," commented Mrs. Jones today. "The people were all very nice. But a lot of them don't know much about bees.

"Many just yell 'they're in our house—how do we get rid of them?' They don't know the difference between bees, hornets, wasps and yellow-jackets so they blame all their trouble just on the bees.

"One call all the way from Black Point was from somebody who wanted the bees got out of the house. People don't understand that bees will move on pretty quick if you let them alone. The men went out on some calls and found the bees had flown."

But Stephens and Jones have been doing their best to gallop out on all calls.

"Bees are wonderful friends," Stephens tells terrified folk who often have wanted to exterminate a newly arrived bee swarm, but aren't quite sure how to go about it without personal jeopardy.

Stephens explains that the thing to do is be pally, something which admittedly is facilitated by a tropical pith helmet, wire mesh around the face, stout gloves, and solid garments with no chinks or crevices.

"They are fine assistants in the job of raising good flowers, vegetables and fruits," he goes on. "People should realize they are beneficial, not a pest like those yellow jackets that come to the feast when you try to eat out in the garden."

Whenever anyone in the vicinity finds himself sudden host to a swarm of unwanted bees, Stevens and Jones ask nothing more than a chance to rush over and collect the bees.

All they hope is that the swarm will settle within reach of an ordinary garden ladder, for they aren't provided with fire equipment.

LOOKING OVER NEW HOME — A swarm of bees gathered by Ellis M. Stephens of Ross is here shown in the act of inspecting household premises which Stephens hopes will seem congenial to the new occupants. Once they settle in, the bees are expected to hustle out helping the flowers and vegetables and collecting honey.

WHO'S AFRAID?—Not Ellis M. Stephens of Ross as he contemplates a friendly honey bee perched on his well-gloved finger. Of course that sturdy wire mesh, hat and tucker-string around the neck all help keep everything clear that bees and people can associate closely under favorable conditions. Bodega Landowners To Get Day In Court

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—A group of Bodega landowners will get their day in court on their request for an injunction against construction of an atomic power plant at Bodega Head.

Sonoma County Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson Friday denied a request by the county to dismiss the request for the injunction. Judge Gibson ruled that the opponents of the power plant had put forth sufficiently sound arguments to merit further court hearings.

San Clemente Students Get To Work On Field

San Clemente School in Corte Madera has a place for baseball and track as a result of a genuine do-it-yourself project.

It's no turfed field, but at least it is fairly level and will drain.

Scheduled for improvement if and when Larkspur School District has funds available (which probably depends on passage of a bond issue that will be up to voters on June 4) is a $20,000 turfing job, with sprinkler system.

But baseball and track seasons are already here and the youngsters can't wait. So the student body of the elementary school put up $50 to hire a grader. And on Saturday, fourth, fifth and sixth graders turned out with hoes, rakes and shovels to assist in leveling the field.

The school has "thousands of cubic yards" of topsoil on hand, said Principal Robert Johnson, but lacks the money to put in the sprinkler system, spread the topsoil and seed the grass.

The Russians, gifted talkers though they may be, can't do much of it on the telephone. They have only 2.3 phones per 100 people.

Richardson Bay Fill Plan Delayed

A county planning staff effort to "lay down some hard and fast rules on filling in Richardson Bay" was set back yesterday when an application on which the attempt was based had to be withdrawn on a technicality.

Horace A. Cooper, who sought architectural supervision of plans for a residential-commercial building at Yuba and Petaluma Streets on the Richardson Bay shore across from Juanita's Galley, said he had found that a client wanted something similar on a similar nearby lot.

He wanted a mere change in the description on his application. But he learned it was necessary to start all over and told the Planning Commission he would do so.

Meanwhile staff planner Sidney Shaw laid the groundwork for an effort to be renewed with the second application. He said none of the land is subject to the county's emergency fill ordinance and felt conditions in this case should set up a model for stiffer rules from now on.

Most of the current filling and dredging has proceeded without county supervision, he said. During a recent staff visit after a rainstorm, he said, "Yuba Street was virtually a lake" and the whole area was almost inaccessible. Petaluma Street should get special attention to be usable at all times, he said.

Pointing out that Army Engineers have required fill to attain a height of eight feet above lower low water, Shaw said the county should at least match this. The suggested conditions for the Cooper property provided for this as well as a report to the public works director by a soils engineer on compaction, foundation and settlement characteristics as prerequisites to issue of a building permit.

34 Take Tests For Sausalito Fireman

Thirty-four applicants took a one hour and 45-minute written test Saturday in Sausalito to fill four positions as firemen manning the city's second firehouse. The firehouse, to be constructed this summer, will be at Spencer Avenue and Highway 101.

Those who pass the test, said City Mgr. Charles A. Brown today, will take an oral examination from a board which has no connection with the city. No date has been set for this examination.

Prisoner Asks Trial Site Change

A heavily guarded San Quentin prisoner, his feet shackled and his arms chained, yesterday asked Marin Superior Court to have the place of trial changed to another county because he feels Marin jurors would be prejudiced.

He is Robert Gene Glover, 31, a Kern County robber, who is accused of two counts of assault by a life termer. Maximum penalty for the offense is death.

Glover's court-appointed attorney, William O. Weissich, filed a motion for a change of venue before Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court.

The judge continued the case until next Monday because the written motion was just filed yesterday noon and he had not had time to study it.

Weissich also moved to have the chains removed from the prisoner in court. The judge ordered the leg schackles taken off so that Glover will not be any more restrained than other San Quentin prisoners who are brought into court.

Distillery Going Back In Operation Tomorrow

"We'll be in operation tomorrow," Fred A. Schmidt, plant superintendent of the American Distilling Co. in Sausalito, said today.

The plant has been shut down since a $4,240,000 fire destroyed two buildings and the loading dock Saturday night and consumed about 167,250 gallons of bourbon, scotch, tequilla and other liquors.

Cause of the fire, which was believed to have started on a shipping dock, was still undetermined today, according to Sausalito fire chief Mathew J. Perry.

Schmidt said bottling and shipping operations will be started tomorrow. The firm's bottling plant was not destroyed. "We have a new electric line installed and we're putting in an alcohol line today," he said.

If any whisky is contaminated in barrels still intact from the fire, the superintendent said, it may be necessary to destroy them.

Chief Perry reported he is still keeping some fire hoses at the plant as "standbys". He said three of his regular firemen and one volunteer have been sent to their doctors for treatment for injuries suffered during the fire.

Asst. Chief John L. Terris was treated for strained muscles in his right leg after being struck by a flying two and one-half inch hose. Also treated from that same accident was Max Robertson, who had scratches and bruises on both legs. Ralph K. Pedersen was treated for an injured back, and volunteer Al Lamonte was treated for a bruised left leg after falling into an open water meter box, Perry said.

Fireman James B. Gill of Tamalpais Fire District reported he was a "sick pup" for a day or so after the fire, his hands and feet swelling up and getting "dizzy feelings." He conjectured it may have been from vapors from the burning of galvanized sheet iron on the buildings or it may have been from alcohol fumes. He said another fireman in his crew complained of being dizzy.

St. Stephen School Plan Is Approved

Last night was lawyer's night at the Belvedere City Council. It was also a long night, with an overflow audience attending the five-hour meeting.

After pleadings, summations, rebuttals and re-rebuttals, the council voted 3-2 to permit establishment of St. Stephen's Parish Episcopal Day School.

A petition for denial with 119 signatures was filed at the March meetings by attorney Herbert H. Scheier, who attended last night. He based his protest on being a direct zoning ordinance violation which prohibits schools in residential zones.

Arguing in favor of the school was attorney James Michael, who claimed conducting a school is a traditional function of the church and that city planned a school when a use permit was issued in 1957 to construct accessory buildings.

He quoted affadavits from former Rector E. J. Mohr and former city officials John Hoeffer, Carlton Skinner and Edward J. Stevens, all stating they were aware of the intent. Michael also submitted a petition signed by 303 persons—not all Belvedere residents—who favored the school.

"We are not anxious to see the city or the parish engage in litigation but the parish is prepared to do so. I am satisfied we will ultimately prevail under the laws of the state," Michael declared.

Scheier argued that a church is not a school and that the use permit was granted for a church. He said California law distinguishes churches from schools in transportation, fire safety, health and safety regulations, and the labor code.

"The citizens have a right to rely on the record of the municipal body which states the permit was issued for a church.

Councilman E. G. Weed attempted to introduce a resolution denying the petition, stating "it was inconceivable that a church school could be classified as a public nuisance and could be contrary to public health and welfare."

"The law says a school is a nuisance. Are you saying the law in inconceivable?" demanded Scheier.

"Yes," retorted Weed.

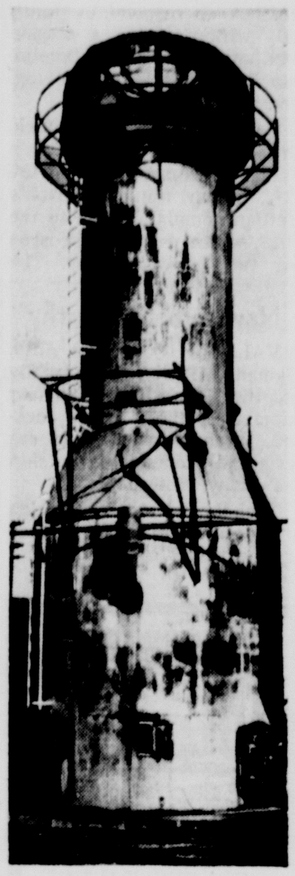

Weed then amended his resolution, stating "a school cannot be classified as a public nuisance." He requested appointment of a committee to formulate an amendment to the ordinance to clarify the legal propriety of a church school.

MacKay said he did not believe a parochial school was a normal part of the church's activity. In this Episcopal Diocese, he said, there are only seven church schools with 125 churches.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins, before voting "no," said he favored schools of this sort but the council is faced with a violation. He predicted the school would get bigger and become more of an offense.

Mass Exit Is Revealed As 8 Quitting County Schools

By LOREN MacARTHUR

Eight persons are quitting their jobs with the Marin County Schools office, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the County Board of Education.

The board went into closed session to discuss the mass exit, which began in February but had not been discussed by the board until last night.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis snapped: "It's a firing," when asked why a closed meeting was necessary. He then shut the door on an audience of some 10 persons, one of whom said she had been asked for her resignation.

Today those quitting fired charges of "incompetent administration" and "lack of cooperation" at the schools office, and several said they were leaving because they "can't take any more." All but one willing to discuss their resignations said they left "freely."

Members of the county board declined to comment on what happened during the closed session, which lasted more than half an hour. After resuming the open meeting, they voted to accept the resignations, with dissenting votes by Mrs. Alce Ann Cole and Walter L. Johnson.

"I quit freely; I was not fired," said Charles J. Vento, director of the instructional materials center, who handed in his resignation three weeks ago. "This is an unfortunate situation, and I am sorry about it. Whatever happens, I am the loser. Certainly the number of resignations would indicate where the problems are centered."

Vento, who had laryngitis today, wrote out his statement, which was read by a temporary secretary hired to replace Margaret Anne Travis, Vento's secretary, who resigned March 31, effective April 1.

"After six years I've had it," said Miss Travis. "My reasons were the lack of competent administration and the practice of overloading personnel so you can't finish a day's work to your satisfaction.

"The administration does not use personnel for the reasons they are hired. If they worked together instead of pulling apart, it would be a better situation. There is a well-founded rumor that another person in the instructional materials department will go too."

"I wasn't fired: I resigned in February," said Mrs. Janice de la Fontaine, remedial teacher at Lu Sutton School in Novato. "I was told not to put any of my unhappiness in my

U.S. Pulling Out Some Haiti Yanks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today ordered all dependents of U. S. government personnel to leave Haiti. It also urged evacuation of private American citizens there.

An airlift of chartered commercial air liners will start the evacuation tomorrow morning from Port Au Prince, the Haitian capital, to Miami, the State Department said.

U.S. Places New Telstar Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Telstar 2 rocketed into orbit today in another step toward shrinking the world through space communication.

Project officials planned to use the new satellite tonight as a transfer point for a closed-circuit transatlantic television exchange between the United States and Europe.

The 10-minute program, which won't be seen on home screens, will determine whether, initially at least, the satellite is as successful as its predecessor, Telstar 1.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment shifting the elections of state officials and legislators from even-numbered to odd-numbered years was adopted by the Assembly today.

Lumber Firm Told To Stop Incinerator

Henry Hess Co. of San Rafael failed to show up in Marin Superior Court yesterday, as Judge Joseph G. Wilson issued a preliminary injunction ordering the company to stop operating its incinerator.

Officials of the Bay Air Pollution Control District, represented by attorney Matthew S. Walker, asked for the injunction against the incinerator and its tall smoke stack at 629 Third Street.

The air pollution control officials contend that Hess company has violated the district rules, which gave the company two alternatives last summer: (1) haul away the refuse or (2) install equipment so refuse can be burned to complete combustion.

Yesterday was the time set aside for Hess officials to appear and show cause why it should not be ordered to "cease and desist forthwith" from burning in the incinerator.

Odds Favor More Rain For County

A light spring rain, which amounted to aheavy mist in some places, fell on Marin County today with as much as .2 of an inch measured in the Chevy Chase district of Larkspur.

The weather bureau forecast a good chance for rain tonight and tomorrow. The odds were placed at 70 per cent for tonight and 60 for tomorrow.

Other reported rainfall measurements were .14 in Woodacre, .10 in Tamalpais Valley and Point Reyes Station, .09 in Mill Valley, .08 in Sausalito, .05 in Marinwood and San Anselmo, .04 in San Rafael and a trace in Belvedere and Novato.

BIG NEGRO MARCH IN ALABAMA CITY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Thousands of Negroes staged a singing, hand-clapping march on the downtown sidewalks and streets of this city torn by more than a month of racial strife. (See also page 7).

One group of about 200 young Negroes was scattered by a burst from a fire hose as they tried to charge across a park adjacent to a church from where the sudden march downtown started without warning.

It caught police and firemen, who had fire hoses ready, by surprise. It was a full 15 minutes before officers could clear the streets.

Police at one point drove an automobile, its siren screaming, onto the sidewalk in front of a large department store, pushed against the crowd and screeched its tires on the sidewalk in a plunge that scattered Negroes into stores and into an alleyway.

As soon as the car passed the street again filled.

There were relatively few whites on the streets when the Negrmoes flooded in for their demonstration.

Within 15 minutes, police had brought the situation to a semblance of order and traffic again began to flow.

No Censure For Chief In Corte Madera

Corte Madera Town Council last night found no one to blame for sending firemen and equipment to a fire outside the town limits—at Marin Joe's last March 31.

"I do not recommend censure of Chief (Frank L.) Nelson on this incident," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Councilman Albert F. Kogler agreed. "I recommend no disciplinary action be taken." Both Kogler and Pendleton reported that Chief Nelson was not in at the time of the fire call came through, and it was Asst. Chief Harold Kelly who took full responsibility for taking men and units to the scene until county firemen arrived.

"My recommendation is to give the volunteer fire department a vote of confidence, giving them discretion if in their opinion, the fire might endan-

Angel Isle Rockets Hit By Clausen

Special to the I-J

WASHINGTON — Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) today declared he is opposing use of an area off Angel Island as a site for marine testing of rocket engines.

Clausen said the Navy and Aerojet-General Corp., contractor for the rocket engine testing, had satisfied all objections to the testing in San Francisco Bay except that arising from the test site being too close to residential areas on the Tiburon Peninsula.

He met yesterday with Walter G. Winslow, manager of public affairs for Aerojet-General in Washington, and urged that another site be selected, but received no commitment. He said he planned further meetings with Aerojet-General officials.

Clausen disclosed he also has written to the Secretary of the Navy expressing objection to the Angel Island site.

The representative's office reported the Navy itself is reported dissatisfied with a site across the bay at Point Richmond which Aerojet-General proposes to use for part of its tests, the reason being that part of the area is not under Navy control.

County To Help With Angel Island Fires

Marin County Supervisors today authorized the county counsel to prepare a contract obligating the county to be party to a "mutual aid agreement" for fire protection on Angel Island.

Responsibility of the county will not include placement of any men or equipment on the island, which now has one pumper truck and five trained firefighters placed there by the state, the board was told.

Independent Span Audit Bill Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to provide an independent audit of the finances of the Golden Gate Bridge has cleared the State Senate unanimously and today headed for hearing in the Assembly.

But another bill by a Marin legislator, which would have allowed a spot check on veterans' property tax exemption claims, died in a Senate committee.

The bridge bill, CB 611 by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, provides that the auditor of the county in which the bridge district deposits most of its funds (San Francisco) may contract with an accountant to make an annual audit of the district's books.

This would be in addition to any audit taken by the bridge district itself.

The bill was the result of a recent Marin County Grand Jury investigation of bridge finances, which was critical of fund handling but found no illegalities.

Marin City Plan Cutback Is Forecast

The Federal Housing Authority plans to cut back its Marin City redevelopment plans.

Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency, told the agency commissioners yesterday that FHA has notified him it may be over-extended in Marin County and therefore plans a cutback in rebuilding Marin City.

Klahn said FHA suggested that rental units be built only as they are sold—50 to 75 units at a time. The master plan called for 230 units, including cooperative apartments, to be under way at the same time.

May 20 at 2 p.m. has been set as a tentative time for the commission to see drawings and prices of 36 new homes to be built by redeveloper James H. Scheuer.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

E. Germany Says Two Yanks Defect

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany says a U.S. Army captain and a sergeant have appealed for political asylum. The Army confirmed that the captain crossed into East Germany and the sergeant is missing from his unit.

Svenson

The captain was a native of Communist-ruled Lithuania, and his mother in the United States received the report with alarm and disbelief. The sergeant's wife had nothing to say.

The East Germany news agency ADN identified the pair as Capt. Alfred Svenson, 30, of Scranton, Pa., and Sgt. Benjamin Cain, 35, of Frederica, Del.

Mrs. Svenson

There apparently was no connection between them. Svenson was stationed with a tank battalion at Giessen, near the border between West and East Germany, and Cain in West Berlin.

ADN said Svenson drove across the border in uniform in a military vehicle Saturday and Cain contacted authorities in East Berlin Friday to ask for asylum.

Cain

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg said it was investigating both cases.

Svenson is a bachelor. His mother, Mrs. Antonio N. Svenson, Washington, D.C., said her son "must have been tipsy" and refused to believe he had gone voluntarily to East Germany.

Bandleader Ted Weems Dies At 62

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Ted Weems, who started his musical career before he was tall enough to see music on a stand and became one of the nation's top bandleaders, died last night of a lung ailment.

Perry Como, another former Weems' Weems' singer, termed him "a true gentleman." Other stars who got their start with Weems included bandleader Jan Garber and Snooky Lanson.

Weems

His wife, Eleanor, stayed in Tulsa during his last illness. Their 38th wedding anniversary was Sunday, a funeral home spokesman said.

Other survivors include his mother, Victoria Weems of Hamilton, Ohio; a son, Ted Jr., Dallas, Tex., and a brother, Robert, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Weems' son said funeral services would be in Bethesda, Md.

Weems, 62, had operated a theatrical agency in recent years with his son in Dallas, which also was the band's headquarters. He had earlier bouts with emphysema, a lung ailment which restricts the amount of oxygen available to the blood.

No Jobless Benefits

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Federal unemployment insurance benefits are due to be temporarily suspended for 14,000 Californians who are former servicemen or former federal government employees.

The reason is because the U.S. Labor Department's fund for the benefits will run out Thursday, and it will be several weeks before Congress acts to provide supplemental funds to resume the payments.

Text Plan Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP)—With no debate or opposition, the Assembly Education Committee has approved a version of the hotly debated "multiple adoption" system for elementary school textbooks.

The action yesterday simply would put int othe State Education Code the provision that the State Board of Education may adopt basic elementary texts for children on different learning levels, such as slow or fast.

Strike In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—The 10-day-old metalworkers' strike and lockout, West Germany's worst labor tieup in a generation, appeared headed today for a compromise settlement under the guiding hand of Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The leaders indicated that unions and employers will accept a plan to raise wages 5 per cent for 12 months and an additional 2 per cent for six months, beginning next April 1. The workers, who average $31.25 a week, had sought an 8 per cent increase.

Thresher's Valves

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — All of the submarine Thresher's 5,000 valves were installed properly prior to the vessel's ill-fated voyage, a naval officer said today.

Capt. John D. Guerry, production officer at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard where the Thresher was built and overhauled, told a news conference no valve was installed backwards.

Rocky May Keep Out

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The organizational secretary of a draft-Goldwater movement in California says New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will keep out of California's 1964 Republican presidential primary if the Arizona senator enters it.

Feather River 'No'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate Water Committee gave forth with a loud, firm "NO" yesterday to attempts to finance the Feather River Project with revenue bonds authorized 30 years ago.

The group approved two resolutions and a bill aimed at barring the State Water Resources Department from using the 325 million dollars in bonds authorized—but never used—for the Central Valley Project.

Lumber consumption in the United States in 1962 was 37.4 billion board feet, slightly more than the year before.

Five Boys Shot

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) — Police last night arrested a painter-engraver they said shot five boys in a crowded playground from the window of his second floor apartment with a telescopic 22-caliber rifle.

"I hate kids. I hate them all," police quoted Ralph Best, 53.

Donald Currie, 14, was admitted to Paterson General Hospital in fair condition. The other boys were treated at the hospital for lesser wounds and released.

Steel Wage Talks Hinted

By ROGER LANE

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — The steel industry, facing an expected opening of wage talks with the United Steel Workers, may be softening slightly its position on settlement terms.

A hint of this developed in an observation by Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., that a hypothetical 12 cents an hour package would be "quite extraordinary on the high side."

Answering a stockholder's question, Blough said "any kind of situation like that would be very unhappy compared with any price increases we have had to date."

When the question of reopened wage contract bargaining with the union has come up before, Blough and other industry leaders have said simply that renewed discussions were unjustified in the light of depressed steel earnings.

This position intimated there was no room for wage or fringe benefit concessions.

Observers have speculated lately that selected price increases last month amounting to about 1 per cent on over-all sales may have weakened the industry's stand.

The price increases also have led to the assumption that the union is virtually certain to demand reopening of the 1962 wage agreement, a matter regarded as uncertain before the markups went into effect.

The present agreement bars as strike for 90 days after formal notice of reopening is served. The union has not revealed its intentions. The industry said the 1962 pact, providing for improved fringe benefits but no wage increase, cost it 10.9 cents per man hour.

At U.S. Steel's annual stockholders' meeting yesterday, Blough and Leslie B. Worthington, president, revealed that they and other officers took 5 per cent pay cuts, effective Jan. 1.

During a dismal 1962, five major producers, including U.S. Steel, the industry giant, cut dividends. U.S. Steel earnings fell to a 15-year low. Profits apparently are on the rebound, with orders and production up to a three-year high.

The salary reductions, applauded by shareholders, reduced Blough's pay to $285,000 a year, Worthington's to $261,500 and that of Robert C. Tyson, finance committee chairman, to $237,500.

MARKING TIME IN HAITI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Haitian dispute marked time today on two diplomatic fronts amid rising expectations that no decisive political or military move will come soon to unseat President Francois Duvalier.

Roger Seydoux of France, president of the U.N. Security Council, awaited word from council members before deciding how to respond to Haiti's call yesterday for a session "without delay" on the Dominican Republic's "threats of aggression."

Gonzalo Facio of Costa Rica, Organization of American States chairman, predicted the U.N. group would refer the Haitian complaint back to the OAS, which debated the issue for two hours Monday. The only OAS action was an appeal to both sides "not to resort to force."

Facio did not say when the OAS would meet again. The Dominican ambassador was reported returning to Washington today with new complaints for the OAS, the old ones having been disposed of. The chairman of the OAS fact-finding group on the dispute was expected to report later in the week.

While Dominican armed forces were reported poised on the Haitian border and President Juan Bosch scheduled a special radio-television speech for tonight, U.S. authorities voiced doubt that Bosch had the military might to conquer Haiti.

In the U.S. opinion, a Dominican attack would rally the Haitians behind Duvalier and damage the Dominican case in the OAS. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin was said to have given this advice to Bosch.

Still, the possibility that the independent-minded Dominican chief might stage at least a token assault was not ruled out.

New Sub Seaworthy

VALLEJO (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover personally put the Navy's newest nuclear submarine, the Andrew Jackson, through two days of sea tests and pronounced the ship seaworthy yesterday.

Then he left the submarine and it put out to sea for further tests, expected to last for about two days.

Briton, Soviet Plead Guilty To Spying For London, U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—British businessman Greville Wynne and Soviet scientific official Oleg Penkovsky pleaded guilty today to spying for the British and American intelligence services.

Wynn, 42, a representative of British engineering firm, told the court he pleaded guilty "with certain reservations which I will make in my statement." The indictment said he acted as a courier between Penkovsky and British and American agents.

The indictment said he was assigned to collect information about Soviet rocket troops, Soviet units stationed in East Germany, preparations for a separate peace treaty with East Germany, developments in relations between the Soviet Union and Red China and other political, military and economic information.

Each of the defendants could get the deatht penalty, but no foreigner is known to have been executed for espionage in the Soviet Union.

Pulitzer Judges Quit: No Drama Award

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Reivers," a lighthearted novel of the South which was William Faulkner's final book before his death last year, was awarded the 1963 Pulitzer Prize for fiction yesterday.

For the first time in more than a decade, there was no award made for a drama, a move that prompted the resignations of two members of the Pulitzer Prize drama jury-critic and author John Mason Brown and John Gassner, critic, Yale University professor and theater historian.

"They have made a farce out of the drama award," Brown said. Gassner said withholding the award he and Brown had recommended "put us in an awkward position."

Both men had recommended the award go to Edward Albee's Broadway hit "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" a caustic drama on faculty, sex and politics at a small New England university.

The top Pulitzer Prize in the newspaper category—the meritorius public service award of a gold medal — went to the Chicago Daily News for its series presenting all points of view on the controversial subject of birth control services in the public health programs in its circulation area. The awards specifically cited staff writer Lois Wille.

Three reporters of the New York World-Telegram and Sun — Sylvan Fox, 35, Anthony Shannon, 33, and William Longgood, 45,—won the award for local reporting under deadline pressure for their coverage of the crash of an American Airlines jetliner at Idlewild Airport in New York. The crash killed all 95 aboard.

Other journalism awards:

Local reporting without deadline pressure—Oscar Griffin Jr., 30, for his work as editor of the Pecos (Tex.) Independent in publishing the first articles that led to the exposure of the Billie Sol Estes Case.

National reporting—Anthony Lewis, 36, of the New York Times, for his coverage of the U.S. Supreme Court during 1962.

Editorial writing — Ira B. Harkey Jr., 45, editor and publisher of the Pasagoula (Miss.) Chronicle, for his editorials on the integration issue in Mississippi.

Cartoon—Frank Miller, 37, of the Des Moines Register, for his work during the year, exemplified by a cartoon showing a destroyed world with one ragged figure saying to another: "I said—we sure settled this dispute, didn't we?"

In the category of general non-fiction, Barbara W. Tuchman, 51, of New York City won the Pulitzer Prize for "The Guns of August," her best-selling account of the first 30 days of fighting in World War I.

Other awards:

History — Constance McLaughlin Green, 65, of Washington, for "Washington, Village and Capital, 1800-1878."

Biography—Leon Edel, 53, for "Henry James, Vol. II, the conquest of London, and Vol. III, the Middle Years."

Tiburon Station In Conflict

A Tiburon railroad station that-used-to-be got into conflict yesterday with a downtown Tiburon plan that hasn't jelled yet, leading the Marin County Planning Commission after lengthy argument to continue the whole matter to May 20.

Belvedere Land Co. asked an adjustment to allow the old Tiburon station, now located next the ferry slip, to be moved to Juanita Lane behind the Tiburon Postoffice. The building would be used for administrative-professional purposes and a six-car corporation garage would be constructed on the site without filing of master and development plans.

Recommending deniel, the planning stafff held the project clashes with plans to give Tiburon "an attractive business area with good parking and circulation."

Fred Mategani of 879 Tiburon Boulevard told the commission that a group seeking incorporation plans to file a boundary map on June 13 and "the next move will be to go for that area for parking, as it is centrally located and will need no pedestrian overpass across Tiburon Bolevard as space on the other side would."

This backed statements by planning staff member Sidney Shaw that an old and respected (though not official) plan sketched several years ago would use the proposed site as part of a common downtown parking lot for all businesses.

Against representations that the old two-story station is in good condition, Montegani declared "it's 80 or 90 years old and probably has more termites than any other building in Marin County." He said to plant it in the new location would be detrimental to the parking idea and out of keeping with other structures.

Commissioner Felix M. Warburg said there are hopes of creation of a parking district, and in such case the land under discussion should be available for acquisition. Warburg suggested that all concerned talk over the situation.

In another Tiburon adjustment application, for division of an 8,650 square foot parcel at 1800 Vistazo West Street into two building sites in a normally 7,500-square-foot-per-site area, the commission found it had already turned down the same request in 1960 by unanimous action. Since efforts to add the 4,000 feet of an adjacent lane had proved fruitless the commission denied the application once more.

Girl Who Climbed Prison Wall In Demonstration Given Fine

A pretty blonde San Francisco office worker, who scaled two walls in an effort to enter San Quentin Prison last Thursday night, paid $26.25 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to stay out of Marin County Jail.

Miss Linda Benson, 19, of 721 Chestnut Street, San Francisco, was nearly in tears as she paid the fine before Judge Harold J. Haley. She pleaded guilty to trespassing on state property.

She was one of about 15 rounded up in front of the prison during an anti-capital punishment demonstration Thursday night. Sheriff's deputies said she negotiated a nine-foot wall, then climbed over an even higher wall befor being caught by prison officials.

Miss Benson was in San Francisco when she heard about the prison demonstration over the radio and drove to Marin to "see what was going on."

The judge decided she had gone a bit too far into the prison grounds. He ordered the fine or two days in county jail. She didn't have the cash, but a male friend, who sat with her in court, posted the fine for her.

Officers, Men Atop Mt. Tam Given Award

The 40th Army Artillery Brigade and the 666th Radar Squadron at Mill Valley Air Force station have been cited by the Armed Forces Benefit and Aid Assn. for successful teamwork.

Lt. Col. William E. Wright, 666 Squadron comander, and Maj. Raymond Johnson, 40th Artillery Brigade operations officer, were given the award by John Hyams, association supervisor.

Officers and men of the two units activated and maintained the San Francisco NORAD control center from Jan. 15, 1961, to Nov. 15, 1962, with 300 men of the Air Force and Army "successfully working together" to provide maximum defense for the Bay Area in controlling fighter interceptors and Nike batteries.

Car Washer Pays Driving Fine

Walter Ratliff, 23, San Francisco car washer, paid $139 fine yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Ratliff for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 last April 14.

Last Thursday, Judge Haley sentenced Charles F. Rey, 44, of San Francisco to 15 days in jail and $276 fine for his third offense in four years. Rey was arrested on Waldo Grade on Dec. 14 of last year. He had prior convictions in 1959 and in 1961.

Speaking In Tongues Has Always Been Controversy

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The practice of speaking in tongues, which is causing a controversy in Bay Area Episcopal churches—particularly in Marin County—is as old as the Christian church itself, and it has always been a controversial subject.

Bishop James A. Pike of the Episcopal Diocese of California warned against the practice in a six-page pastoral letter read to congregations in the diocese Sunday. His words were an echo of those of St. Paul, spoken nearly 2,000 years ago in a letter to the Corinthians.

"I thank my God, I speak with more tongues than ye all. Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue," St. Paul wrote.

Bishop Pike wrote in his letter that "glossolalia (speaking in tongues) is a psychological phenomenon which has been known over many, many centuries quite apart from any particular religious orientation; in more extreme forms it is associated with schizophrenia."

The bishop's letter was issued after incidents in Marin County. At a confirmation ceremony in Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, the priest shouted "Hallelujah! Hallelujah!" in the midst of the service.

At the same service the congregation and the clergy began speaking in tongues.

Rev. Tod W. Ewald, rector of Holy Innocents', said yesterday he would follow Bishop Pike's directive. He said glossolalia had been done infrequently at the church in the past.

The second incident was the visit of Rev. Dennis J. Bennett of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, leading exponent of speaking in tongues on the West Coast. He spoke about the benefits of glossolalia to a Stanford University students, to about 50 priests at a meeting in Belvedere, and was the leading speaker at a Christian Advance at Holy Innocents Church.

Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of the Church of Our Saviour at Mill Valley and dean of the Marin County Deanery, said he thought it was probably Father Bennett's visit which did most to prompt the bishop's letter. At one point, Father Bennett suggested that the bishop approved of glossolalia as part of the church service.

"This needed a reply," Father Hammond said. Father Hammond said he did not think practices at individual churches were as strong a factor in prompting the letter.

All Saints Episcopal Church in San Leandro has also practiced glossolalia.

Speaking in tongues was recorded at the first Pentecost when the apostles were said to have been visited by the Holy Ghost. The apostles spoke in tongues then and some observers thought they had been drinking "new wine."

Speaking in tongues has long been a part of worship in Pentecostal churches. Rev. Harold Rhodes of the Assembly of God Church in San Rafael said that during prayers, church members often speak in tongues.

Rev. James C. Walton of the Assembly of God Church of Southern Marin said speaking in tongues is not part of the church service but may be practiced by people who are in prayer.

He said there is a problem in emphasis. Worshippers should not be seeking speaking in tongues for itself. It is only a manifestation of a deeper love of God, he said. But he said he was a little disappointed in Bishop Pike's letter.

"I feel badly about this," he said. "The Bishop might just as well have said that you should stop loving God. Speaking in tongues has been a real blessing."

Quentin Prisoner Stabbed 4 Times

A San Quentin Prison inmate was stabbed three times in the stomach and once in the chest today as he walked from the lower to the upper exercise yard at 9:15 a.m.

Richard Arthur Homan, 25, of San Diego County, serving a sentence for parole violation, was taken to the prison hospital to undergo exploratory surgery to determine the extent of his wounds.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said prison officials had no suspect and had not found the weapon. Homan stumbled on the steps between the two yards and was spotted by officers in the yard, according to Frady.

Homan, a maximum security inmate, was brought to San Quentin on Dec. 26, 1962.

Health Facilities Plan Shelved By Board

A proposal that county supervisors appoint one representative to a proposed committee to review planning and development of health facilities and services was shelved today by the supervisors.

The Marin Council of Community Services recently named four persons who had expressed willingness to serve on such a committee and asked the county to provide another, perhaps from the planning department.

Supervisors voiced doubts when this came up last month and continued the matter to today so they could give thought. The thinking added up to a desire to have no part of the proposal.

Supervisor George Ludy said thisw as a "private" project. Supervisor Peter Behr tentatively concurred adding "but it is in the public interest."

Three Die As Fire Hits Sub Under Construction

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Three men were killed and two injured, one critically, today in a flash fire in the aft trim tank of the nuclear attack submarine Flasher, which is under construction here.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The Flasher, of the same type as the Thresher, which was lost at sea with 129 aboard April 10, is under construction at the yards of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The nuclear power plant was not involved.

Because of the restricted space in the section where the blaze occurred, workers had to cut a hole in the trim tank to reach the victims.

Both were taken to Lawrence Memorial Hospital in New London, where Jusczyk, a painter, was on the critical list with third-degree burns.

Gulluscio, a welding supervisor, was treated for smoke inhalation.

Damage to the submarine itself was negligible, a company spokesman said, and the fire was brought under control immediately.

No date had been set for completion of the Flasher.

ger lives or property in the city," added Kogler.

Town councilmen decided that Corte Madera firemen are not flagrantly violating the ordinance which prohibits fighting fires outside town limits.

"I think there are valid exceptions," Pendleton said. "Firemen have to answer calls, even though they come from outside the city limits, on the off-chance that in the excitement, the caller has made a mistage and the fire is actually within the city limits."

And even if the fire is just beyond the limits, firemen may use their discretion in making sure that no lives are endangered and there is no danger the blaze will spread into the town, the councilmen decided.

At the sugegstion of Mayor Edward A. Colthurst, the council decided that new signs should be posted to more clearly delineate the boundary between town and the county areas. Also, the resuscitator will be taken off the big fire engine and placed in a smaller pickup truck so big equipment will not be tied up each time there is a resuscitator call.

A list of addresses of homes on Corte Madera streets which cross the limits will be provided for each fire unit so that a quick check will show which home is in the town and which is outside.

At the same time, councilmen asked Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow to continue to report fire calls made outside the town limits.

BRIDGE

from bridge operations to the counties of the district, was sent to interim study by the Senate local government committee.

The third (SB 184), which would take the bridge district's auditor from under control of the general manager and put him directly under the bridge directors, is being held up in favor of a similar bill (AB 1155) by Assemblyman Edward Gaffney (D-San Francisco). The fourth (SR 610), which would limit service of bridge directors to two terms, will not be moved because of heavy opposition.

"I still think it's a good bill," McCarthy declared, "but opponents feel it will open the door to a rash of bills limiting terms of service on all other boards and commissions."

Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley (AB 1188), which would have instructed the county auditor to make annual spot checks on veterans' affidavits requesting exemptions, passed the Assembly by a 58-0 vote. But in the Senate judiciary committee yesterday, it was killed by a split voice vote. Opponents called it "class legislation" aimed against the veterans.

Bagley salvaged a little something this morning with his AB 1481, which permits use of amber lights on tree-cutting equipment working along highways. Already passed the Assembly, it was approved in the Senate transportation committee today and placed on the Senate consent calendar.

Brown Thinks Savings Could Go To Schools

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State savings and a tax on take-out food may make it possible to increase state support for California's public schools, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today.

The governor declared for the first time that the state may be able to afford more than the additional 30 million dollars he has proposed.

The amount, he said, may be somewhere between that 30 million dollars and the 101 million dollars sought by the California Teachers Assn., backed by the State Board of Education.

Brown told his news conference he was proud to report total savings in the 1962-63 budget of 19 million dollars. He said it will go a long way toward helping him keep his no-new-tax pledge.

In addition, he said he looks favorably on an Assembly-passed bill that would extend the 3 per cent sales tax to take-out food from restaurants.

Restaurant meals themselves are taxable, and the governor said the amendment would close a loophole.

Referring to the state savings and an estimated 10 million dollars in revenue from take-out food, he said, "We'll add them all up and see where we are" on school aid.

Brown reiterated his opposition to Senate legislation, pending in the Assembly, to increase the gasoline tax and other motorist levies to provide 70 million dollars more for city streets and county roads.

He was asked whether it would make any difference if, as suggested by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, some of the money was earmarked for rapid transit.

letter of resignation or it would be difficult for me to find another job. I have been patiently waiting since February for my letter to be read at the board meeting. It has not yet been read."

Mrs. de la Fontaine has been hired to teach for the Novato Unified School District next year.

Mrs. Joy H. Binger, teacher of handicapped children, declined to comment on her resignation.

Dr. Frances Sink, psychologist for county schools, said she requested a private hearing with the board after Hollis a week ago requested her resignation. "Dr. Hollis said it would have to be an open meeting because he has received letters on my resignation." The five letters, read last night, expressed regret at losing the psychologist.

"The board has no control over firing and hiring," said Dr. Sink. "They can only object. I don't even want to fight for my job."

Hollis later said the San Anselmo School District had not renewed its contract with the county for a psychologist (Dr. Sink). "They will hire a full-time person of their own instead," he said.

Dr. Sink has worked for the schools office four years, longer than other psychologists there.

Others resigning declined to be quoted by name for fear of reprisals when they looked for jobs or were not available. Their names and official reasons for leaving are: Mrs. Berniece Shortlidge, school nurse, "family reasons"; Mrs. Lenore Mathews, teacher of mentally retarded children, "personal reasons," and Mrs. Olive Thompson, teacher at Juvenile Hall, "to continue her schooling."

Said one: "All you get from the schools office is your supply requisitions signed. You make referrals about these kids and the office acts as if it doesn't know what you're talking about. I don't get the cooperation I should have."

Supt. Hollis explained the resignations by saying: "Some people do excellently working in one district and very poorly in another. If you haven't said anything by May 15, everybody automatically stays.

"The people here get high pay because they don't have job tenure. They have to work with the administrative staff, which includes myself, Edward Credell and Rudolph Kupfer."

Three Land In Hospital After Crash

Three persons were kept overnight in Novato Hospital after a collision involving two cars and a parked truck at Grant Avenue and Highway 101 Sunday night.

Jerry L. Wedel, 21, of San Francisco told the California Highway Patrol he started up when the traffic light went green. But witnesses said the light was still red when Wedel's car entered the highway and was hit by a northbound car driven by Mrs. Theresa M. Jones of Petaluma, wife of A/3c Arthur F. Jones of the 78th Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base. The two vehicles slithered against a parked truck owned by Dean Hoy of 316 Sunset Parkway, Novato.

Mrs. Jones; her 4-month-old son Arthur Jr., and Mrs. Edgar D. Chambers of Petaluma, a passenger with Mrs. Jones, all were held overnight at the hospital, for treatment of shock. Wedel was cited on a charge of running a red light.

Highest Bid Held Accepted By Schools

Charges that the Marin County Board of Education accepted the highest instead of lowest of three bids for school athletic equipment were made last night at the board's meeting.

"We were low, yet we weren't even considered," said Bernard De Bisschop of San Anselmo, who represented Free-Minetti Sporting Goods Co. of San Francisco.

De Bisschop presented a mimeographed list showing that 23 sports items bid by his company totaled $1,289.28 cheaper than the same items of the winning bidder, Taveggia-Brusati Co. of San Rafael.

"The county schools business office felt it was preferable to accept the items from one company only," explained George L. Emmons, director of business services for the county schools office.

"We are faced with the judgment of those using the equipment, said Walter L. Johnson, board member. He said school districts within the county set specifications for the sports equipment they want.

"We've never been told our product wasn't acceptable," said De Bisschop. He pointed out that one lot of playground balls, for which he bid $462 compared to Taveggia-Brusati's bid of $490, had been manufactured by the same company, which put different labels on them.

"Are the taxpayers expected to pay the higher price just because one company has a better promotional campaign?" he asked.

"I'm more than willing to submit my company's balls for a use test," said Clyde Noel of Seamless Manufacturing Co., whose products were rejected.

Board members told him to come around to the county schools office and arrange to place the free balls in schools for the test. But the winning bid of $15,068.93 for the 1963-64 year is a closed subject, they said.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

1. Agreed to enter into a tentative agreement for the education program at San Quentin Prison after observing that the county schools office will have to cut down its administrative aid to the program unless it gets more money from the State Department of Corrections.

2. Adopted a resolution opposing a bill in the State Assembly which would curtail the power of the county schools departments. The measure, AB 1335, would allow the State Department of Education to determine the staff size, structure and activities in county schools offices.

3. Approved a June or July auction to sell surplus furniture and office equipment.

4. Approved the 1963-64 school year calendar with two different beginning and ending dates after board member Robert G. Randolph commented: "It's ridiculous that the people in this county can't at least get together to agree on a school year." The Tamalpais Union High School and Novato Unified School districts will begin in the week following Admission Day and end June 12. The San Rafael School District will begin school after Labor Day and end June 5. Most elementary schools will follow the high schools in their areas.

Buildings Must Go, But Not By Fire

Two old business buildings near Corte Madera interchange are public nuisances and must be razed, but Corte Madera fire officials refuse to burn them down because they are too near the highway.

The Marin County Health Department last week wrote owner William P. Murray of San Rafael, pointing out the buildings are a public nuisance and must be abated.

The owner agreed, and suggested the fire department burn the buildings as a part of a drill. But firemen refused because a spectacular blaze near the interchange is likely to cause a pileup on the highway.

Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow will bring the matter up again at the May 20 Corte Madera Town Council meeting to report what progress has been made by then on the demolition of the buildings.

Councilmen took action last night to abatae another nuisance on a lot just south of Madera Village Motel on Tamal Vista Road. Debris has collected on the lot, and the area is an eyesore, the town manager reported.

"I think we ought to have an outside contractor clean up the debris and charge it to the owner," said Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Town fathers passed a notice of intention to abate the nuisance. If the area is not cleaned up by May 20, then the town will clean up the area and charge the owner, Madera Village Inc.

The town manager will also report on a needed cleanup at the corner of Lakeside and Cheyenne at the next regular meeting.

520-Unit Corte Madera Proposal Probably Going Back To Planners

A revised plan to build a 520-unit planned waterfront development next to Mariners Cove in Corte Madera was presented last night to Corte Madera Town Council, but the developers decided they would go back to the planning commission to start all over again.

Patterson Properties, headed by Bradford Hale McNutt of Sausalito, presented a plan for 40 acres of water and land on the north side of Paradise Drive across from Marin Country Day School.

A similar plan was rejected by the town planning commission on April 2. McNutt appealed to the city council.

"Isn't it true that an appeal made from the planning commission decision must be made on the same set of plans rejected by the planners?" asked Councilman Robert LaDow.

Town Atty. Richard Randolph agreed this was so. Therefore developer McNutt withdrew the appeal and announced he would present his revised plan before the planning commission.

A delegation of residents from Mariner's Cove was present to oppose the project. Albert Boro, representing Mariners Cove Improvement Assn., announced his group is opposed to multiple dwellings there. A total of 520 units in an area presently laid out for 60 homes, said Boro, would create traffic, schools and other problems.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Postponed appointment of a disaster committee director until June 17.

2. Appointed C. W. Thomas for another four-year term on the town planning commission. The term of Felix Pioli also expired this month, but Pioli said his job pressure does not allow him to serve another term. Councilmen voted him a resolution of gratitude. Names of possible successor will be submitted at the next council meeting.

3. Passed an ordinance to put up "yield" signs on the southeast and northwest corners of Paradise Drive at Tamalpais Drive.

4. Appointed Councilman Charles F. Pendleton to see what can be done to discourage parking on Sausalito Street off Tamalpais Drive. Parked cars there cause a traffic hazard.

5. Approved the annual "Fun Fair Shows" at Corte Madera Center from June 27 through July 7. The Lions Club is sponsoring the show to build up its tennis court fund.

6. Authorized the city attorney to prepare a contract with Maggiora and Sons to complete the Paradise Drive drainage project for $2,400. This portion had been left undone because of a slide.

7. Asked the town manager to notify the owner of the southeast corner of Chapman and Tamalpais Drives to clean up rubbish and weeds.

8. Passed a resolution to annex property of John Harry Smith at 5094 Paradise Drive, which is partly in the county at present. A public hearing on the annexation was set for June 3.

Observation In Molesting Case

Kenneth Leroy Richards, 28-year-old Corte Madera janitor, will be sent to the State Hospital at Atascadero for 90 days observation as a sexual psychopath.

He was ordered to Atascadero yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court. The judge acted after reports from two doctors, who agreed that Richards is a sexual psychopath.

Richards, who has a record of molesting children, is now charged with molesting a 5-year-old San Anselmo girl last March.

Jobs Open For M.V. Tennis Instructors

There are openings for tennis instructors for the Mill Valley Recreation Department to serve from June 17 through July 26, it was announced by Steve Buffo, recreation director.

Pendleton Speaks For Civic Center

Corte Madera Councilman Charles F. Pendleton used this argument last night in his pitch to have the town civic center built on the 22-acre town park on Tamalpais Drive. Current plans are to build the public safety building, first structure in a civic center, on the Mayhood property across Pixley Avenue from the park.

Mayor Edward A. Colthurst appointed Pendleton to head a four-man committee to study suggested uses of the town park. Other members of the committee are Councilman Robert LaDow and two members to be chosen by the town park and recreation commission.

"The 22 acres of town park, I believe, are more than enough for the town, even projecting growth to 1980," said Pendleton. "To pay more than $30,000 for the Mayhood property for a safety building is a lot of money."

San Jose Board Lets Contract For Building

Robert S. Miller of Novato last night was awarded a $121,328 contract to build a six-room addition to the San Jose Intermediate School.

Miller's base bid of $124,475 was the lowest of five submitted. However, it was $6,004 more than the $118,469 allowed by the State Department of Finance.

Richard Banwell, school architect, offered three possible change orders which would bring the contract within line: (1) eliminate two of three folding partitions between double classrooms, substituting permanent walls, and eliminate shelving and moveable cabinets, saving $6,195; (2) delete all three folding partitions, saving $6,522, or (3) substitute a cheaper folding partition, saving $[illegible].

After more than an hour's discussion, the San Jose School District board selected the first proposal with the understanding that it might make a second change order after more study of folding partitions in other schools.

Miller agreed to the changes.

The board also approved an alternate of $1,250 for site grading and drainage and $1,800 for work in the court between the proposed wing and other wings at the school.

Bids for six classrooms and library additions to the Loma Verde School will be opened on May 28.

The preliminary 1963-64 budget, which was $333,310 higher than this year's, was submitted to the board, but not discussed. It calls for expenditure and income of $1,427,023 each, compared to the current budget of $1,093,713 expenditures and $1,159,187 income.

The San Jose School District board also:

1. Adopted a charge of $6 per hour for use of school facilities by profit-making organizations.

2. Adopted a policy allowing employees the first seven calendar days with pay in case of an accident. This is to take up the period prior to when state compensation becomes effective.

Novato Council Due Bids Today

Bids on remodeling the Presbyterian Church and adjoining Trevitt Hall into city offices will be opened by the Novato City Council at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Community House.

The city purchased the church, Trevit Hall and parsonage from the Presbyterian Church for $62,500 last year. The church vacated the properties on Feb. 1. Gordon Phillips, San Rafael architect, has drawn plans for the remodeling.

Completion of the work is scheduled for the first part of August, said J. Julien Baget, city administrator.

Two Plants Stolen

Theft of two evergreen plants, valued at $30, was reported to San Rafael police Sunday by Ruth Leon Johnson of 66 Jewell Street, San Rafael. She said the plants were taken from her backyard at about 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Council Approves 'Cluster' Development

"Cluster" development of homes on the hillside above Fifth Avenue won San Rafael City Council approval last night despite objections from several residents of the area.

Harry A. Barbier, newly appointed councilman, took the oath of office at the beginning of the meeting, but the council found itself still one man short last night Mayor John F. McInnis being ill at home.

The four were unanimous, however, in passing to print an ordinance creating a "planned community" district for Rafael Racquet Club Estates No. 5, a Kaehler-Farrar Corp. development of 48 homes in clusters on 18 acres above Fifth Avenue and between Racquet Club Drive and Leafwood Circle. The land is to be held as a condominium, with open spaces and recreational areas jointly maintained by all owners.

Principal objection to the homes, most of which will be two stories high, was again over plans to connect pairs of them by breezeways. Loudest and longest objections were by Mrs. Bob A. Dixon of 2127 Fifth Avenue, who said "I am in real estate myself." Mrs. Dixon said she circulated a petition against rezoning of the land from single-family dwelling, which got 250 signers before the first hearing before the city planning commission. Asked by Barbier, "Do you think you could get that many signatures now?" she replied, "Definitely!"

Jack Farrar of the development company said the connecting breezeway would improve appearance of the two-story homes. Councilman Fred E. Jensen, whose home on Center Street looks out at the hillside, heartily agreed.

The council gave a go-ahead to installation of a new storm sewer on Grand Avenue from Third Street to Fifth Avenue, awarding the contract to Lee Mac Paving Co. of Corte Madera on its low bid of $57,661.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Referred to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, at his request, a complaint by ex-Mayor Edward A. Culver regarding all-night curb parking.

2. Referred to the planning department, to name, and the public works department, to investigate its future use, a 50-foot strip adjacent to Woodland Avenue which Culver several years ago deeded to the city as a street. Half of it has been paved.

3. Informed the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce that its proposal to do away with morning parking restrictions on 19 spaces in the Third Street-Lootens Place municipal parking lot cannot be carried out because of restrictions when a delivery alley was taken over by the parking district.

4. Adopted a resolution for use of approximately $152,000 of state gasoline tax funds for extensions of Third Street.

5. Appropriated $1,200 from surplus to the tree trimming program, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen explaining that additional trimming had been done in connection with stringing fire alarm wires.

6. Authorized purchase from the Livingston Estate of a 40-by-146 foot lot at 100 Shaver Street for the Third Street extension, for $18,250; but took no action on buying 2,695 square feet at 2 West End Avenue for the same purpose for $10,106.25, which councilmen considered an excessive price.

7. Called for bids for purchase of the Chula Vista Assessment District bonds, to be opened at 8 p.m. June 3.

8. Granted George Mountanos and Ronald E. Fein permit for a card room in a back room of the Patio bar at 869 Fourth Street, on recommendation of Police Chief Chiesa. Asked by Barbier how many card rooms are now in the city, Chiesa said there are five permits but only three operating.

9. Authorized advertising for sale two parcels of tax-deed property on the slope above Greenfield Avenue, with bids to be offered by June 3.

Byron W. Leydecker withdrew his appeal from conditions placed by the planning commission on a three-lot subdivision at Oakmont and Chula Vista Avenues.

Present for the first part of the meeting, and introduced to the council, were Rick Raznikov, who will be "mayor" when San Rafael High School students hold "Youth in Government Day" next Monday, along with Steve Smith, who will be "public works director," and Bob Black and Bob Fleming, who will be "city councilmen."

BELLAM BRIDGE PLAN ABANDONED

The San Rafael City Council last night officially abandoned the idea of a Bellam Boulevard bridge across San Rafael Canal in favor of a bridge on a new road near Paganini's Point.

The action was taken to clear the way for mapping an assessment district in the Bellam Boulevard area.

The city has right of way for a 100-foot-wide Bellam Boulevard to Belvedere Street. Original plans called for carrying that width through to an eventual bridge across the canal.

City Engineer Dominic Selmi said the new master plan being prepared by engineer Daniel P. Coleman showed the bridge near Paganini's Point instead, with a curving 100-foot street from Bellam near Belvedere Street to reach it. He urged this is preferable location, largely because of much lower cost. It was urged also by Beverly J. Whitlow, engineer for Fred Wentz, who is setting up the assessment district.

"I have felt for some time it was impractical to cross the canal at Bellam Boulevard," agreed Acting Mayor Charles W. Aby.

It was left to Selmi and Whitlow to redesign Bellam as a 70-foot street beyond Belvedere Street. Whitlow was informed utility poles must be placed in the rear of lots or utilities placed underground. There will be no poles down the center of the street, councilmen made plain.

'WHO WAS THAT LADY . . .'

Time Marks 40th Birthday With Many Familiar Faces On Hand

NEW YORK (AP) — Famous people frfom all walks of life — including about 300 whose faces have appeared on its cover — helped Time magazine celebrate its 40th birthday last night at a party attended by 2,000 people.

"I've got to say," said society columnist Elsa Maxwell, "I've had a great number of parties which were bigger, but I must confess, not with the most newsworthy names."

However newsworthy, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the president's brother; columnist Hedda Hopper and actress Ginger Rogers were not recognized immediately and had trouble getting in.

Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, easing through the crush of persons jamming four reception rooms in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, commented: "This is the toughist fight I've had in a long time."

It took about two hours for actress Helen Hayes, comedian Bob Hope, Life magazine publisher C. D. Jackson and former U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to call out the names of noted guests.

"I've never seen so many people who look familiar that I don't know," said one unidentified woman, summing up the guest list which read like a "Who's Who."

Especially honored at the dinner party were the men and women whose faces have appeared on the covers of the Henry R. Luce publication during the last four decades.

San Rafael Will Soon Require Safety Glass

Either safety glass or a divider strip will soon be required in exterior glass doors in San Rafael.

The city council last night received from Chief Building Inspector Andrew Thomas a proposed ordinance which would require such protection not only in the door itself, but in the glass panels surrounding it.

Carl S. Brown of the Associated Home Builders of Marin objected to including the stationary panels. New Federal Housing Administration regulations require the safety glass or center divider strip in exterior sliding doors on dwellings, he said. He asked that the ordinance be made to conform, although covering all types of buildings instead of just homes.

The divider strip would furnish protection by (a) making the presence of a door clearly visible, and (b) dividing the door into two panes of glass, less likely to shatter than a single large pane.

Music Chest Subscriptions

Subscriptions to the Marin Music Chest's summer concert series, which opens June 23 in Forest Meadows, San Rafael, with Dorothy Warenskjold, soprano, will be available until May 15, according to Music Chest ofifcials.

The first district to go "over the top" in the current subscription drive is Novato, which has doubled the amount subscribed last year.

Reassigned Airman

Airman Basic John J. Sea, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sea of 138 Tunstead Avenue., San Anselmo, has been reassigned to Amarillo Air Force Base, Tex., for technical training as an Air Force administrative specialist. He has completed basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Part-Time Jobs In Summer Rec

Part-time jobs in the Novato summer recreation program were announced today by Edmund Mahany, director of parks and recreation.

This first full summer recreation program will probably start the third week in June and last for eight weeks, Mahany said. There are 16 jobs open, ranging from $1.50 to $2.25 per hour, and including attendants, leaders, swimming pool instructors and swimming pool managers.

Applications are available at the Novato City Hall and must be returned by May 15, Mahany said.

Shakespeare Fete Tryouts Slated

Actors, singers and musicians interested in appearing in the Marin Shakespeare Festival this summer may audition beginning at 2 p.m. May 25 and 26 in the amphitheater at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Those interested in playing in "Othello" or "The Taming of the Shrew" should prepare a speech of not more than 20 lines from either play, according to John Brebner, festival director.

The festival will open July 18 and run through Aug. 31. Brebner will direct "Othello"; Dion Chesse will direct "The Taming of the Shrew."

Robert Steele Nominee For Sausalito Chamber

Robert C. Steele is a nominee for the board of directors of the Sausalito chamber of commerce, Victor E. Hecht, executive secretary, said today. Steel's name was omitted inadvertently by Hecht from the chamber's monthly bulletin, "Chamber Wire" and not listed with 13 other nominees in the Independent-Journal May 3.

The five who get the highest number of votes will be elected for two years; four others will serve one-year terms. They take office in July.

PG&E Denies Bodega Head Quake Fault

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials denied charges yesterday that an atomic power plant proposed for Bodega Bay is too close to the line of an active earthquake fault.

The Northern California Assn. to Preserve Bodega Head and Harbor filed a memorandum with Public Utilities Commission saying the San Andreas fault is less than a quarter-mile from the proposed plant site.

The complaint says that outside experts have found evidence of an active earthquake fault running right through the proposed reactor site.

PG&E officials countered the association charges with a report by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, an independent group, which approved the site.

PG&E spokesmen quoted from the report:

"Tentative exploration indicates that the reactor and turbine buildings will not be located on an active fault line. The committee believes that if this point is established, the design criteria for the plant are adequate from the standpoint associated with earthquakes."

Veterinary Hospital Plans Are Approved

A veterinary hospital to be built at 140 Jacoby Street in South San Rafael was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The hospital, proposed by J. B. Rice, will be constructed on his property in an area already zoned for light industrial and commercial uses. It will be operated by Dr. W. F. Braunschweig, who now has a veterinary hospital at Third Street and Grand Avenue in San Rafael.

In requesting architectural supervision for the structure, Rice told the commission he had "many plans for development of this entire property," but the State Division of Highways has not yet determined the exact location of possible Highway 101 access roads in the area.

The hospital will be a one-story, wood-frame building.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Continued until May 20 a hearing on further rezoning for the large Monte Cristo tract near Fairfax. Most of the 1,800-acre section was rezoned for limited agricultural and single-family residential use three weeks ago. Residents in a 95-acre section along Bolinas Road asked for postponement of rezoning so they might propose minimum lot sizes larger than 10,000 square feet.

2. Approved a request from Consolidated Holdings Inc. to build 12 one-family homes in the proposed Tam Terrace subdivision off Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley.

3. Continued until May 20 consideration of a tentative map for the Grundstrom Estates five-acre subdivision east of Sutro Avenue and south of Vineyard Road near Novato.

4. Approved a use permit for a Marin County fire station at Point Reyes-Petaluma and Novato-Hicks Valley roads. The station will serve the rural area west of Novato.

5. Granted architectural supervision for a five-unit apartment house at 19 Knoll Lane Alto. Requested by Robin D. McCrea, the apartments will be built between two existing homes, which are to be remodeled.

6. Granted architectural supervision for a four-unit apartment house at 302 Main Street in Tamalpais Valley. Proposed by Merlin A. Petersen, the two-story "townhouse" apartments will be constructed on a 4,400-square-foot site.

7. Denied Tidewater Oil Co permission to locate a free-standing sign identifying the Flying "A" service station at San Pedro and San Pablo roads, opposite the Civic Center. Principal Planner Sidney Shaw said the extra sign is unnecesssary.

8. Approved a street name change, requested by the San Rafael postmaster, of Tioga Court in Lucas Valley unit 4 to Mount Konocti Court. The Tioga Court name allegedly conflicted with Corte Tioga in Greenbrae, also served by the San Rafael Postoffice. The Mount Konocti name is taken from the name of a mountain west of Clear Lake in Lake County.

Action Against Meter Cheaters

A device to make parking meters tougher to cheat will be installed in one block of downtown San Rafael within the next few days for a 30-day trial.

The device locks the meter when five cents has been inserted. It will take no more coin until the car occupying the parking stall has pulled out.

If less than five cents has been inserted, more coins can be added.

A rubber pad over which a front wheel of the car passes in leaving the parking space releases the lock mechanism and returns the meter to "violation."

The city council early today agreed to the one-block, one-month trial, after deadlocking on a proposal by Paul Michelson and Patrick Cavanaugh of Traffic Control, Inc., of San Francisco for a six-month trial with 700 meters.

Michelson said San Rafael had been selected by the company as a "showcase city" for the device, which he said should increase the revenue from parking meters by 35 per cent through cutting down on "meter cheaters" who park long beyond the hour limit, feeding new coins into the meters to keep from getting tagged.

A survey by Traffic Control, Inc., showed that, despite activities of city's meter maids, at any hour from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. one-fifth to one-fourth of downtown parking spaces were occupied by cars that had exceeded the hour limit, he declared.

Getting rid of these would be equal to increasing the downtown parking meter spaces by at least 20 per cent, said Michelson.

So sure is the company that its device will do the trick that the city was offered the installation on a can't-lose basis, with a bargain price of $25 per meter to be paid for from one-third of the increase in gross meter revenues.

"Meter feeders are making a parking lot out of the street," declared Cavanaugh. "This device will help get rid of them."

Councilman Fred E. Jensen wanted to try the 700 meters for six months. New Councilman Harry S. Barbier went along with him. But Councilman L. H. Bud Baer balked in fear of complaints from shoppers. Acting Mayor Charles W. Aby proposed the matter be laid over for two weeks for the return of Mayor John F. McInnis, who was ill. But finally all agreed on the one-month, one-block trial.

The block where meters will get the anti-cheaters is that on Fourth Street from Court Street to Lootens Place, which includes Macy's and J. C. Penney Co. department stores.

Fred F. Enemark, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce president, pledged cooperation of the chamber in "letting the public know that there has been no change in the ordinance, and the change in the meters is to help shoppers to find parking places."

Jails In Birmingham Jammed With Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham's jails are jammed with Negroes almost to the bursting point today, and leaders of a massive desegregation movement pledged more demonstrations.

"We will definitely have more demonstrations," said Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King's comment followed the arrest yesterday of a police-estimated 1,000 marchers, including Negro comedian Dick Gregory. The vast majority of those arrested for parading without a permit were school children or other teen-agers. Many skipped classes to join in the campaign.

More than 2,400 have been arrested since the massive demonstrations started Thursday.

An additional 200-plus, including King, were arrested in earlier phases of the integration drive which began April 3. Police officials said at least 2,000 declined to post bond and remained in the crowded jails and detention quarters.

"When the sun goes down today, there'll be so many Negroes in jail that the people of Birmingham will hate to see a Negro," said another Negro Leader, Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss.

"We could have had 2,500 arrested yesterday, but we got tired."

Gregory arrived by plane to join the demonstrators and within three hours was arrested at the head of the first group of marchers.

An official asked Gregory if he had a parade permit.

He answered no and the officer told him to turn around.

"No, we'll stay here," Gregory said.

The officer said such action violated city law and also a state court injunction. He turned and said: "Dick Gregory says they will not disperse. Call the wagon."

Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, one of King's top lieutenants, was asked if there were any plans to post bond for Gregory.

"No, not at this time," Walker answered. "When I talked with him, he said he planned to remain in jail for the duration."

As the group led by Gregory was taken off, wave after wave of other groups left the church on the edge of the business district. Each marcher carried placards decrying segregation. They sang freedom songs as they walked two by two.

The groups were stopped by police officers, arrested, placed in school buses and hauled to jail. The operation lasted about two hours.

SAN JOSE SCHOOL PAY INCREASES 6%

Salary increases averaging 6 per cent were approved last night for employees of San Jose Elementary School District.

Trustee Alan Swabacker expressed the feelings of the district board when he said, "I wish we could grant more at this time, but if we can give more later, we will."

Teachers' salaries were raised 6 per cent to a five-grade, 12-step scale starting at $5,200 and reaching a top of $9,880. All non-teaching personnel were increased a straight 6 per cent.

The board raised the salaries of five principals from $11,637 to $12,350, and Principal Donald Slezak of Lynwood School from $9,775 to $10,374. Swabacker abstained from voting on the increase for the principals.

"I feel that it is time the teachers received the raise, not the administrators," he said. "I want to narrow the gap between the teachers' salaries and those of the administrators."

The trustees did not take up salaries of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and district-wide employees such as speech therapist and curriculum consultant.

Belvedere Annexation Plan Draws Protests

An objection to Belvedere's plan to annex a part of the Tiburon business district, thereby cutting into the financial base of the proposed City of Tiburon was voiced by Elva Paske, chairman, and Nicki La Mott, member of the Tiburon Peninsula Incorporation Committee at last night's meeting of the Belvedere City Council.

"If you take this, other landowners will seek annexation and we will be defeated," Mrs. La Mott predicted.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins said the council could not say no if annexation was good for Belvedere. "This potential financial reserve is good and we are elected to do what is best for the city," he said.

The council adjourned until Monday to permit City Mgr. Britton Rey to discuss annexation boundary lines with Fred G. Zelinsky, who is seeking annexation of part of his property to the city.

Planners Set Hearing On Residential Lot Buildings

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday set for June 3 a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment which would spell out requirements for construction of accessory buildings on residential lots.

Staff Planner Warren Baker said the amendment would "insure residential open space and would preserve the character and social and economic stability of residential areas."

It would limit accessory buildings, detached from the main building on a site, to a height of one story, not over 12 feet "unless the building is located at least 40 feet from any property line, in which case the accessory building may be erected to a height specified for the main building in any respective district."

Detached buildings must not occupy more than 30 per cent of the area of any rear yard. Renting of rooms in accessory buildings will be prohibited, unless rooms are rented in the main building and zoning permits.

Tam Aero Club Meets Tomorrow

The first public meeting of the newly formed Tamalpais Aero Club will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Tomahawk Lodge in Novato.

"We are interested in getting better facilities in the county for fliers," said new president William Kapranos of San Anselmo. "We have 13 charter members and expect many more to join tomorrow. We welcome both neophytes and experienced pilots."

Hub School Unit Meeting On Bids

Bid openings and bid calls on five projects occupies the major portion of the agenda of the San Anselmo School District board for its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the faculty room of Isabel Cook School.

Bids will be opened on the lease of the Sunny Hills site and construction of the Hidden Valley tennis courts.

Bids will be called for on the Wade Thomas addition, the Brookside School fire alarm system, and on solid-core doors, new transoms and acoustical tile at Isabel Cook School.

The preliminary budget for the next fiscal year will be presented.

Tiburon Fire District's Budget Record

A record preliminary budget of $102,064 was adopted by the Tiburon Fire Protection District last night. This compares to $80,554 for this year.

However, according to Chairman Harry Bragg, because of reserves of $32,000 and a growth in assessed valuation, no raise is expected in the tax rate of 66 cents. It may even drop, he said.

Budget items are: salaries, $44,514 (which includes one more paid fireman as of next January); maintenance, $12,050; reserve carryover, $18,500, and capital outlay of $27,000 including $12,000 for adding an alarm room, office and truck repair area to the main fire house, $10,000 down payment on a new pumper, $2,000 for hydrants, $1,500 for water main replacement, and $1,500 miscellaneous.

'Evils' Of Small Lot Splits Listed

As property in Marin becomes more valuable, everybody begins thinking about how he can split up his land, Marin County planning commissioners were told yesterday.

Principal Planner Sidney Shaw said this desire to hack up and sell pieces of land leads to a need for control of small subdivisions. He presented the commission with a list of the "evils" that a minor subdivision ordinance would correct.

Under existing county law, any subdivisions of fewer than five lots does not require filing of a subdivision map. For several months the commission has talked about an ordinance to control such lot splitting.

Chairman William Upton directed Shaw to "come up with a specific ordinance at a future meeting, and then we can start holding public hearings."

'Insects In Garden'

"Insects In Your Garden" will be discussed by the Redwood Shade Garden Club at its meeting at 8 p.m. Friday in Whitaker Hall, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Belvedere. Blake Maddox of Santa Rosa will show a color movie and answer questions on the subject. George Coleman of Belvedere will talk on "What to do this month in the Garden," according to John Titus, president.

Sausalito School Contracts Signed

Sausalito School District trustees last night agreed to renew contracts of 22 teachers now holding tenure, 10 probationary teachers and nine teachers for summer school.

Action came following a closed session to discuss hiring.

The board also agreed to hire Armando F. Flores of San Francisco as Spanish instructor for the district to replace Fernando Silva, who will teach at Tamalpais High School. Diane Dee Schilling of Marin City was hired as social studies and girl's physical education teacher at Richardson Bay School. She is the wife of the newly appointed Presbyterian minister at Marin City.

The Sausalito School District board also:

1. Accepted $1,050 from the Edgewater Foundation to provide musical instruments for the district. Funds were derived by the foundation's "Children's Concerto."

2. Approved sending two or three teachers to Torrence to observe ungraded programs, with the possibility of starting a pilot program in the district. Teachers have not been named. They will be gone two days next week.

3. Approved a dental hygiene program for all third grades in the district.

4. Voiced objection to a proposal by William Brose to install an automobile display and sales business on the Northwestern Pacific Freight Station land at Bridgeway and Litho Street.

Tam Union Trustees Award Keyser Hall Job

Tamalpais Union High School District trustees last night awarded a contract for the last work to be done with the three million dollars raised as result of the district's 1961 bond election.

Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, lowest of three bidders at $34,621, received a contract to renovate the interior of Keyser Hall at Tamalpais High School.

The building, now used for science classes, will be used for English classes. Science classes will be moved to the new Raymond J. Palmer Building, to be completed May 15.

After the contract was awarded, trustee John Siemens said:

1. Accepted resignations of five teachers: Gwenmar Powell, Tamalpais High, business education and counseling; Eldon L. Bennett, Redwood High, mathematics; Nelson J. Gilman, Tamalpais, mathematics; James O. Buckley, Redwood, mechanical drawing, and Annie Beth Watson, Drake, English.

2. Granted one-year leaves to three teachers: Robert T. E. Baugh, German and Russian, Redwood; James Hanretty, history and counseling, Tamalpais, and Adrian Cobb, science, Drake.

3. Rehired 211 teachers and other certificated personnel and 108 non-teaching employees.

4. Hired five new teachers: Robert Flynn, Larkspur, industrial arts, Redwood High; Glen Levi Dickey, Long Beach, mathematics, Redwood; Billy Frank Pitts, San Jose, physics and electronics, Tamalpais; Dumont Francis Hixson, Concord, reading specialist, Tamalpais, and Theodore Thomas Redenius, Daly City, driver instruction for the entire district.

5. Voted permanent tenure to seven teachers at Tamalpais, five at Drake and six at Redwood High schools.

6. Adjourned at 9:45 p.m. to meet in executive session to discuss hiring of summer school principals, recreation directors, a director of data processing and a director of gifted-children teaching. The closed meeting ended at 11:15 p.m. and the discussion will be continued, board chairman Delman D. Smith told the Independent-Journal.

Tiburon Fire Unit Aide Resigns Post

Fred Mantegani, secretary of the Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission, announced at last night's meeting that he will resign for the commission in June.

Mantegani, associated with the new National Bank of Tiburon, gave pressing business matters as his reason. He has been on the commission for three and one-half years and has served as chairman.

Plan Session Scheduled In Sausalito

The Sausalito City Council will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in a "study session" with city planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr. to discuss land uses in Old Town, New Town and the Spring Street area, Mayor Paul Micou said today.

"We are trying to assess the effect of possible duplex zoning on lots which were established many years ago," said Micou. The Council will ask William L. Hynes, building inspector, to provide information on the existing land uses.

At a study session last night, the council discussed for four hours the proposed zoning ordinance and zoning map, reviewing building setbacks and height limits and the map in general. It took no action.

The council will hold a regular meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Lucky Porky Opening Again

Lucky Porky Delicatessen and Coffee Shop has reopened at 707 Bridgeway in Sausalito after being closed four months for remodeling of the building.

Added to the delicatessen, according to owner Morrie Singer, are eight stools for a coffee shop and sandwich counter plus a large selection of packaged meats. Singer said today the shop is open "informally" but he plans a "grand opening" in about two weeks.

Inmate Pleads Guilty To Escape Attempt

James P. Winton, 24, Fresno County burglar, who hid in an underground burrow inside San Quentin Prison for five days last summer, pleaded guilty to an escape charge yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Winton to prison for a term prescribed by law—one year to life. This term will run consecutively to the term he is already serving for burglary.

Tam Dstrict Needs Exceeding Resources

A $5,466,600 preliminary fiscal 1964 budget, up $65,072 from the 1963 budget, was submitted to the Tamalpais Union High School District board last night.

Trustees voted 4-0 to "approve in principal the general distribution of funds" in the budget.

He said for this reason capital outlay is only $395,090, down $222,928 from this year.

The new budget includes funds for painting Tamalpais High buildings, step increases for teaching and non-teaching personnel, increased cost of fire insurance because of added families, and pay for 16 more teachers.

Cassou said it appeared the district will levy the full $1.90 operational tax this year. Last year it levied only $1.84.

Trustee J. M. Stubblebine said he was sorry to see the full $1.90 levied "but I say that every year."

Cassou will submit a tentative budget in June and a publication budget in July. A hearing on the final budget will be held Aug. 5, said Cassou.

Parking District Formation Is Discussed For Kentfield

Formation of a parking district for present and future business establishments on low-lying land behind commercial property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was discussed last night at a meeting of Kentfield Civic League directors attended by about 40 persons.

Directors and selected guests heard Edmund Kagi, county senior planner, discuss the tentative master plan for the Kentfield area.

Proposals outlined by Kagi included:

1. Rerouting of through traffic from Larkspur along Kent and Laurel avenues intsead of College Avenue.

2. Extension of Wolfe Grade Road through marshlands between Berens Drive and Marin General Hospital.

3. Widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Ross if Ross Town officials agree.

4. Extension of Adaline E. Kent School grounds into present commercial land on College Avenue.

Mum's the word for May 18.

On that Saturday the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will hold a flower sale starting at 10 a.m. in front of the Crocker-Anglo Bank in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael.

For sale will be rooted cuttings and plant divisions of the society's members. Some are even prize-winning varieties, according to co-chairmen Mrs. Bernard H. Keener of Sleepy Hollow and Charles Locati of San Anselmo.

The co-chairmen expect interest in chrysanthemum growing in Marin County, where is an ideal climate for the plants, to be heightened this year because of the National Chrysanthemum Show to be held in San Francisco in October.

Ban Is Needed On Cities Levying An Income Tax

The State Senate has before it an Assembly-passed bill which would prohibit local governmental agencies from levying an income tax.

The bill (AB 661) would include large cities as well as small taxing districts and this inclusion has brought a cry of complaint from some of our fellow newspapermen in the big cities.

"Though we hope no large California city ever encounters the need to levy such a tax," one San Francisco editorial said with a straight face, "we don't think it should be denied the power to do so."

"In our view (the other paper's) the local income tax, or payroll tax as it is commonly called by the large eastern cities that have it, is a last resort. Yet the trend of metropolitan growth is such that the last resort could arrive.

"For example (that other editorial goes on), the proportion of commuters working in central city but living elsewhere might some day be so large that the city would not be able to provide essential services. The commuting population uses city streets, traffic regulations, police and fire protection utilities . . ."

That's enough to make up our minds. We DO think that each and every little taxing district should be denied the right to tax our income. Even mentioning it might give some sanitary district or city or county the idea.

Takehome pay, what happened to you?

Our hearts grieve for the big cities and their influx of commuters. Over 50 per cent of the taxpayer's burden is the schools. Yet commuters leave their children home to be educated, they don't take them into the cities.

And we must weep some big, round tears for the big cities which have assessed valuations 10, 20 or 30 times that of some whole counties. Taxable real property in which all those commuters work are in the cities, aren't they?

So we give a big cheer to the Assembly for passing AB 661 and we hope the Senate handles it with care and approval.

There should be a limit on the number of political agencies who can get to our pay checks before we do.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

NEVER TOO YOUNG

A 13-year-old boy is the latest executive in a large London travel agency.

When he was hired, the enterprising young man was no stranger to the business. He had set up his own small agency in his spare time one summer. Through it he had made contacts with nearly 200 airlines, 50 shipping companies and 90 coach operators.

The 324 inquiries and 50 customers he had handled proved his theory that "the regular travel agencies did not treat inquiries from children seriously."

The manager of the big agency said: "We have never considered offering a 13-year-old school boy a job before, but we want this young man. He obviously has a flair for this sort of business and wonderful organizing ability."

The natural talent of young people, entrusted to them by Almighty God, is too precious to overlook. Everybody benefits if youthful ability and enthusiasm are directed into constructive channels.

"Well done, good and faithful servant; because you have been faithful over a few things, I will set you over many."
(Matthew 25:23)

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Now Let's See, Where Were We When Interrupted 2 Months Ago

By CHAPIN A. DAY

'CHIP' DAY

Let's see now, where was I when I was interrupted about two months ago? Which party is it that's starting a new organization to "strengthen the party, not to divide it?" And which party is it that's dividing all over the place because it has so many "strong men" they can't tell which one is the leader? And which leader was it that announced he would follow his California party's decision on a presidential candidate—and then moved to New York?

It's been tough not being in on that blowup at the CDC convention in Bakersfield where Hans Schiller of Mill Valley thought he had a new system for passing resolutions which would let the delegates have their say on all of them. Wonder why it didn't work?

And what happened? Did CDC backing actually go to a John Birch candidate, as Democratic Congressman Ronald B. Cameron charges in his resignation statement? Or is the group guilty of "political grand theft" because of some "power-hungry and predatory elements" as Assemblyman Philip L. Doto (D-La Puente) charged in his resignation? I would miss something like that.

What about the Republican youth rebellion in Santa Rosa and the setting up of a new and competing college GOP organization? I saw that revolt start at Disneyland, but missed the finale.

And the Republicans in Marin apparently haven't responded to their tennis-oriented chairman's plea for a "Love All" motto. I hear a new conservative organization is being established.

Boy! Have I got a lot of catching up to do!

I GOT BACK in time to hear, however, that someone reported Nick Kobseff of Nicasio as being in violation of the federal Hatch Act in filing for Congress last winter and running for Democratic Central Committee before that.

He wasn't elected to the central committee and he withdrew from the Congressional race after it was pointed out to him as a $200 per month part-time postmaster of Nicasio, he might be violating the act.

Now an investigator from the U.S. Civil Service Commission in Washington is in the county investigating the complaint.

Two Opinions Of Kuchel Talk

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Having read excerpts from Senator Kuchel's recent bombastically vitriolic diatribe against the Birchers, I suggest to him that, whenever he can get up one-half the head of steam against the extreme left-wingers that he has generated against the Birchers, he may be entitled to be listened to with some respect when he fulminated against "extreme" right wingers.

Citizens sincerely exercising the right of free speech have the right to be wrong. If a citizen honestly thinks that Eisenhower was "a dupe of the Communists," or that Earl Warren is "a traitor to America," he has every right, possiby even a patriotic duty, to say so. The fact that you and I disagree with such charges is neither here nor there.

If I were forced to take my stand with the extreme right-wingers or the extreme left-wingers, I would unhesitatingly take my stand with the former, because I am convinced that almost all Americans agree with me.

America is big and great enough to tolerate all kinds and shades of political opinion. Quite evidently, Mr. Kuchel's not.

JOHN B. EHLEN

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Senator Kuchel deserves the heartfelt thanks of every American who believes in intelligent citizenship and who supports freedom and justice.

The hate mongers, masquerading as patriots, would have us bow before their own brand of authitoritarian dogma. Their arguments subvert the moral principles of Christianity and the political principles of our republic.

Other Side Of Daylight Saving

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In your April 29 story entitled "Daylight Brings Out Everybody," the inference was that Daylight Saving Time had added to everyone's weekend enjoyment.

It did not mention that DST had kept everyone out later because in reality it was not later and their systems were still living by the old time. It also did not mention how much later it kept all those children up past their usual bedtime Sunday night, and the impossibility of getting them up for school the next morning.

Your article, as all DST articles, was happily complacent that we are all living richer, better and fuller lives as a result of lying to ourselves about what time it is. I think it is time to hear from the other side.

Let's hear from those who LIKE to see the sun go down, so they can get the children to bed and have a few quiet hours for contemplation on the state of the universe. Let's hear from the tired worker who likes to go home in the twilight because it is a symbol of the end of his labors for the day. Let's also hear from those who go out formally at 8 with the full glare of the setting sun on their glittering nighttime regalia.

Let's hear from those in the southern parts and inland deserts who are literally dying for the sun to go down so they can cool off enough to face the next blazing morning. And last but not least, let's hear some day in the near future that all of us who are "luxuriating" in an extra hour of sunshine at least get to take a vote on it.

I personally feel that DST is not only an invasion of my privacy and my democratic rights, but that it constitues one more additional burden of readjustment in an already overcomplicated world. Have you ever tried to explain to a child of 7 what DST is? Even the most intelligent explanation makes us, the imposers of the law, sound like blithering idiots.

If we waste time with the sun up, what guarantee is there that we will save time if we pretend it is an hour earlier than it really is? Is golf and back yard barbecuing more important than the stability of the world of time?

What guarantee do we have that this subtle lie won't spread into other areas of our thinking? A government that can tell you it's 5 o'clock when it's really 4, and legislate that authority should be asked many questions.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

A measure backed for legislative enactment by Marin supervisors called for a flood control law with a tax limit of $1 per $100 of assessed valuation. It was stripped of any authority to create a recreation district as result of flood control activities.

Talks between Marin commuters and Pacific Greyhound Lines over a proposed 30 per cent rate increase broke down when the company, though supplying figures on its Marin County operation, refused to give complete fiscal data on intra-state operation on which the company declared it could provide no full figures without four to five months work costing $30,000 to $40,000.

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ada Fusselman as chairman of the Marin Salvage Committee reported great success in a silk stocking drive but said "every tin can, especially all milk cans, are vitally needed in the tin drive next Sunday."

West Marin residents complained to county supervisors that they had been for months without the services of any physician living closer than 25 miles away.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

In his amusing autobiography, "What Time's The Next Swan?" Walter Slezak tells how his father, the famous opera star, Leo Slezak, was put on a strict diet when his weight became alarming. For a week he howled that he was being starved, then suddenly began accepting his serenity. His dog betrayed him by taking a stand at Slezak's desk, holding a rigid point, and barking like mad. Mrs. Slezak investigated and found inside the desk a two-foot-long Hungarian salami.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

If Public Bodies Meet In Private They Chance Being Misunderstood

The eternal battle between the press's viewpoint that the public has the right to know the deliberations of its elected bodies and the desire of those bodies to hide their activities, came up twice last week in Marin County.

In one instance, the Novato City Council had a legal right under the Ralph M. Brown Act, to hold a secret or executive session. However the councilmen did not realize the extent of the range of their voices nor the excellent acoustics in the city's community house.

This reporter and George Barnwell of the Novato Advance sat in the lobby of the building, not intending to eavesdrop, but to await the outcome of the meeting.

RUMORS IN A SMALL town being what they were, we both expected to see one or two city employees being fired or asked to resign.

What we were treated to was enough of the conversation to be able to follow the proceedings. Of course we could not hear every word, but we distinctly could hear the councilmen when they raised their voices. Words, phrases and occassionally full sentences came out clearly.

From those, we both wrote stories the next day.

THAT IS WHERE the danger lies for the council. We could report on what we heard, but we did not hear the complete and full conversation. It is equivalent to quoting phrases out of context which can be taken to change the true meaning of the writing as a whole.

I will not argue that when personal charges are brought against an employee that he should not have a right to have these aired in secret. The recent charges against one Novato policeman that he was having an affair with a married woman certainly should not have been aired in public.

However, when it comes to the ability of city employees to do or not to do a proper job for the city, this should be aired in public. Probably most of the people in a small town already know who is and who is not doing a good job for the city.

HAVING A CITY council that has the fortitude to stand out in public and tell their employees that they expect a better job from them or they will be taken off the payroll would probably raise that council in the public's esteem.

The other incident was where two reporters were ousted from a meeting by Police in Mill Valley. But that is in the beat of fellow reporter Bruce Coleman, so I'll let him comment on that.

ON CHANEL 5 news last Friday night, Don Brice picked up an Independent-Journal story about the proposed city seal of Novato. In his commentary on what was proposed in the seal and what he felt should be in it, he showed a marked hostility toward the suburban areas.

Let him spend one weekend in the green hills of Marin County, smell the fertile earth and the blooming flowers, and he might find something more fundamental to life than he can ever find in the pavement of the city.

Let him escape from the concrete cubicles for a short while and probably would have used a different approach to Novato's proposed seal showing a mountain, oak tree, dairy ranch and the bay.

Problem Of Communism In Europe As Complicated As Italy, Germany

WASHINGTON — One of the most striking aspects of post-war politics in Western Europe is the contrast in the political complexion of two of America's most valuable allies — West Germany and Italy.

The Italian elections sharply point up this contrast.

Communism, which nearly engulfed Germany in the late 1920s and early 30s, is a puny, virtually non-existent force there today. Even in East Germany the Moscow-imposed Ulbricht regime would not last a week without the presence of Soviet force.

IN ITALY, despite growing prosperity, despite the fact that the Fanfani government was committed to social reform, despite the long anti-Communist work of the Catholic Church, the Communist Party is steadily growing more powerful, its influence more pervasive.

In West Germany today communism is dead.

In Italy today communism is more alive than in any nation in the world where there are free elections.

In Germany communist ideology has been steadily rejected by the German voters, by the trade unions, by the German workers.

In West Germany the Social Democratic Party, under the leadership of Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, is about as far left as the Roosevelt New Deal in the U.S.

Today in Germany the Social Democratic Party has completely shed its Marxist ties and purposes.

IN ITALY MOST of the Socialist Party has been tied to the Italian Communists. They have played the Communist game, sung the Communist tunes, and invariably taken positions which were anti-NATO, anti-Western.

Only during the past two years has about half of the Italian Socialist Party under Pietro Nenni broken with the Communists and supported the domestic reform goals of the center-left government. Much of the Italian Socialist movement still remains Marxist in its ideology and pro-communist in its tactics.

Because the strength and stability of our allies are so crucial, last week's Italian elections are disappointing.

The Communists gained more than one million votes over their total in 1958. One out of every four Italian voters aligned himself with the Communist Party.

The wing of the Socialist Party that was supporting Premier Fanfani lost votes; the Socialists who were tied to the Communists gained votes.

There are some alleviating factors. The Liberals, who are the fourth largest party and are both conservative and pro-Western, doubled their vote, adding a million to their total. With the backing of the Nenni Socialists, the Fanfani coalition retains a parliamentary majority which may hold firm.

WHY HAVE the Italian voters given so much support to the Communists?

Perhaps because Italian prosperity has left many large pockets of economic distress, has uprooted two million people in the past few years. Or, perhaps, the promise of social reform by the center-left government of Fanfani has not yet been fulfilled.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You Must Rely On Opening Bid Of Your Opponent Also

"Rely on your partner's opening bid," you are told when you begin to play bridge.

Your teacher should tell you to rely just as much on an opponent's bid.

West cashed two high hearts and then led a trump. South, a inexperienced player, led out four rounds of trumps in the vague hope that somebody might make a bad discard.

GAVE UP

Finally South cashed the ace of clubs and gave up.

"I can't eat the two clubs," he grumbled as he conceded a one-trick defeat.

STRENGTH

There was nothing in this complaint. Four spades was a very reasonable contract, and South should have made the game and rubber.

West was marked with all of the missing high cards for his vulnerable opening bid in first position.

END PLAY

If South relies on West's bid, he makes the contract by way of an end play.

Declarer draws two rounds of trumps and three diamonds, ending in the South hand. He then leads a low club.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Giants' Swinging Away At 3 And 0 Pitch Is Silly, Useless Gambling

CONNOLLY

Let's just say there should be a law against it—hitting on a 3 and 0 pitch.

If you have listened lately, you know hitters like Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou, Ed Bailey, Willie McCovey and sometimes Tom Haller are given the green sign, which, in the parlance of the game, means that regardless of the score, the inning or the number of outs, Manager Alvin Dark allows his hitters to swing at a pitch with the count three balls and no strikes.

In my book it is silly gambling, and useless as an aggressive weapon.

Of course, it really isn't third base coach Whitey Lockman who gives the green sign; Manager Dark gives Whitey the wig wag that says go ahead—let him hit.

Alvin runs the club by remote control and Whitey, who acts as his Charley McCarthy, gets the blame. Poor Whitey, a very conservative player in his prime, and a good one, is the fall guy. He gives the batter the sign and is blamed for the success or failure of the move

THE WAY any experienced baseball writer looks at hitting on a 3 and 0 pitch is the same. It's suicide and gets the club into more jams than it ever gets into playing the percentages, which is to not hit the 3 and 0 pitch.

It has become so flagrant, the Giants hitting on the 3 and 0 pitch, that most of the opposing pitchers never give the Giant batter a "sucker" pitch or a "fat" ball to hit. They either half speed it, take a little off the curve or slider and just try their darnedest to get the pitch as close to the strike zone as they can without coming right down the middle. That really nullifies hitting the 3 and 0 pitch. When the opposing pitchers can fool around with the 3 and 0 pitch, they are way ahead of the batsman.

The only guy who benefits from being allowed to hit with 3 and 0 is the week hitter. The pitcher throws him a "fat" pitch knowing he isn't going to be allowed to offer at the ball.

THERE ARE only a few Giant batters like Jose Pagan, Chuck Hiller, Joe Amalfitano and Jimmy Davenport who seldom get the green sign on a 3 and 0 pitch. Those poor guys have to wait 'em out and sometimes they let the ball they could hit outta the park go by for a strike and then have to outguess the pitcher with the count 3 and 2.

It doesn't make sense, this continual offering of Giant hitters on the 3 and 0 pitch, but somebody besides me has to tell Skipper Dark.

IT IS the same way with Dark on the case of Billy Pierce. Last year Alvin studiously made southpaw Billy wait until the fifth day before he could pitch. This year he started off okay, but got cocky and decided that Pierce could pitch every fourth day. Well, you see what has happened to the grandest little guy on the S.F. club. He can't even comb his hair anymore. His arm is tired, he's lost his stuff and in his last three games has looked like he did in the spring of 1962. The only way the Giants can get any good out of Pierce is to use him once a week after he gets his pitching arm in shape again. When they do that you can just bet little Ol' Billy Pierce will be back in form again. Let Pierce be a starter, but not more than once a week.

Seals Too Weary To Celebrate Victory

Shortly after the San Francisco Seals defeated the Seattle Totems 4-3 in overtime last night for the Western Hockey League's playoff crown, a booster club member shouted in the winners' dressing room:

One of the tiredest Seals was center Orland Kurtenbach who banged the winning goal through netminder Al Millar at 4:09 of the first sudden-death period to galvanize a record crowd of 12,404 at the Cow Palace.

"I think it was only my fourth goal in 17 games and I was afraid I had run out of them," Kurtenbach said. "Believe me, this has been the most exhausting season of my life."

San Francisco kept the pressure on the Totems most of the night, forcing Millar to come up with 43 stops while Seal netminder Jim McLeod made 27.

Coach Keith Allen of the toppled Totems sat quietly in his own team's dressing room at the Cow Palacea nd murmured, "We have no alibis. But I wonder how we would have made out if we didn't have to play the entire series away from home."

The Seals' share for winning the Lester Patrick trophy came to about $1,400 per man in a best-of-seven series that saw them trailing Seattle three games to one before they caught fire.

Bob Sabourin gave the Totems a 2-0 lead with a brace of tallies within 37 seconds during the second period.

But before the second period ended, San Francisco pulled even on tallies by Duke Edmundson and Moe Mantha. Danny Belisle gave San Francisco a 3-2 advantage early in the third period but Jim Powers tied it by scoring a minute and 10 seconds later.

As the sudden-death period swept past the three-minute mark, Kurtenbach kept the puck in Seattle ice by intercepting it from defenseman Jim Hay. Then he shot home the clincher after it was set up by Larry McNabb and Belisle.

It was the fourth overtime contest of the series and three of them were won by San Francisco.

Bobby Lane Calls It Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Pro Bobby Lane, who holds most of football's passing records in the iron grasp that guided Detroit to three championships, has decided to pack it in.

"I've had it," the brash blond quarterback said last night. "I can't do it any more."

Layne, 34, spent 15 years in the National Football League, most of it with Detroit and Pittsburgh. He led Detroit to the league championships in 1952, 1953 and 1957 and finished his career with most of the passing records in the book.

Those include passes attempted, 3,467; passes completed, 1,710; total yards gained passing, 25,083, and touchdown passes, 187.

"I've had my share of the thrills," Layne said. "Let the younger guys go out and get them now."

He made the comment in confirming an announcement in Dallas of his retirement by Pittsburgh coach and general manager Buddy Parker.

"He's had a lot of success," Parker said. "I think it's time to call a stop."

Layne said he had no immediate plans for the future.

"I offered him a job as a coach," Parker said, "but he did not want it."

There had been reports that Layne might take a job in the rival American Footbal League, but Parker pointed out that the quarterback would not be eligible to play unless all other NFL teams gave him waivers.

MARICHAL VS. BURDETTE

Fighting Mad Braves Host Crippled Giants Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Righthander Juan Marichal seeks his fourth win of the season tonight in the opener of a three-game series between the crippled San Francisco Giants and Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves are in a fighting mood after dropping three in a row at home to the surprising Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan has nominated Lew Burdette (3-2) to face the Giants.

Giants Manager Alvin Dark may be forced to reshuffle his lineup due to the possible loss of two regulars—second baseman Chuck Hiller and outfielder Willie McCovey—and utility outfielder Matty Alou.

McCovey wrenched his ankle while running out a triple in York Mets at the Polo Grounds in New York. McCovey said nothing about the ankle until he asked Dark to lift him midway through the second game.

Trainer Frank Bowman said Hiller would be out "two or three more weeks." Bowman, who treated McCovey's ankle during yesterday's off-day and also today, said he was not sure whether Willie will be able to play tonight.

Matty Alou's injured knee has been responding to treatment and he has been seeing action as a pinch hitter. Dark said he may use Alou sparingly in the outfield tonight if McCovey's ankle is too tender.

Marichal, who has lost twice, closed out the Pittsburgh Series Thursday with a masterful five-hit victory.

The Giants also seek revenge against the Braves who took three straight from the defending National League champions to close out San Francisco's home stand April 28. During that stand at Candlestick Park, the Giants won only 6 of 14 games.

However, since heading east the Giants won six in a row before bowing to the Mets in the finale of Sunday's doubleheader.

After concluding the three-game series here, the Giants head to Los Angeles for the first 1963 meeting with the Dodgers whom San Francisco beat in a playoff for the National League title last fall.

Dodgers Will Keep Alston As Manager

Breaking a long silence, O'Malley told The Associated Press today he did not blame Alston for the club's poor showing, had never considered the possibility of dropping his manager and gave what amounted to a vote of condidence to Waiter for the balance of the season.

"I don't want to be put in the position of having to give Alston a vote of confidence," said O'Malley. "That's usually construed as a kiss of death, but I want to answer you as directly and honestly as I can.

"Alston is my manager and I have no intention of making a change.

"Leo Durocher? I admire him as a baseball man. I always have. That's why I hired him . . . as a coach and that's what he'll remain. There never has been any intention and there is none now to elevate Leo to the manager's job. For that matter, I don't believe Leo entertains any thoughts of ever managing again."

"Last year, a half minute after we lost the playoffs for the National League pennant to the Giants, I sent word to Alston not to worry," said O'Malley. "I'm saying the same thing now.

"I consider Alston a good, sound manager. He is not spectacular but he gets the job done. He's quiet, he's not controversial but he is devoted to his job and he never emebarrasses the front office.

MAJOR LEAGUES TO AMEND THE RULE ON BALKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick and presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles of the American and National Leagues agreed today to amend the balk rule to eliminate the one-second stop for a pitcher.

The National League umpires have called 96 balks, an all-time record, so far this season compared with nine for the American League.

The balk ruling today is a temporary move until the rule can be changed. It will be effective for the remainder of the year, Frick said.

Marin Ball Players Start 1963 Season In Pro Ranks

Doug Wilson of Larkspur, outfielder for the Fresno Giants of the Class A California League, has indicated he is off to a slow start in the 1963 season.

Wilson has appeared at the plate 18 times so far this season and has collected only three hits for a .167 batting average. He has hit one double and two singles, driving in three runs and scoring three himself.

Ron Blum of Larkspur, shortstop for St. Cloud (Minn.) of the Class A Northern League, has hit safely two times in his first six trips to the plate and has scored one run. His early batting average is .333.

Vince Pallavicini of San Anselmo, outfielder for Thomasville, Ga. of the Class A Georgia-Florida League, has only appeared at the plate one time so far this season without a hit.

Barrow Outslugs Jefferson Davis

San Francisco (AP)—Kirk Barrow of San Francisco outslugged Jefferson Davis of Las Vegas in a hard-fought 10-rounder heavyweight go at Kezar Pavilion last night.

The stocky Barrow, 181½, stayed close to his taller opponent most of the way and dominated the in-fighting. But Davis, 196½, kept the battle close by landing solid shots in the fourth, seventh and eighth rounds.

Ed Posusney Wins Marin Masters Bowling Tourney

Ed Posusney, recently hired as a field representative for the Bowling Proprietors Assn. of America, is the 1963 bowling champ of Marin County.

Posusney won top honors in the second annual Marin Masters Tournament by going through the slate without a loss. He scored a come-from-behind victory over Jay Sharp of Novato in the finals, 583-562 in their three-game set.

Posusney was four pins down going into the third and final game in his championship match but came through with a strong finish to overtake Sharp. Ed picked up first prize of $150 and a trophy.

Sharp received a $105 cash prize for second place. Fletcher Bates, who came in third, also received cash prizes for his high series score of 667 and his high game of the tourney, 267.

In semi-final matches Sunday, Bates won over Don Fredette by default and Lee Stetson downed Ed "300" Clinton 560-518. Clinton was to leave today to start a two-year hitch in the army.

Bates then met Stetson and outscored him 569-529. The then undefeated Sharp met Posusney and Ed defeated Sharp 583-491. Sharp and Bates, each with a loss, rolled off to see who would meet Posusney in the finals, and Sharp downed Bates easily, 636-498.

There was a total of 81 entries in the tourney, and 16 of the total entry list remained for the finals.

The tournament was sponsored by the Marin County Bowling Assn. and its officers Bill Rhodes, Chico Valsecchi, Don Yoder, Mike Telesco, Walt Carter and Jack Lepinski.

Duncan, president; George Herrero and William Doggett. Theme for this year's fair will be "A-Tisket A-Tasket." (Independent-Journal photo)

MARKET DAY

Based On An English Fair

The 10th annual Market Day, a fund raising event sponsored by the Northgate Group for the Marin Art and Garden Center is coming to the center in Ross, May 15, 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The event is open, free of admission to the public.

Based on an old English fair, this year's Market Day will be called "A-Tisket A-Tasket." Decorations, designed by Mrs. Fred Sloat, will feature hanging baskets of colorful blooms. Accordion music contributed by George MacKensie of San Anselmo, will add to the gayety of the event, according to Mrs. Frank Brown, San Anselmo, chairman of the steering committee for the day.

Eighteen market booths, staffed by Northgate members, are expected to raise funds for the center's support with such items as home-made ice cream, white elephants, and fortune telling.

"Food-vendors" include Mrs. Arthur W. Feidler and a large corps, selling examples of recipes from the Northgate Group Cookbook; Mrs. William J. Cassidy with home-grown fresh fruits and vegetables, Mrs. Jack L. Hunt with baked breads, pickles, stuffed eggs, baked beans and potato salad, and Mrs. Peter Skaer scooping her strawberry ice cream.

A "silver dollar" lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. J. Kenneth Peters, but for the continually hungry, Mrs. Henry E. Skinner will staff a snack bar.

Always popular, a "silent auction" booth offers china, pictures, glassware, furs, silver, and brasses. Mrs. Robert O. Cole will be in charge.

Hats will be marketed by Mrs. Mert Hipsley, books by Mrs. Harold E. Hallett, white elephants by Mrs. Henry D. Eddy, and decorated market bags by Mrs. Rolla B. Hess.

A colorful flower cart will serve to show off plants for sale in the "green thumb" area under the direction of Mrs. Harold F. Schutte. Nearby, Mrs. Harold G. MacKensie will offer bonsai.

Mrs. William L. Kapranos will be in charge of a traditional grab bag and Mrs. Robert H. Berry will direct the activities of the gift booth.

Shopper's fortunes will be told by Mrs. Wagner d'Alessio. Other Market Day features include a "surprise booth" run by Mrs. Fisher Kinslow Jr., and a check stand operated by Mrs. Walter J. Swenson.

Members on the steering committee for the day, working with Mrs. Brown, are Mesdames Fred Good, Ralph A. Alden, Philip Nathan, John C. Cummings, John Siemons and James S. Koodale, and Mrs. Melvin J. Duncan, Northgate president.

Mrs. Lewis J. Kerlin will handle supplies, Mrs. Fred Enemark will be cashier for the day, and Mrs. Joseph Q. Riznik is in charge of publicity.

Garden Tour To Conclude Sausalito Club Section Year

The Garden Section of the Sausalito Woman's Club will have its annual Spring Garden Tour as its final meeting, May 16.

Mrs. Robert E. Friedrich, chairman, has planned a different group of newer gardens to visit this year. Most are self landscaped and self maintained and are in an area where severe summer winds make selection of plants more difficult than in some parts of Sausalito.

These gardens invite careful inspection, leisurely discussion and an exchange of ideas with the owners, who will be on hand to chat with all visitors.

Gardens to be visited include those of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Wilson, Mr. Garwood Simons and Mr. C. Errol Walling's "Casa Simwall" and Mesdames Alan H. Scurfield, Frank Rice, H. C. McVean Jr., Alexander R. Imlay, Stanley Cowen and Jacques Neuville.

Members and guests will meet at the clubhouse at 10:30 o'clock for car pools leaving the clubhouse. The tour will then move on to the Monte Mar-Toyon Terraces area.

At the conclusion of the tour Mrs. Wint F. Saint invites members and guests to stop at her home for coffee and refreshments.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Weber of San Rafael and the grandson of Mrs. Charles Walker of San Rafael and the late Estes Pearson of Idaho and Mrs. Conrad Fath of Spokane and the late William Weber.

He graduated from San Rafael High School and San Jose State College where he was affiliated with the Kappa Alpha fraternity. After college he spent two years in the Navy. He is now doing social service work at the Nevada State Hospital and intends further study on mental retardation.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reed Turner of San Mateo and the granddaughter of the late Joseph H. Dyer and the late Turner Johnson of San Francisco.

Wearing a full length white gown with train and finger tip veil, the bride was accompanied to the altar by her father. She had three bride's maids in attendance, Melinda Bishop, Judy Brennon and Mrs. Donald Tingley all wearing identical pale yellow street length dresses fashioned after her bridal gown. The bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Russell Melquist of San Rafael.

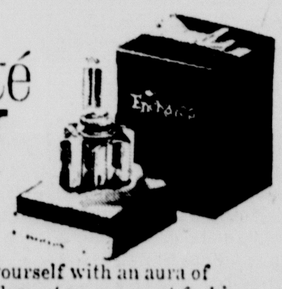

Russell Melquist was the best man and the bridegroom's brother, Robert, and Kenneth Sheffield and Darrell Carter of San Rafael were ushers.

The Rev. John Easton performed the double ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Hillsborough Racquet Club.

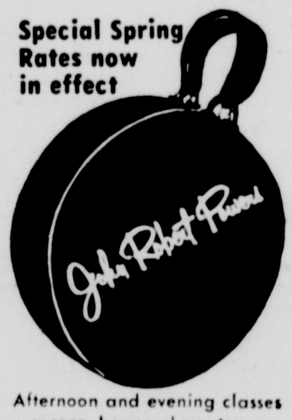

The young couple will live in Reno following an automobile trip through Northern California.

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

MARION HAYES CAIN photographed as she directed Pinocchio in a Ross Valley Players production. She also wrote the script for the outdoor play.

Marion Hayes Cain of San Anselmo, who is serving her second year as president of the Mountain Play Association, which presents the Mountain Play each year in the outdoor theater on Mt. Tamalpais, has mastered the art of outdoor productions.

Marion took part in the first mountain play when she was a youngster. She had an able coach in the late Garnet Holme, who had put on many outdoor plays and pageants and she learned his technique for getting children interested in the theater. "You have to play with them first," Marion said, "so they will continue their interest in the production."

Marion, a third generation Californian, was born in San Francisco and was graduated from Polytechnic High School and San Francisco State College where she majored in speech and drama.

Holme, who was with the drama department at University of California at Berkeley, was pageant master for the National Park System, adapted Ramona and several other books and plays for outdoor theater. Marion credits him with organization of the Outdoor Theater on Tamalpais. Al Pinther of Kent Woodlands has been secretary for many years. Marion had ingenue leads in the mountain plays when she was a girl.

She taught in San Francisco schools and for the past nine years has been on the teaching staff of Adaline Kent School in Kentfield.

This year Tamalpa written by Dan Totheroh, who was reared in San Anselmo and has been in the theater most of his life, will again be presented in the mountain theater, May 19 and 26, starting at 2 p.m.

Marion, by her marriage to the late Sam Hayes, famed sportscaster, had one son, Ron Hayes, who has taken part in several of the mountain plays and recently has made guest appearances in starring TV roles. Ron is a graduate of Stanford University, where he majored in international relations. He served with the Marine Corps during the Korean conflict. His brothers are Bob, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin, and Tim, a junior at Drake. He is much interested in music and plays in a combo at Drake.

During 11 summers Marion directed Marin Junior Theater productions. Her interest in outdoor theater is stimulating and she devotes many of her weekends to rehearsals for Tamalpa, which has a cast of more than a hundred.

As we concluded our talk Marion told me that her beloved mentor, Garnet Holme, is buried near the Tamalpais Outdoor theater and she softly quoted the words on the stone above his grave, "I lingered on the hill where we have played."

Bringing Up Baby®

There's a theory that second babies cry less than first timers because there is less hovering and mother-henning over second babies. As a consequence they learn not to expect pickups at the drop of a whimper. And since they are left somewhat more to their own devices, they learn to amuse themselves faster . . . mind being left alone less.

•

Refreshing news story. No matter what age, babies respond pleasurably to Gerber Strained Juices. That's because they're delicate in flavor and finely strained for easy sipping and swallowing. Best of all, there are now 9 delicious varieties to multiply baby's pleasure at getting his daily ration of vitamin C: Orange Juice, Apple Juice, Orange-Apple, Orange-Apricot, Orange-Pineapple, Apple-Cherry, Pineapple-Grapefruit and two newer ones, Mixed Fruit Juice and Prune-Orange. All are equally rich in vitamin C.

•

It's "unfair to compare" goes an old saying. Wise words and true when it comes to babies. So try not to compare your children with each other or with the little fellow down the street. No two babies develop in the same way and no matter what they do when, most babies catch up with each other in the end.

•

Two-way play. If you've two under 3, toddler jealousy can usually be turned into toddler delight if you create some fun and games in which baby #2 can't participate. Your toddler will bask in the warmth of your attention.

•

Happy ending dept. Mealtime finales take on special magic when you top baby's main course with a Gerber Strained or Junior Dessert. For these delectables are as smooth and flavor-bright as desserts can be. Made from whole milk solids, eggs and selected fruit they're also wholesome as can be. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hives Caused Mostly By Food, But There Are Other Origins

VAN DELLEN

Hives (urticaria) is caused most frequently by foods, with fresh berries, spices, chocolate, fish and nuts hearing the list. But there are other origins of these wheals. Many victims waste time trying to find the offender by eliminating one food after another or undergoing skin or blood tests that are of questionable value.

The outbreak may follow inhaling animal dander, perfumes, or chemicals such as DDT. Emotional stress and parasites such as pinworms must be considered. Some individuals break out when they take certain medicines or vaccines and here the cause is obvious.

PHYSICAL FACTORS also are important, especially when the eruption comes on after exposure to heat, cold, sunlight, injury, or pressure on the skin. And, to complicate the picture, bacteria play a role in some instances, particularly those confined to focal infections of the teeth or tonsils.

Urticaria is well named because the word means "to burn." At one time the condition was called "nettle rash," which also is apropos. The wheals are red, warm, elevated, itching lesions that assume many sizes and shapes. They often are located under constrictive clothing but may appear elsewhere, including the membranes of the mouth, lips, and throat. Giant internal hives have closed off the windpipe and larynx.

IT MAY BE that hives develops along the intestinal tract and that some migrane headaches stem from an urticarial process in the outer lining of the brain. These possibilities are difficult to prove.

Various ointments and drugs are available to relieve burning and itching. The real answer is to prevent recurrences by finding and removing the cause. This is not easy in chronic urticaria of psychosomatic origin; here, resentment or other emotional upset acts as a trigger. Treatment is complicated by the fact that most victims of hives refuse to accept psychic factors as the causative agents in these eruptions.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

Color Travel Movie Slated On Guatemala

A public showing of the travel color movie "Guatemala" will be given in the San Rafael High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday for the benefit of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

The film will be presented by James Metcalf, professional film lecturer whose account depicts an ancient Guatemalan civilization contrasted with the world of today and tomorrow.

Ensign At School

Navy Ensign Leon C. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Smith of Ross, is attending a two-week course in amphibious warfare indoctrination at the Naval Amphibious School at Coronado, San Diego.

Math Teacher Awarded Grant

Verle W. Sorgen, mathematics teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School, has been awarded a grant to participate in the National Science Foundation Summer Institute June 17 to July 26 in Santa Barbara.

Sorgen, who lives at 17 Redwood Drive, Ross, will join 49 other teachers from throughout the United States to study modern algebra, modern geometry and real numbers and real functions. The institute is conducted by the mathematics department at the University of California at Berkeley.

Auto Dealer Pushes Land Cruiser Sales Into Top Place In County

Automobile dealer Hil Probert whose Larkspur showrooms are almost in the shadow of Mount Tamalpais, has succeeded in pushing his Toyota Land Cruiser sales into top place in the country. This has been done in part by utilizing some of the most made-to-order testing ground you're likely to find in the country—the mountain's criss-cross network of firerroads.

Probert or his venturesome aide Bruce McDermott seldom let a day go by without romping up these gullied and precipitous byways in one of the fabulous little Japanese four-wheel-drive outfits that are so rugged there's scarcely an incline less than 60 degrees they haven't conquered.

After hearing so much about it we finally decided to try it last weekend—as a passenger. So off we went, six of us, scooting upward and downgrade, covering about 50 miles round the mountain in what was probably one of the most fascinating demonstration rides you can get in Marin County. The Toyota had room for all of us—in fact, we were one short of maximum seating capacity.

The Land Cruiser, with its 3,200 pounds of sturdy construction and careful engineering, is an outstanding example of Japan's contributions to the world automobile industry. I'm inclined to agree with one American automobile mechanic who commented: "The only trouble with the Japanese is that they haven't yet learned a car isn't meant to be built to last forever."

ALL THAT ACTIVITY along the Belvedere-Tiburon Highway with new streets and construction of over-the-water apartments known as the "Cove" should bear fruit by late June or early July when Associated Contractors expect to have their first living units completed.

Meanwhile, to give the public some idea of the ultimate produce, Messrs. Harry Hicks and Hugo Nadaner will preview a simulated model apartment at the Furniture Fashions Exposition held May 11-19 at Brooks Hall, San Francisco. The waterside atmosphere will be recreated by means of murals, decks and special lighting—also a scale model of the entire development.

MARIN GENERAL CONTRACTORS Hugh L. Harn and Parker A. Archer will start construction within 30 days on a million-dollar luxury mobile home retirement park near the city of Sonoma. Through the use of shade trees, shrubs, expansive lawns, recreation center and swimming pool, the development will provide a park-like setting for 252 sites on 36 acres just eight blocks from Sonoma's city square.

Harn and Archer have been active in home and subdivision developments largely in the Belvedere-Tiburon area; expect to offer occupancy of their project in August.

PALO ALTO consulting engineer George S. Nolte who also maintains offices in San Rafael, receivde the 1962 Annual Award of Merit of the California Council of Civil Engineers and Land Surveyors for design of the Stone Lake Aquatic Community in Sacramento County.

His Cry: 'Take Me To Your Queen!'

By RANDALL GOULD

When Ellis M. Stephens of Lagunitas Road, Ross, togs himself out to capture bees, his neighbors yell, "Take me to your leader!"

Stephens himself might paraphrase this as "take me to your queen!"

After Independent-Journal publicity last week on the Stephens-Jones readiness to go out and capture bees on short notice, a total of 14 phone summons poured in over the last weekend. But all wasn't honey.

Some of the swarms were in inaccessible spots. One swarm after capture suddenly flew away again, apparently because there was no queen bee on the job.

Worst of all was that the bee-chasers ran out of hives, which have to be ordered by mail and assembled after arrival.

The households concerned are not really set up for such a rush of business as eventuated after the I-J publicity, moreover. Both the principals have San Francisco businesses, Jones as a printer, and Stephens as a stock broker. Moreover they have other things to do such as going fishing.

"We weren't prepared for such a tremendous lot of calls," commented Mrs. Jones today. "The people were all very nice. But a lot of them don't know much about bees.

"Many just yell 'they're in our house—how do we get rid of them?' They don't know the difference between bees, hornets, wasps and yellow-jackets so they blame all their trouble just on the bees.

"One call all the way from Black Point was from somebody who wanted the bees got out of the house. People don't understand that bees will move on pretty quick if you let them alone. The men went out on some calls and found the bees had flown."

But Stephens and Jones have been doing their best to gallop out on all calls.

"Bees are wonderful friends," Stephens tells terrified folk who often have wanted to exterminate a newly arrived bee swarm, but aren't quite sure how to go about it without personal jeopardy.

Stephens explains that the thing to do is be pally, something which admittedly is facilitated by a tropical pith helmet, wire mesh around the face, stout gloves, and solid garments with no chinks or crevices.

"They are fine assistants in the job of raising good flowers, vegetables and fruits," he goes on. "People should realize they are beneficial, not a pest like those yellow jackets that come to the feast when you try to eat out in the garden."

Whenever anyone in the vicinity finds himself sudden host to a swarm of unwanted bees, Stevens and Jones ask nothing more than a chance to rush over and collect the bees.

All they hope is that the swarm will settle within reach of an ordinary garden ladder, for they aren't provided with fire equipment.

LOOKING OVER NEW HOME — A swarm of bees gathered by Ellis M. Stephens of Ross is here shown in the act of inspecting household premises which Stephens hopes will seem congenial to the new occupants. Once they settle in, the bees are expected to hustle out helping the flowers and vegetables and collecting honey.

WHO'S AFRAID?—Not Ellis M. Stephens of Ross as he contemplates a friendly honey bee perched on his well-gloved finger. Of course that sturdy wire mesh, hat and tucker-string around the neck all help keep everything clear that bees and people can associate closely under favorable conditions. Bodega Landowners To Get Day In Court

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—A group of Bodega landowners will get their day in court on their request for an injunction against construction of an atomic power plant at Bodega Head.

Sonoma County Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson Friday denied a request by the county to dismiss the request for the injunction. Judge Gibson ruled that the opponents of the power plant had put forth sufficiently sound arguments to merit further court hearings.

San Clemente Students Get To Work On Field

San Clemente School in Corte Madera has a place for baseball and track as a result of a genuine do-it-yourself project.

It's no turfed field, but at least it is fairly level and will drain.

Scheduled for improvement if and when Larkspur School District has funds available (which probably depends on passage of a bond issue that will be up to voters on June 4) is a $20,000 turfing job, with sprinkler system.

But baseball and track seasons are already here and the youngsters can't wait. So the student body of the elementary school put up $50 to hire a grader. And on Saturday, fourth, fifth and sixth graders turned out with hoes, rakes and shovels to assist in leveling the field.

The school has "thousands of cubic yards" of topsoil on hand, said Principal Robert Johnson, but lacks the money to put in the sprinkler system, spread the topsoil and seed the grass.

The Russians, gifted talkers though they may be, can't do much of it on the telephone. They have only 2.3 phones per 100 people.

Richardson Bay Fill Plan Delayed

A county planning staff effort to "lay down some hard and fast rules on filling in Richardson Bay" was set back yesterday when an application on which the attempt was based had to be withdrawn on a technicality.

Horace A. Cooper, who sought architectural supervision of plans for a residential-commercial building at Yuba and Petaluma Streets on the Richardson Bay shore across from Juanita's Galley, said he had found that a client wanted something similar on a similar nearby lot.

He wanted a mere change in the description on his application. But he learned it was necessary to start all over and told the Planning Commission he would do so.

Meanwhile staff planner Sidney Shaw laid the groundwork for an effort to be renewed with the second application. He said none of the land is subject to the county's emergency fill ordinance and felt conditions in this case should set up a model for stiffer rules from now on.

Most of the current filling and dredging has proceeded without county supervision, he said. During a recent staff visit after a rainstorm, he said, "Yuba Street was virtually a lake" and the whole area was almost inaccessible. Petaluma Street should get special attention to be usable at all times, he said.

Pointing out that Army Engineers have required fill to attain a height of eight feet above lower low water, Shaw said the county should at least match this. The suggested conditions for the Cooper property provided for this as well as a report to the public works director by a soils engineer on compaction, foundation and settlement characteristics as prerequisites to issue of a building permit.

34 Take Tests For Sausalito Fireman

Thirty-four applicants took a one hour and 45-minute written test Saturday in Sausalito to fill four positions as firemen manning the city's second firehouse. The firehouse, to be constructed this summer, will be at Spencer Avenue and Highway 101.

Those who pass the test, said City Mgr. Charles A. Brown today, will take an oral examination from a board which has no connection with the city. No date has been set for this examination.

Prisoner Asks Trial Site Change

A heavily guarded San Quentin prisoner, his feet shackled and his arms chained, yesterday asked Marin Superior Court to have the place of trial changed to another county because he feels Marin jurors would be prejudiced.

He is Robert Gene Glover, 31, a Kern County robber, who is accused of two counts of assault by a life termer. Maximum penalty for the offense is death.

Glover's court-appointed attorney, William O. Weissich, filed a motion for a change of venue before Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court.

The judge continued the case until next Monday because the written motion was just filed yesterday noon and he had not had time to study it.

Weissich also moved to have the chains removed from the prisoner in court. The judge ordered the leg schackles taken off so that Glover will not be any more restrained than other San Quentin prisoners who are brought into court.

DRUGTAX
A SERVICE TO TAXPAYERS

This may come as news to you, but aspirin is one of those drugs that may be of a deductible nature on your federal income tax return.

But to claim it, you must be able to offer proof you bought it.

When you buy it from us, you get that proof. But when you buy it at the corner grocery, or in a department store, or in a restaurant, you are likely to forget about it.

That goes for a lot of other things, too—such as antiseptics, cough and cold preparations, laxatives, and so on.

Our customers like to buy all of their drug supplies from us, because they know they will get the benefit of a complete record of all purchases of a deductible nature.

Our customers get an annual statement (mailed in February) which tells them how much they spent on drugs of a deductible nature. It's called a DrugTax record, and we offer it to our customers free of charge.

Next time you buy aspirin (or any drug item), be sure you're in a store that gives you a DrugTax record. Come income tax time, it can save you money.
